The New York Legislature has met but is unable to organize. Both parties are tied. It would have been a good thing if the Pennsylvania Legislature could have been tied before letting loose upon the country that oily-tongued south-side sympathizer, Charles R. Buckalew.

Chas. Sumner has been re-elected U. S. Senator from Massachusetts for six years from the 4th of March next. This is his third election to that office, and right nobly has he won the unusual honor. When there were but three men in the Senate who dare raise their voices for Freedom he was one of them, and during the past twelve years he has labored unceasingly for the good cause.

We met a man the other day, says an exchange, (who claimed to be an American citizen of foreign birth,) who seemed to take a malicious pleasure in depreciating the currency of the United States, and thought he was promoting the political interests of the party to which he was attached by discrediting the National securities of the Union. We looked him in the eye and said: "Sir, the man who, fostered by this Country and identified with its interests, seeks in this its hour of trial to weaken its strength and destroy its credit, is not only a traitor but a fool." So say we to that whole crowd of wretched partisans, who would degrade the public faith in order to exalt the interests of any party.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania, last week, elected Charles R. Buckalew to the United States Senate for six years from the 4th of March next. A sympathizer with Buchanan, a co-worker in the iniquitous English-Intemperance measure, a Northern dough-face and a Southern lick-split, with more craft than honor and more treason than loyalty, he will beyond the shadow of a doubt perform well the work of Jeff. Davis and for the establishment of the Southern Confederacy, even though his own State be crimsoned with blood. The only difference between Frank Hughes and Charles R. Buckalew is that the first is honest and open in the expression of his opinions while the latter is the 'snake in the grass.'

The one-freely expresses his treasonable sentiments, the other says Union and Constitution, while at the same time he cries out bitterly against all the measures of the Government tending to the subjugation of the Rebels.—Buckalew had 67 votes, Cameron 65 votes, Kelly 1 vote.

A Soldier-boy writing to one of our exchanges, makes the following complimentary and truthful remarks about Hon. G. A. Grow, the man who was defeated this fall by reason of so many of these brave soldier boys being disfranchised by Democratic Judges: "Our boys were agreeably surprised last Sunday by seeing Speaker Grow in camp. He brought with him what the men very much needed, namely, money and stationery for the Susquehanna Draft. What money he had was dealt out with a liberal hand, and must have amounted to no small sum. On his taking his departure we gave him three hearty cheers, and every heart present wished him God speed. Would to God there were more like Speaker Grow. I doubt if there can be a public man found who can command the respect and confidence of the masses better than he. Always to be found where most needed, and his willing heart ever ready to respond to the call of humanity. Such men never fail to get their reward. Judging from the feelings of the men in this regiment, Speaker Grow has produced an impression which will be lasting."

DIED: In Honor, January 17, 1863, of Diphtheria, MORTON DIVVILLE, only remaining son of Jacob and Eliza Peck, in the 15th year of his age.

Death is among us. Again has he laid hold with his icy fetters and taken from among us a loved and promising youth—a bright and shining ornament to society. While we deeply mourn his loss in common with the bereaved family, we cannot help but feel that he has gained for himself a more lasting inheritance, "incorruptible and fading not away" and is at this time shining forth with that resplendent glory which a high order of intellectual and moral worth qualify him to enjoy.

In Hebron, January 12, 1863, of Diphtheria, ZERUYAH LEONA, only daughter of David B. and Polly Lovry, aged 3 years and 5 months.

Very suddenly was this little cherub snatched from the fond embrace of her sorrowful father, who had just returned on a furlough of a few days.

"Because thy smile was fair,
Thy lip and eye so bright;
Because thy loving cradle care
Was such a dear delight,
Thy upward wing detain?
No! gentle angel, seek thy place
Amid the cherub train."

The New York Tribune 1863. THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE first issued in 1841, now in its twenty-second year, has obtained a larger and more widely diffused circulation than any other newspaper ever published in America. Though it has suffered, in common with other journals, from the volunteering and departure of tens of thousands of its patrons to serve in the War for the Union, its circulation on the 6th of December, 1862, is as follows: DAILY 50,125 SEMI-WEEKLY 17,250 WEEKLY 148,000 Aggregate 215,375

Prominently a journal of News and Literature, the Tribune has political convictions which are well characterized by the slogan, "FOR THE REPUBLICAN." It is Republican in its hearty adhesion to the great truth that "God has made of one blood all nations of men"—Republican in its assertion of the equal and inalienable rights of all men to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness"—Republican in its steadfast, earnest, defiant hostility to every scheme and effort of the slave power, from the Annexation of Texas to the great Rebellion, to grasp the Empire of the New World and wield the resources of our country for its aggrandizement.—Republican in its antagonism to the aristocracy and despots of the Old World, who fondly hail in the perils and calamities that upon us by their American counterpart the overthrow and ruin of the Model Republic—Republican in its hope and trust, its faith and effort, that this atrocious Rebellion must result in the signal overthrow of its plotters, and the firm establishment of equal rights and equal laws throughout the whole extent of our country, wherein Liberty and Union shall indeed "be one and inseparable" henceforth and forever.

