

Inaugural of Gov. Curtin.
Governor CURTIN entered upon the duties of a second term of office on the 12th inst. The following is

THE INAUGURAL ADDRESS.
Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Called by the partiality of my fellow-citizens to the office of Governor of Pennsylvania for another term, I appear before you to solemnly renew the prescribed obligation to support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, and to discharge the responsible trust confided to me with fidelity.

When first summoned before you, three years ago, to assume the sacred duties of the Executive office, the long gathering clouds of civil war were about to break upon our devoted country. For years treason had been gathering in might—had been appropriating to its fiendish lust more and more bountifully of the nation's hours—had grown steadily bolder in assumption of power until it had won the tolerance, if not the sanction of a formidable element of popular strength even in the confessedly loyal States. The election of a President in 1860, in strict conformity with the Constitution and the laws, though not the cause, was deemed the fit occasion for an organized attempt to overthrow the whole fabric of our free institutions, and plunge a nation of thirty millions of people into hopeless anarchy.

The grave offence charged against the President elect seemed alone to consist in his avowed fidelity to the government, and his determined purpose to fulfil his solemn covenant to maintain inviolate the Union of the States. When inaugurated he found States in open rebellion, disclaiming allegiance to the Government, fraudulently appropriating its property, and insolently contemning its authority. Treason was struggling for supremacy in every department of administrative power. In the Cabinet it feloniously disarmed us—our arsenals were robbed to enable the armies of crime to drench a continent in blood—our coasts were left comparatively defenceless to fall an easy prey to traitors—our navy was scattered upon distant seas to render the Republic helpless for its own protection—officers, educated, commissioned and sworn to defend the Government against any foe, became deserters, defied Heaven in shameless perjury, and with fratricidal hands drew their swords against the country of their allegiance, and when treason had thus completed its preparations, wanted, wicked war was forced upon our loyal people.

Never was war so causeless. The North had sought no sectional triumph, invaded no rights, inflicted no wrongs upon the South. It aimed to preserve the Republic, not to destroy it, and even when Rebellion presented the sword as the arbiter, we exhausted every effort consistent with the existence of our Government to avert the bloody drama of the last three years. The insolent alternative presented by treason of fatal dismemberment or insouciance war, was met by generous efforts to avert the storm of death which threatened to fall; but the leaders of the rebellion spurned peace, unless they could glut their infernal ambition over the ruins of the noblest and freest Government ever devised by man.

Three years of bloody, wasting war, and the horrible sacrifice of a quarter of a million lives attest the desperation of their purpose to overthrow our liberties. Mourning and sorrow spread over the entire nation, and defeat and desolation are the terrible trophies won by the traitor's hand. Our people have been sorely tried by disasters, but in the midst of the deepest gloom they have stood with unflinching devotion to the great cause of our common country. Relying upon the ultimate triumph of the right, they have proved themselves equal to the stern duty and worthy of their rich inheritance of freedom. Their fidelity has been well rewarded. In God's own good time, He has asserted his avenging power; and if this war is persisted in by the leaders of the rebellion, as has become evident, then slavery and treason, the fountain and stream of discord and death, must soon share a common grave.

In this great struggle for our honored nationality, Pennsylvania has won immortal fame. Despite the teachings of the faithless and the hesitation of the timid she has promptly and generously met every demand made upon her, whether to repel invasion or to fight the battles of the Union whenever and wherever her people were demanded. Upon every field made historic and sacred by the valor of our troops, some of the martial youth of Pennsylvania have fallen. There is scarce a hospital that has not been visited by our kind offices to the sick and wounded, there is not a department in which brave men do not answer with pride to the name of our noble State, and while history endures, loyal hearts will turn with feelings of national pride to Gettysburg, where the common deliverance of Pennsylvania and the Union will stand recorded in the unsurpassed glory of that bloody field.

I need hardly renew my pledge, that during the term of office on which I am about to enter, I will give my whole moral and official power to the prosecution of this war, and in aiding the National Government in every effort to secure early and complete success over our malignant foes.

