

The Farm and Fireside

BEE KEEPERS' CONVENTION.

A convention of bee keepers was recently held at Cleveland, at which some important business connected with the science of bee keeping was transacted. With regard to the winter management of bees, the opinion was pretty generally acquiesced in that when there were plenty of bees and honey, the combs admitting of free intercommunication, and an upward passage for the escape of the "damp," there is no difficulty in wintering them. Ventilation at the bottom as well as the top of the hive was advocated, and one or more of the members expressed the belief that, in a climate as changeable as this, the better plan was to bury the bees. In this connection the subject of food was considered, and a great variety of opinions, resulting from experiments, were advanced. Mr. Langstroth had fed candy, placing it on the frames before the stock of honey was exhausted. This is preferred to liquid food. He had also used a sponge saturated with honey, which he commended very highly. He also spoke favorably of feeding rye flour, mixed with syrup into a paste. He had tried the experiment of feeding sweet milk, and the bees took it readily. Prof. Kiriland had in the fall, before the flowers, fed sugar syrup to his weak hives, and it stimulated them to work even after the stronger hives, that were not so fed, had ceased to work. He remarked at length upon the use of sweet milk as a diet for bees and commended it. Another member had fed sorghum sugar and honey, and it had caused dysentery. Another had used maple molasses and decided it a good article of food. The Italian bee was the subject of a very interesting discussion, in which most of the members participated. Its superiority over the common bee in almost every particular, was maintained by all who spoke of it. The convention was very largely attended, and much interest in the proceedings was manifested.

WORTH A TRIAL.

In a conversation with an intelligent and reliable farmer from Ohio, a day or two since, the rot in potatoes came up. He informed us that fortunately for them a preventative had been found for the rot in stored crops. The discovery was purely accidental, which was this—a friend of his had a large lot of fine potatoes which he placed in barrels for storing away. Not having enough flour barrels he used two salt barrels (such as the New York works pack salt in) and on opening the flour barrels he found nearly all his potatoes had rotted, whilst those packed in the salt barrels were sound and good; not satisfied with the one accidental trial, he used more salt barrels the next season and found the result the same. He then made known the result to some of his friends and their trials proved the preventive properties of salt to their entire satisfaction. Our friend informs us that instead of using barrels he put his potatoes in a cool cellar, in beds about nine inches thick, on which he sprinkles one quart of salt to six bushels of potatoes. This, he says will effectually prevent rot. It is certainly worth a trial. It has thus far prevented a serious loss and banished the disease in stored crops.

FARMERS' ECONOMY.

Farmers talk a great deal about economy. I know one man who will go three miles out of his way, over a bad road, to save a few cents at the toll gate. Another, who is so economical of blacksmith expenses, that instead of getting a tire set at the right time, will make it do a week or two longer, and some dark night might be found groping his way home with three wheels and a rail to his wagon, while a horse or two are unable to leave the stable on account of lameness, resulting in a misunderstanding of the word economy, as applied to the shoeing of horses. Many a man is so economical in the matter of boards for barns, stables and sheds, that he builds them every year of corn and hay. This may be considered strange building materials, but what I state is true. If an animal is exposed to the storms and colds of winter, it will take one half the food it consumes to keep it as warm as it would be naturally in a good comfortable stable; the other half will just keep it along. So the half of the grain and hay is used for making a stable—expensive building materials, but this is not the economy, however, that I would recommend, nor that will pay heavy war expenses.—Rural New York.

SHEEP-RAISING.

[The following article from the Germantown Telegraph may contain some hints of benefit to our farmers:]
The raising of Mutton and Lamb for market forms now so prominent a part of the regular grazing business of our farmers in this part of the country, and as everything which will tend to increase the profit in this branch of farming is of importance, I offer a few suggestions on the subject, with some figures "to boot."
The common practice is to buy western ewes in the fall, and with the use of some improved buck, raise lambs the ensuing spring for market, when about four or five months old, fattening off the ewes in the fall to make room for a fresh lot. Now I am rather inclined to believe there is a better plan than this. Western ewes of the common stock seldom have more than one lamb at a time, and in a lot of fifty of them it is not often that more than fifty lambs are raised. The figures will stand about thus:

Cost of 50 ewes in the fall, at $3 150 00
" 1 Southdown buck 15 00
" keeping 51 head with lambs 158 10
Total cost $323 00

