UNCLE SAM'S FARM

Written for the Glee Singers of Pittston Republican Club. Dear Uncle Sam has let his farm With poor success of late...

Col. Curtin

Col. Curtin, our gallant nominee for Governor, has opened the canvass, and is now traversing the State addressing the people at various points on the great issues...

As a popular speaker Col. Curtin has few equals. Thoroughly versed in the political history of the State, and the nation, extensively acquainted with public men...

But we may ask, what has become of Gen. Henry D. Foster? For a short time after the Reading Convention, Democratic journals all over the State were filled to repletion with the feats of his ability and prowess...

Col. Curtin marches boldly up to the work. He has no concealments. He goes for Lincoln and Hamlin with his might. He takes the broad national conservative principles and candidates of the Chicago Convention and commends them by his character, ability and eloquence to the people of the State.

Advice to the Dying—Douglasites are requested to give attention. The rich humor of the following "Address to the Democratic Party," which was taken from the Springfield Republican, is scarcely superior to the truth and sound sense which it contains.

commend it to the careful attention of our Democratic friends, and trust it may have a proper effect on their minds. In view of your approaching dissolution, there are a few words of counsel which, as members of a party that died one day, we feel peculiarly qualified to say to you.

I. Admit, at once, what come on sense, analogy and common observation teach you—that, as a party, you are going to die, and then go immediately and make preparations for your funeral. Do not stand up through all this campaign and try to make people believe that your party is bound to win.

II. When you die, die. Don't be five years about it. Look about you and see what spoonies a set of respectable old Whigs have made of themselves. The poor fellows did not suppose it was possible for the Whig party to die; and when the noble old organization was entombed, and the mourners went about the streets, or went off immediately to look up new connections, they "could not make it dead."

III.—Having recognized the fact that the Democratic party is dead, and that it has no more claims upon you, bring to your realization the fact that it is killed by the nigger, and try to understand that from this time forward this government is to be nigger or anti-nigger. We mean by this nothing more nor less than the irrepressible conflict between free and slave labor.

IV. Having realized the fact that your party, though predisposed to dissolution by many other causes, died of the nigger at last, and admitted the truth that the nigger can be ignored no longer, make up your mind on which side of this great slavery question you are ready to stand. Do you believe in slavery? Are you in favor of the spread of slavery in territories now free? Are you in favor of a slave code for the territories? Are you willing to have all restrictions removed from the slave trade, and to allow commerce in human cattle to be re-established?

V. What are you going to do? A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—Among some of the South Sea Islanders the compound word for hope is beautifully expressive. It is manaana, or the swimming thought—faith floating and keeping its head aloft above water; when all the waves and billows are going over—a strikingly beautiful definition of Hope, worthy to be set down along with the answer which a deaf and dumb person wrote with his pencil, in reply to the question, "What was his idea of forgiveness?" "It is the odor which flowers yield when trampled on."

LITTLE VALLEY, Aug. 7, 1860.—On Sunday, July 29, in Yorkshire, Cattaraugus County, the wife of James Wheat was found dead. Her husband was declared guilty of murder by the Coroner's Jury. On Wednesday he was conveyed to jail in Ellipticville, and yesterday he disclosed to the neighbors who visited him the fact that his father and mother assisted him. The father strangling the victim with a handkerchief; the deceased was enciente. Great excitement prevails.

Agricultural, &c.

BIG CALVES.—A correspondent of the Ohio Cultivator stated that he had a calf which weighed, when one year old, 800 lbs. Another correspondent, in reply, says he has a calf which weighed 168 lbs. when three weeks and three days old; and he has a neighbor who has a calf which weighed, when nine months and twenty days old, 804 lbs.

GRINDING CORN TOO FINE.—I notice in the April number of the Genesee Farmer an article on breadstuffs, from J. T. BRONDOREST. Now I think he cannot understand the subject, or I do not. He seems to carry the idea that white corn ground fine, is equal to wheat flour. Any man of science knows that there is more grain ground too much than too little, and corn in particular. It spoils the sweet corn flavor to be ground too much; and by grinding fine it does not make wheaten flour.—L. W. Ellery, N. Y.

THE SOUND OF GROWING CORN.—Did you ever hear corn grow? You have probably heard the remark, "our corn grows so fast that you can hear it." That is supposed, by people who don't know, to be a figure of speech only; but the remark out here is a literal fact. Go into one of these "bottom" corn fields forty or fifty rods on a warm July day, or August night, when a bright moon is up (for vegetation grows faster in moonlight than in darkness), and a few hours after a heavy shower that has fairly wet the earth, and waked up the drowsy corn to its influence, and as the main stalk stretches and swells in its new strength up through the contracted lips of the upper blades, they crack and burst around you like the stifled reports of ten thousand rifles! That cornfield will be some inches higher at sunrise the next morning than at the last sundown. There is no mistake about it. We have heard corn grow many a time, and so every farmer along the valley will tell you.—The World.

WINTER WHEAT. It is now generally conceded that the wheat most liable to winter-kill is that which has been lightly covered in. Where a grain drill is used, the wheat can resist the effects of frost during open winters, and is rarely killed out except where the soil is badly drained, or retains moisture on the surface.

A farmer near Dundas, (Canada), has been experimenting on wheat for twenty years in the following manner: He prepares the land as usual up to the time of applying the manure; the manure is spread on the surface early in September, the wheat sown on the manure immediately and both harrowed. This done, he plows under the wheat and manure together and leaves the land rough without harrowing. He says the wheat so put in has invariably yielded one third more crop than that he puts in, in the ordinary manner the same year, and that although it takes a longer time to make its appearance, it is never winter-killed, nor is it later in ripening. He says the practice of plowing in wheat is very general in that part of England from whence he came.

FINE sensibilities are like woodbines, delightful luxuries of beauty, to twine around a solid, upright stem of understanding; but very poor things if, unsupported by strength, they are left to creep along the ground.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of good common sense, they may be able to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhoea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail, by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated.

For Mothers while nursing their Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

Caution.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