For the preservation of our national life, all things should be subordinated. It is the first, highest, noblest duty of the citizen—it is his protection in person, property, and all civil and religious privileges, and for its perpetuity in form and power, he owes all his efforts, his influence, his means, and his life. To compromise with treason would be but to give it renewed existence and enable it again to plunge us into another causeless war.

In the destruction of the military power of the rebellion is alone the hope of peace, for while armed rebels march over the soil of any State, no real freedom can prevail and no governmental authority consistent with the genius of our free institutions, can properly operate.

The people of every State are entitled under the Constitution to the protection of the Government, and to give that protection fully and fairly, rebellion must be disarmed and trodden in the dust. By these means and these alone, can we have enduring union, prosperity and peace. As in the past, I will in the future, in faithful obedience to the oath I have taken spare no means, withhold no power which can strengthen the Government in this conflict. To the measures of the citizens chosen to administer the National Government adopted to promote our great cause, I will give my cordial approval and earnest co-operation. It is the cause of constitutional liberty and law. Powers which are essential to our common safety should now be wisely and fearlessly administered, and that Executive would be faithless and held guilty before the world who should fail to wield the might of the Government for its own preservation. The details of my views on the measures which I recommend are contained in my recent annual message, and need not be here repeated.

I beg to return to the generous people of my native State my hearty thanks for their unflinching support and continued confidence. They have sustained me amid many trying hours of official embarrassment. Among all these people to none am I more indebted than to the soldiers of Pennsylvania, and I here pledge to those brave men my untiring exertions in their behalf, and my most anxious efforts for their future welfare, and I commend here, as I have frequently done before, those dependent upon them, to the fostering care of the State.

I cannot close this address without an earnest prayer to the Most High that He will preserve, protect and guard our beloved country, guiding with Divine power and wisdom, our Government, State and National, and I appeal to my fellow-citizens, here and elsewhere, in our existing embarrassments, to lay aside all partisan feelings and to unite in a hearty and earnest effort to support the common cause which involves the welfare of us all.

Gentlemen, I pray you, in God's name, let us, in this era in the history of the world, set an example of unity and concord in the support of all measures for the preservation of this great Republic.

A. G. CURTIN.
PUTTING ON AIRS.—When one is not dangerously interested in the results, it is a positive pleasure to him to see another put on "airs;" a school girl, with a continual smirk, and imagining herself a sparkling coquette; a school boy puffing a "Havana," and imagining he don't feel sick; a wretched stick of an actor trying to be a star, and imagining that he is one; a starveling of a clerk catching at the prerogatives of the cashier; a country school master taking his boys by surprise, with brow beatings (and other kind of beatings) and cajoleries in turn; a letter carrier usurping the acquired graces of a pompous postmaster; an errand boy who shrugs his shoulders, if when the clerks have gone to dinner, he is asked to show the goods; the queen of the sixth-rate boarding house, who parades at dinner time blood red bows and brass yellow bracelets; these, and others too numerous to mention, only because they are too numerous to think of all at once, are examples of "putting on airs." There is an air of romance about such airs. All is unreal. The stupid creatures enjoy themselves in trying to be what they never can be; the malicious world enjoys itself in seeing them try to be so. To endeavor truly to understand one's own capabilities, and to walk humbly in the consciousness of them, is the sole way to maintain one's self respect, and secure the admiration of both friends and foes.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—The thirteenth volume of this American periodical begins with the January number. Steadily increasing in popularity, since its present Publishers, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, assumed its management, it has now a circulation greater than that ever reached by any American Magazine of its class, and numbers among its contributors such names as Longfellow, Hawthorne, Emerson, Bryant, Agassiz, Holmes, Lowell, Harriet Beecher-Stowe, and others scarcely less eminent. Its stereotyped volumes are a valuable repository of original papers on a great variety of subjects, and its monthly issues have a genuine freshness and fitness to the hour. It is a good text, as it certainly is, of the standing of a magazine that it attracts and introduces new writers, the names of England, of Gail Hamilton, and of the lamented Winthrop are evidence enough of what the Atlantic has thus accomplished. Nor can a better proof be given of the popular estimation in which it is held than the demand for a publication in separate volumes of many of the serial papers that first appeared in its pages, such as "The Autocrat," "Elsie Venner," "Agassiz," "Methods of study in Natural History," "The Minister's Wooing," "Life in the Open Air," "Agnes of Sorrento," "Out-Door Papers," "The Excursions," "Whittier's 'In War Time,'" and others.

