REGOOD YILL

I'm standing in the mud, Biddy, With not a spalpeen near. And silence, speechless as the grave, is all the gound I hear.

My gone is at a showlder arms,
I'm wetted to the bone. And whin 'im afther spakin' out,

I find meselt alone, STAR This Southern climate's quare, Biddy, A quare and bastely thing, With winter absent all the year, And summer in the spring.
Ye mind the hot place down below? And may ye never fear d dthraw comparisons—but then, It's awful warrum here. I'd dthraw

The only moon I see. Biddy. Is one standl star; ashore, And that's fornint the very cloud It was behind before; The watchfires glame along the hill That's swelling to the South. And when the sentry passes them I see his oogly mouth.

It's dead for slape I am, Biddy And dramen shwate I'd be If them ould Rebels over there Would only lave me free; But when I lane against a sthump, And strive to get repose,
A musket ball be's coming shtraight To hit my spacious nose,

It's ye I'd like to see, Biddy, A sliparkin' here wid me, And then, avouragen, hear me say, "Acushia-Pat-machree!"
"Och, Biddy, derlint." then, says 1, Says you, "get out of that;"
Says I, "me arrum mates your waist,"
Says you, "Be dacent, Pat."

And how's the pigs and ducks, Biddy, It's them I think of, sure, That looked so innocent and shwate Upon the parlor flure; I'm sure you're alsy with the pig That's fat as he can be, And fade him wid the best, because I'm towld he looks like me.

When I come home again, Biddy, A sargent tried and thrue, It's joust a dacent house I'd build, And rint it chape to you. We'll have a parlor, bedroom, hall, And duck pond nately done, With kitchen, pig pen, praty patch, Ard garret—all in one.

But, murther ! there's a basto, Biddy, That's crapin' round a tree, And well I know the creature's there To have a shot at me. Now, Mister Rebel, say yer pray'rs And howld yer dirty paw.

Here goes!—be jabbers, Biddy dear,
I've broke his oogly jaw!
