

Local and General

Gov. Curtin has been visiting the Potomac Army recently, looking after the comfort and interests of Pennsylvania soldiers.

The School Directors will meet in this place on Monday, the 4th day of May next, to choose a County Superintendent for the three ensuing years.

Do not fail to read the article on our first page, headed, "Copperheads of Connecticut." There are other Connections in the country, and there is a Benedict Arnold in almost every village of the Free North.

"Slavery is a divine institution," said Geo. Francis Train, during his discussion with C. M. Clay, in New York. "So it is," shouted an old man in the audience, and the house came down with terrific demonstrations.

The Philadelphia Press states that a lady in Germantown had an article of dress which was made from cotton raised from seed received from the Patent Office last spring, and planted by her.

Parkinson of the Louisville Journal says "those who talk of a reconstruction of the Union, with New England left out, are no better than the other rebels," which statement tersely sums up the whole question.

We recommend to the notice of our dealers the advertisement of Peter Lorillard. This is an old and respectable house and from all accounts which reach us, likely to perform the fair and honorable part in all business transactions.

It is stated that at no time, for many years, has so much counterfeit money been about as now, and probably at no time have bills about been so well executed and likely to deceive. Unusual caution in receiving paper should therefore be exercised.

Mr. I. P. Howe, of Bingham, is at present canvassing the county to obtain subscribers to a Pictorial History of the War, by Mrs. Ann S. Stevens. The book is warmly commended by the press, and the well-known ability of Mrs. Stevens should gain for it a handsome sale.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that Revenue stamps, with exception of "Proprietary," may be used indiscriminately. Thus, a conveyance stamp of 50 cents, may be used as option, upon a deed, mortgage, lease, writ, or bond, requiring a stamp of that amount; and the others in like manner.

Spanker—A Scoundrel found himself in an unpleasant situation the other day at Steele's Hotel, with his head between the knees of a loyal Republican, and his tother end exposed to a severe spanking, well laid on, and well deserved, for his disloyal talk. Scoundrel friends interfered, when Republican took off his coat and ordered them back, declaring that he could whip the whole Scoundrel crew at a time. That's the talk—Willsboro' Times.

"Opposition is the life of Business." Our young friends GLASSMIRE & COLWELL are out this week in a column advertisement of their New Store on the corner opposite Glassmire's Hotel. They promise to furnish the people of Potter county with Groceries and Provisions as cheap as can be had at any place in the county. Give them a call. They are both honest and upright, and we think have the requisite energy and enterprise to keep the right kind of a Grocery.

From the State Superintendent's Report of the Common School system of this State, we learn the following in reference to Potter county: Whole number of schools, 109; number yet required, 11; average number of months taught, 5 and 5-10ths; number of male teachers employed, 26; number of female teachers, 145; number of male scholars, 1,693; number of female scholars, 1,590; average cost per month 75 cts; amount for school purposes, $9,261 74; amount for building purposes, $243 37; from State appropriations, $1,138 40; from Collectors of School Tax, unassigned lands, and other purposes, $8,436 20; cost of instruction, $6,637 07; fuel and contingencies, $1,243 26; school houses, renting, building, &c., $2,456 97; permanent debt, $505 91; temporary debt, $301; balance in hand, $2,073 43.

SHREVEPORTS.—Certain evil-disposed parties in Senator Wilson's district having commenced suits against honest men who in the recent emergency issued illegal notes for currency, in accordance with a supposed necessity and general desire of the people, he introduced a bill relieving them of all legal liabilities in the case. As this would settle every persecution that might be got up by personal enemies all over the State—and the Legislature have, for two years in succession, almost unanimously, excused the Banks for violations of laws in non-payment of specie, and have relieved them from the penalty thereby incurred—it might have been supposed this lesser offense could have also been overlooked in the circumstances of the case. Men who honestly redeem this paper money, have committed no moral offense; they have simply disregarded a regulation respecting a point of currency, prohibited by a statute. Yet Mr. Kinsey, and the majority of the Senate, could not find it consistent with their views of duty as spruce Senators to remove this liability. Bank directors are all pardoned, over and over again; but honest merchants and those who deal in legal money are less heinous and illegal, are left exposed to every sharper, malignant foe, or mercenary speculator, who may seek their ruin. On examination and reflection, I see not how any Senator could say to a general bill upon this subject, even if they voted against a local bill of the same sort.—Leedsburg Chronicle.

Thanks to some unknown friend for a copy of Hon. Cassius M. Clay's speech before the Law Department of the Albany University.

The Copperhead Resolutions and the Copperhead Press denounce as unconstitutional the Proclamation of the President. Genl Ben. Butler, one of the ablest, if not the ablest, Democratic lawyer of New England, says: "What shall be done with the slaves? Here again the laws of war have long settled, with clearness and exactness, that it is for the conqueror, for the government that has maintained, or extended its direction over the territory, to deal with slaves as it pleases, to free them or not as it chooses."

Towards the close of his speech he declares the copperheads to be "Lineal descendants of Judas Iscariot, and intermarried with Benedict Arnold."

As Copperheadism appears to be in doubt as to the correct definition of loyalty he gives the following, which is contrary to the peculiar tenets of Copperheadism:

"I call upon true men to sustain the Government. It is not a Government of my choice, it did not vote for any part of it; but it is the Government of my country; it is the only organ by which I can exert the force of the country and protect her integrity; and so long as I believe that action is honestly exerted, I will throw the mantle of charity over any mistakes I think I may see and support it heartily with hand and purse so long as I live. I have no loyalty to any man. My loyalty is to the Government and it makes no difference to me who the people have put into that Government, so long as it has been properly and constitutionally done. So long as they hold their seats and hold their power, I am a traitor and a false man if I falter in that support. This is what I understand to be loyalty to the Government. And I was sorry to hear the other day that there was a man in New York who professed not to know the meaning of the word. I desire to say that it is the duty of every man to be loyal to the Government, to sustain the Government, to pardon its errors, to help rectify its mistakes, to press it on to everything that it may do for the country, and let it carry the country on in its course of glory and grandeur on which it was placed by our fathers; for let me say to you, my friends, you young men, that no man yet has ever prospered who opposed his country in time of war."