As among the chiefest merits of the Atlantic, also, let us not forget that it has honestly held and freely declared its own opinions, on other than literary questions, and that while it has won for itself in literature a position which no other American Magazine has reached, it has consistently spoken true words for Liberty and Progress. In the present crisis through which the country is passing, every intelligent American should know what influence such a journal as this of the contributors to the Atlantic are exerting upon the progress of humanity.

The Rural Annual for 1864. The Rural Annual and Horticultural Directory is a little book published at the commencement of each year by the Editor of the Genesee Farmer at Rochester, N. Y. It was started in 1856, and a new volume has been issued each year. The volume for 1864 is now before us. Among its contents may be mentioned articles on the best means of enriching the Soil, on Swamp Muck and the best methods of composting and applying it, on Manures, on Protection to Orchards, on the Best Climate for Sheep, on Gathering Fruit, on the Culture of Hops, on the Culture of Flax, on Planting Trees, and a hundred other articles interesting to the Farmer and Gardener. Price only 25 cents. It will be sent prepaid by return mail on receipt of the price. Address Joseph Harris, Editor Genesee Farmer, Rochester, N. Y.

The Genesee Farmer for 1864. A new volume commences with the January number. Now is the time to subscribe. Only 75 cents a year. All who subscribe before the January number is issued, will receive the December number free. Address as above.

THE CAUSE OF STRAINING. THE CAUSE OF STRAINING. THE CAUSE OF STRAINING. If those who suffer either Constipation, Indigestion, Costiveness, Piles, Dyspepsia, &c., would use Dr. Radway's Regulating Pills, in place of the common aloes pills, they would avoid the unnatural habit of straining and quickly rid themselves of the disease. This straining that is forced upon the patient when at stool, is caused by the irritation of the mucus membrane of the lower bowels. Bear in mind, that all of these common pills of aloes, &c., never dissolve in the stomach or exert the least influence on the liver, but are carried to the lower bowels, and there, by their drastic and unnatural influence occasion irritation and instead of securing a natural movement or evacuation, induce an irritating discharge, which involves cramps, wrenching pains, straining, tenesmus, frequently sending the patient to the water closet on futile errands. DR. RADWAY'S PILLS, are the only safe pills to take—they act directly on the liver and purify the blood. One to six boxes will cure any disease that the most popular of pills are advertised to cure.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.—This valuable work should not only be in the hands of every tiller of the soil, but find its place in every household. ORANGE JUDD, A. M. working by a practical course of active working men like himself, devote their entire energies towards making the Agriculturist worthy the position it occupies as the first work of its character now issued in this country. It is issued in quarto form, suitable for binding and afforded at the low price of ONE DOLLAR per year. The January number 1864 commences a new volume, affording good opportunity to subscribe. This work contains within its closely printed pages a more extended variety of articles treating upon matters of practical interest than any publication now issued in the country. We are glad to learn that its circulation is rapidly increasing, encouraging the Proprietor to prosecute his work with increased vigor and spirit.—Address ORANGE JUDD, 41 Park Row, New York.

Court Proclamation.

WHEREAS the Hon. Robert G. White, President Judge, and the Hon. C. S. Jones and G. G. Colvin, Associate Judges, of the Courts of Oyer & Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Quarter Sessions of the Peace, Orphan's Court and Court of Common Pleas for the county of Potter, have issued their precept, bearing date the twenty-first day of Dec'r, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and to me directed, for holding a court of Oyer & Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Quarter Sessions of the Peace, Orphan's-court, and court of Common Pleas in the Borough of Coudersport, on MONDAY, the 13th day of Feb'r, next, and to continue one week:

Notice is therefore hereby given to the Coroners, Justices of the Peace and Constables within the county, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock A.M. of said day, with their rolls, records, inquisitions, examinations, and other remembrances, to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done. And those who are bound by their recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of said county of Potter, are to be then and there to prosecute against them as will be just. Dated at Coudersport, Janr. 11, 1864, and the 86th year of the Independence of the United States of America.
