

Town and County.

COUDERSPORT, MARCH 29, 1890.

Smith & Jones have removed their one door north into the building recently occupied by them.

We learn that the lumber started on a recent flood has generally been stuck in the channel of the river between this and Pittsburgh—very little getting through the Ohio river.

The last meeting for this season of the Ladies' Literary Society will be held on Friday evening at the residence of F. Jones, Esq., when a "Paper" will read.

The Treasurer's Sales are somewhat retarded this week, some tracts being held and some taken out. Persons interested will do well to retain this or the next No. of the paper, as it will be impossible to supply the demand at the time of the sales, as we print only a small supply of extra copies to hold over. A copy carefully laid away now by interested subscribers will save some trouble then.

Temperance on Pine Creek.—We take great pleasure in laying the following proceedings before our readers. We rejoice, will every honest and earnest friend of social reform, that the lion intemperance bearded in his den, for verily he has been by the brave temperance men of like. The resolutions are good, and commendable as they do from persons who have but recently been awakened to the importance of the subject, they will have good effect on other whiskey-drinking communities in the wilds of Pine Creek. The movement is commenced in the right spirit and will carry terror into the ranks of the friends of intemperance. We hope similar meetings will be held in all the townships, and that the plan the Pike people have adopted for preventing whiskey violation of law and order will be tried. It is a sound platform and every honest man should stand on it without selling his soul.

According to previous notice, a meeting of the friends of temperance convened at the Pike Centre School House on Saturday evening, the 17th inst., for the purpose of considering the best course to be pursued to do away with the evils of liquor selling and liquor drinking. The meeting was organized by electing J. M. Kilborn, Esq., Chairman, and S. H. Martin, Secretary. After prayer (by John Carriel,) the subject was pretty fully discussed by Col. Kilborn, John Carriel, John L. Phoenix, jr. and others, in which the liquor venders received such a raking in the hands of the speakers, as their nervous traffic deserves. The following resolutions presented by Col. Kilborn, were then passed:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting, the unlawful selling of spirituous liquors by citizens of this township should be stopped at once, and that we will immediately put the Law in force against all persons who are engaged in this vile traffic.

Resolved, That the persons engaged in selling intoxicating drugs KNOW that they are doing so contrary to all laws of common right and justice. They know they have no right to sell the father poison whiskey, thereby making him a felon, which causes him to return to his home in the dead of the night and in his wild delirium turn his helpless and unhappy children into the streets. (This has been done.)

Resolved, That although we live in a land of "boasted liberty" we can vote for whom we will, and "worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience," we have no right to do wrong, and we hold it to be wrong for any person or persons to sell or to give to any person that which will burn the body and damn the soul. This whiskey will do.

Resolved, That we will render to each other all necessary aid in suppressing and entirely putting out of use, as a beverage, spirituous liquors in our township. Liquor Peddlers will please take notice and be wise for themselves.

A CARD. To the Editor of the Potter Journal.—Sir: We the undersigned settlers of Germania, Potter Co., Pa., have been much surprised to find in No. 26 of your Journal, a big libelation, perpetrated by twenty-four "in our own and the behalf of our fellow-settlers"—twenty-four in behalf of about a hundred. It is a pity they did not give the ladies a chance to sign their names: what a monstrous document their humble card might have become.

We are not going to discuss the motives, or the motives-power, by which these democratic gentlemen were forced to appear before the tribunal of public opinion. The whole matter is sufficiently transparent. They stick to the principles of their party, and stand up against the abolition of Slavery in our midst and everywhere. Be it so. Is not this a free country? But, whilst we concede to every man the right to make himself ridiculous or contemptible if he pleases, we protest against the assumption of the "twenty-four" to speak in our behalf without our knowledge and consent. We scout the idea of being thus honored against our will. There is an old law which says, "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor"—even if he should be benefited thereby. We mean to stick to this law. (Signed),

Jos. Schwarzenbach, Heinrich Rosenthal, Heinrich Gass, John Ch. Hefrecht, Louis Michel, A. Nickelbacher, John G. Strode, F. W. Schellman, T. G. Hug, M. Haslinger, Jacob Knutz, Ferd. Proping, Elias Cellarius, Frederick G. Osh, Frederick Hulmann, Jacob Ohlweiler, Hamiltona Careg, Martin Hammou, GERMANY, March 17, 1890.

We publish the above contrary to our private wish, but because all parties have a right to be heard in a respectable manner; and if twenty-seven interested citizens dissent from the ca. d of twenty-four citizens equally interested, and ask for a hearing on equal terms, we are bound to grant it to them. This is a part of our social and political creed.—Let every man be for the truth of their cause, if he ask respectfully and decently.—Ed. JOURNAL.