The Tribune devotes attention in calmer times, and to some extent in these, to Education, Temperance, Agriculture, Inventions, and whatever else may minister to the spiritual and material progress and well-being of mankind; but for the present its energies and its columns are mainly devoted to the invigoration and success of the War for the Union. Its special correspondents accompany every considerable army and report every important incident of that great struggle which we trust is soon to result in the signal and conclusive triumph of the National arms and in the restoration of Peace and Thrift to our distracted and bleeding country. We believe that no other paper can afford a more accurate view of the progress and character of the momentous conflict be obtained than through the regular perusal of our columns. And we earnestly solicit the co-operation of all friends of the National cause, which we regard and uphold as that of Universal Humanity, to aid us in extending its circulation.

ILLUSTRATED SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. The Best Mechanical paper in the World. EIGHTEENTH YEAR. VOLUME VIII.—NEW SERIES.

A new volume of this popular Journal commences on the first of January. It is published weekly, and every number contains sixteen pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

To the Mechanic and Manufacturer.—No person engaged in any of the mechanical or manufacturing pursuits should think of "doing without" the Scientific American. It costs but six cents per week; every number contains from six to ten engravings of new machines and inventions, which cannot be found in any other publication. To the Inventor.—The Scientific American is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an Official List of the Claims of all the Patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the week previous; thus giving a correct history of the progress of invention in this country.—We are also receiving, the best Scientific Journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in our possession all that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. We shall continue to transfer to our columns copious extracts from these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

A pamphlet of instructions as to the best mode of obtaining Letters Patent on new inventions, is furnished free on application. Messrs. Munn & Co. have acted as Patent Solicitors for more than seventeen years, in connection with the publication of the Scientific American, and they refer to 20,000 patents for whom they have done business. No charge is made for examining sketches and models of new inventions and for advising inventors as to their patentability.

Chemists, Architects, Millwrights and Farmers.—The Scientific American will be found a most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and practical information pertaining to the interests of millwrights and mill-owners will be found in the Scientific American, which information they can not possibly obtain from any other source.—Subjects in which farmers are interested will be found discussed in the Scientific American; and most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

TERMS.—To mail subscribers: Three Dollars a year, or one Dollar for four months.—The volumes commence on the first of January and July. Special copies will be sent gratis to any part of the country. Western and Canadian money or Post-Office stamps taken at par for subscriptions. Canadian subscribers will please to remit twenty-five cents extra on each year's subscription to prepay postage. MUNN & CO., Publishers, 37 Park Row, N. Y.

THE PRIDE OF NEW YORK. Grand Mirror of American Genius. "Correct with spirit eloquent with ease, Intent to reason, or polite to please." The New York Mercury. FOR THE NEW YEAR.

It is with no fear of War's effect upon their literary fortunes, that the publishers of The New York Mercury acknowledge the unwavering loyalty of the two hundred thousand subscribers, and announce to them and to all, that The New York Mercury for this year (1863) will be richer in every luxury of Polite Literature than ever before. It is no upstart speculation, no temporary "sensation," but a first-class literary weekly, which has been familiar to the United States for a quarter of a century; and while the wispy-wasby prints of yesterday are cutting down their tails even while they raise their subscription price, The New York Mercury maintains its great Staff of Romanesque, Poets, Humorists, Essayists, Story-Tellers, and Editors, and promises to make it still greater for 1863. It is the one paper for every home. Its forty columns of reading-matter per week constitute an unparalleled conservatory of the entertaining, and its Novels, Miscellaneous Tales, Beauties of Verse, Gossip, Feuilletons, Broad-sides of Humor, and Polished Editorials, combine to epitomize all the charms of wit and sentiment. The husband reads it to his wife, the mother to her children, the lover to his sweetheart, the soldier to his comrades, and the village schoolmaster to the child around the stove. It is familiar to the sight of every man, woman, and child in our country, and has regular subscribers in several countries of Europe. The New York Mercury is also identified with the grandest patriotism of the age; for several members of its brilliant Staff hold high rank in our noble army, and have made themselves as famous with the Sword as with the Pen. The great illustrating artist of The New York Mercury, the immortal Durley, gives the paper the highest attributes of Fine Art; and yet this largest literary weekly of the day promises to surpass itself in all these respects during the New Year!

The first New York Mercury Novelle for the New Year, to be commenced in the issue of January 3, 1863, is called VICTORIA; or The Heiress of Castle Cliffe. By Cousin May Carleton, Author of "Gipsy Queen," "Sylvia Campbell," "Ermine," "La Masque," &c., &c. The productions of this distinguished author need no eulogy. Public opinion long since pronounced them superior to any other novelle published on this side of the Atlantic; and the true test of their merit is found in the fact that they are eagerly reproduced, after their publication in the Mercury, by the English press. We may add, that the new tale, "Victoria," is fully equal in interest and depth of plot to either of those which have secured so large a share of public approval, and we can earnestly recommend it to all story-readers.

The New York Mercury is sold by all news-men and periodical dealers in America. To subscribers it is regularly mailed every Saturday morning, for 2 a year; three copies for $5; six copies for 9; eight copies for $12, with an extra copy, free, to the getter up the club. Six months' subscriptions received. Always write plainly the name of your Post Office, County and State. We take the notes of all solvent banks at par. Payment must invariably be made in advance. Specimen Copies sent free to all applicants. Address all letters and remittances, post paid, to CAULDWELL & WHITNEY, Proprietors of The New York Mercury, 113 Fulton St., N. Y. City.
