drinkers ever save from the awful condition into which drinking and gambling leads them. Even in this county, with the young men here have been ruined...

We especially commend this sermon of an Episcopalian clergyman, to all ministers of the Gospel who may see this paper. We believe if every clergyman would do his duty as faithfully as Dr. Claxton has in this instance...

A Few Questions.

The following questions have been handed us with a request to publish them. We do so, hoping that some one better acquainted with the past history of politics in this county will reply to them...

I. I would ask if the Free-soil party in Potter County (for I speak of this county especially) did not, by its organ, the JOURNAL, denounce conventions and wire-working through them?

2. Was P. L. Jones, (the first Sheriff elected after the party started in 1848), nominated in any convention, or in any other way? If not, was he not an "independent," though he might not have announced himself in a very formal way?

3. Did P. A. Stebbins receive a nomination in 1853, five years after the party started? If not, how came he in the field, if he was not an "independent," or "volunteer," (and the difference I cannot perceive)? If he was a candidate, and was elected. Can any one tell us if there were any nominations made in that year, and if so, how?

4. Was there a convention held in Potter County, for the purpose of nominating county officers, from 1848 to 1856? If not, where did we get our candidates, for we have always had enough of them.

5. Has there ever been a word said by the party, since its origin until now against "independent candidates" as such? On the contrary, has there not been much said in their favor? And why now denounce them?

6. Was it not said of Nelson Clark, that if he had announced himself before the nominations it would all have been well enough? Did any one find fault with him merely as an independent candidate?

7. Is it not as honorable for a man to offer himself as an independent candidate as it is to give notice that he will be a candidate before the convention, and then himself or friends visit all the townships in the county in order to secure delegates favorable to his nomination? Is that not often done, and no fault found?

8. Is it not argued, when the former usages of the party are pleaded, that it was necessary when we were weak and few in numbers, to encourage independent candidates, in order to gain strength by drawing from the ranks of the opposition, thereby making converts to our cause and tending to the diffusing abroad of our principles? If that course was necessary at one time, and had a tendency to increase our strength and promote our cause, why not as necessary now? If we are honest in our principles, should we not pursue the course which will tend most to the diffusing of them abroad, and still continue to draw from the ranks of the opposition, and thereby keep gaining strength?

9. Do not the democratic party tell us that we are pursuing the same course we condemned in them, and which used them up?

GRAVEL AND STONE. By this we understand a collection of sand like substance having been lodged in the passage of the urine. When the system is in a healthy state, this substance is carried off by the natural passage of the body, but when there is a weakness of any organ, especially the kidneys, they become incapable of expelling this sandy concretions, and consequently they are lodged in the kidneys, ureters, or the bladder, causing great inflammation, and great difficulty in voiding urine. It has been admitted by many physicians that Morse's Indian Root Pills are made of some particular plants which have a wonderful charming influence in dissolving the substance which has clogged the passage, and by their cooling properties, they expel all inflammation, and leave the water passage in an active and healthy state. From three to four of these Pills night and morning, from one to two weeks, will decide how this dreadful disease is to be treated, and as they cure the cause of every kind of disease, it is utterly impossible for them to fail in curing the gravel as they cure the passage, and leave the parts in a healthy and lively condition. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all dealers in Medicines.