50 lambs and 50 ewes, at $4 each 400 00
Buck, at his former value 15 00
200 lbs. wool, at 23 cents 46 00
Total $461 00
Or a gain over the cost and feed of $138 00

This is a handsome per centage on the capital invested, but can we not do better? Some of the improved breeds are very prolific—two lambs and even three at a birth not being uncommon. A neighbor of mine has a flock of Southdowns, and he seldom has a single lamb—they nearly always average two to each ewe. Let us see how this would stand, taking the same number as before, excepting that we will buy our ewes when they are one year old, in the spring.—Their first shearing of wool will pay for their keeping till the coming fall.

Cost of 50 ewes, Southdown, at $6 300 00
" 1 buck " do 15 00
" keep same as before, with allowance for 25 lambs extra 185 00
Total $500 00

75 lambs, at an average of $4.50 337 50
Buck on hand 15 00
51 fleeces, 6 lbs. each, at 23 cents 73 38
50 ewes on hand, worth now $7 350 00
Total $772 88
Or a profit of 272 88

In this estimate I put the ewes as worth an advance of $1 each when two years old: perhaps it should have been $2, as they ought to improve that much. The lambs frequently sell as high as $5 or $6 each, but I put them at $4.50, and still the margin is a handsome surplus; but the second year, and succeeding ones for four or five will show still greater profits in the greater number of lambs in proportion to the ewes. There are other arguments in favor of a stationary flock of sheep over a constantly changing one. The former become accustomed to "home," and feed better, are more quiet, and more easily managed.

CORN GROUND IN THE EAR.—Since my brief article on this subject in a former number I learn a miller Avon, in this country, has lost three horses which were fed with corn ground in the ear, cob and all. He was told it was hard, sharp portions of the cob extended between the chits of the kernels that killed them, but he has got to lose one or two more before he will believe. One of the principle Shakers of North Union, in a recent conversation, tells me that they lost five horses while feeding corn-cob meal, but became thoroughly convinced upon examining the stomachs of the last, that it was the cob feed that produced their death. Since they have ceased feeding this feed, their horses have not been troubled with frequent turns of the belly-ache, as formerly, a disease, doubtless frequently attributed to "the bots." A gentleman who keeps cows to furnish milk for the city market, informs me that he one winter used to give them corn in the ear, but knowing that the cob contained no nutriment, he got the corn ground without the cob, and gave them the meal from an equal quantity of corn, and found an immediate increase of milk by so doing.—R. FRY—Country Gent.

The Neuralgia Plaster, for Neuralgia in the Face, Nervous Headache, and Earache, sent, post-paid, on receipt of Eighteen cents, or six stamps.
The Neuralgia and Rheumatic Plaster (large size) for pains in the Chest, Shoulders, Back, or any part of the body, sent, post-paid, on receipt of Thirty-Seven cents.
Address: Wm. B. Hurd & Co.
Tribune Buildings, New York.

Dr. Hurd's MOUTH WASH, TOOTH POWDER, and TOOTHACHE DROPS cannot be sent by mail, but they can probably be obtained at your Drug or Periodical Stores. If they cannot, send to us for the Dental Treasury, price, One Dollar, which contains them.
NOW,
ARE DR. HURD'S PREPARATIONS GOOD?
The best evidence that they are is, that their firmest friends and best patrons are those who have used them longest. Dr. WILLIAM B. HURD is an eminent Dentist of Brooklyn, Treasurer of the New York State Dentists' Association, and these preparations have been used in his private practice for years, and no leading citizen of Brooklyn or Williamsburgh questions their excellence, while eminent Dentists of New York recommend them as the best known to the profession. Without the aid of advertising, dealers have sold them by the gross.
The Editor of the Brooklyn Daily Times says: "We are happy to know that our friend, Dr. Hurd, is succeeding beyond all expectations with his Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder. The great secret of his success rests with the fact that his articles are precisely what they are represented to be, as we can testify from their long use."
The well-known P. T. Barnum writes:—"I found your Tooth Powder so good that my family have used it all up. We find it the best Powder for the teeth that we ever used. I shall feel obliged if you will send me another supply at the Museum at your convenience, with the bill."
But their cost is so small that every one may test the matter for himself.
Beware of the ordinary Tooth Powders. Dr. Hurd's Tooth Powder contains no acid, nor alkali, nor charcoal, and polishes without wearing the enamel. Use no other.

