ENOCH ARDEN, by ALFRED TENNYSON.—
The universal interest felt in this charming poem has induced Messrs Tickner & Fields, of Boston, to issue a twenty-five cent edition for popular reading, in addition to the other and more costly editions which they publish. They send copies to the press, hoping that the extended publicity given by this cheap edition may result in the introduction of this most beautiful and touching idyl into all the housebeautiful and touching idyl into all the house-

The Quota of the Borough of Conder sport, under the President's call of Dec. 19th. was more than filled by volunteers last week—there will be no draft in the Borough. Six men were enlisted to our credit, when only three were needed, leaving an excess of three to be counted on the next quota if there should, be another call. Eulalia, Sweden and several other towns we learn are endeavoring to fill their quotas.