WHAT DOES DR. HURD'S REMEDIES EFFECT?
Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will give young ladies that finest charm in woman—a sweet breath and pearly teeth. Try them, ladies.
Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder will cleanse the mouth from all foul exhalations, and if used in the morning, will make the breakfast taste sweeter and the day begin more pleasantly. Hundreds of persons can testify to this. Try them, gentlemen.
Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder are the best preparations in the world for curing BAD BREATH and giving firmness and health to the gums. Hundreds of cases of Diseased Bleeding Gums, Sore Mouth, Canker, etc., have been cured by Dr. Hurd's astringent wash.
Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash and Tooth Powder give husbands more agreeable to their wives and wives to their husbands. They should be used by every person having ARTIFICIAL TEETH, which are liable to impart a taint to the mouth.
Dr. Hurd's Toothache Drops cure Toothache arising from exposed nerves, and are the best friends that parents can have in the house to save their children from torture and themselves from loss of sleep and sympathetic suffering. Farmers and Mechanics! you cannot well afford to neglect your teeth. For a trifling sum, you can now get preservatives, than which no Rothschild or Astor can get nothing better. Remember that Dyspepsia and Consumption of the Lungs often originate in Neglect of Teeth. Send for the Treatise on Teeth, and read Dr. Fitch's observation on this subject. If too late to arrest decay in your own teeth, save your children's teeth.

Neuralgia Plasters.
Dr. Hurd's Neuralgia Non-adhesive Plasters are the most pleasant and successful remedies ever prescribed for this painful disease. The patient applies one, soon becomes drowsy, falls asleep, and awakes free from pain, and no blister or other unpleasant or injurious consequences ensue. For Earache and Nervous Headache, apply according to directions, and relief will surely follow. Nothing can be obtained equal to Dr. Hurd's Compound for Neuralgia. Try them. They are entirely a novel, curious, and original preparation, and wonderfully successful. They are of two sizes, one small, for the face, price 15 cents, and the other large, for application to the body, price 37 cents. Will be mailed on receipt of price and one stamp.
WHAT ARE THE PEOPLE DOING?
The American people are intelligent enough to appreciate preparations that contribute so much to the happiness of those using them, and they want them. Every mail brings us letters, some ordering the TREATISE ON TEETH, some the NEURALGIA PLASTERS, and not a few enclosing 37 cents for the MOUTH WASH, to be sent by mail; but to those we are compelled to reply that it is impossible to send a half-pint bottle by mail. The people want these Remedies. Who will supply them? Now is the Chance for Agents.

Shrewd agents can make a small fortune in carrying these articles around to families. The Dental Treasury is the nearest article that man or woman can carry around. Send for one set, or, better, a dozen, which we will sell as samples for $7. Wm. B. Hurd & Co.

THE DAY SCHOOL BELL.
A NEW SINGING BOOK FOR DAY SCHOOLS, called the DAY SCHOOL BELL is now ready. It contains about 200 pages of choice Songs, Rounds, Catches, Duets, Trios, Quartets, and Choruses, many of them written expressly for this work, besides 23 pages of the Elements of Music. The Elements are so easy and progressive, that ordinary teachers will find themselves entirely successful in instructing even young scholars to sing correctly and scientifically, while the tunes and words embrace such a variety of lively, attractive and soul-stirring music and sentiments, that no trouble will be experienced in inducing all beginners to go on with zeal in acquiring skill in one of the most health-giving, beauty-improving, happiness-yielding, and order-producing exercises of school life. In simplicity of its elements in variety and adaptation of music, and in excellence and number of its songs, original, selected, and adapted, it claims by much to excel all competitors. It will be found to be the best book ever issued for Seminars, Academies, and Public Schools. A few sample pages of the Elements, Tunes, and Songs, are given in a circular; send and get one. It is compiled by HORACE WATERS, Author of "Sabbath-School Bells." Nos. 1 and 2, of which have had the enormous sale of 655,000 in 36 months. Prices, paper covers, 20 cents, $15 per 100; Bound, 25 cents, $22 per 100; cloth bound, embossed gilt, $40 cents, $30 per 100. 25 copies furnished at the 100 price.
