BRANDRETH'S PILLS

A General Assistant of Nature.
What is health? What is disease? Health is when the supply and expenditure are equal. Disease when the supply and expenditure are unequal.
BRANDRETH'S PILLS impart certain expansive powers to all matters of the body whose life is below the standard of the surrounding party, or which have remained longer than nature designed. So in fevers and all that class of cases which soon run into mortification BRANDRETH'S PILLS have marvelous curative qualities. Our bodies are continually changing, and it is by this change we live. THE POTTER COUNTY JOURNAL.

Coudersport, Wednesday Evening, July 19, 1865.

Local and General.

Papers of the State report quite cool weather during the past ten days.

A Soldier had his pocket picked of $144 while standing in the depot at Lock Haven, on Thursday of last week.

There was quite a heavy frost in this county, the morning of the 14th—not sufficient however to do any damage.

The Tioga Agitator says: "Rev. J. F. Calkins, so long Chaplain of the 149th, has returned to resume his labors among us."

About 450 Soldiers partook of the Soldiers' Dinner in Wellsboro on the Fourth, and it is estimated that 8000 people were present.

Robert C. Cox, of Liberty, and W. T. Humphrey, of Osceola, are candidates for Assembly, in Tioga.

The new Hotel in Williamsport will be opened in time for the State Fair which is to be held in September.

The New York Herald says that Ben Wood is a Benedict Arnold without his bravery and a Judas Iscariot who has not the grace to hang himself.

An Jamesstown, N. Y., last Wednesday, a dam broke away, doing about $5,000 damage, besides causing the stoppage of sundry mills. The new dam will be completed in six weeks.

The Lock Haven Republican states that an attempt was made the other night to burn the dwelling of Mr. Sheffer, in that place, and that if it had succeeded, the family would have been burned with the buildings.

Major-General John F. Hartman, the original commander of the 61st Penna's Regiment, is recommended for the nomination of Surgeon-General. A fine man, an able officer, and a worthy citizen, his nomination would be a "tower of strength" in the Fall contest.

The Harrisburg Daily Telegraph has been enlarged and improved in many respects, and now looks more like the organ of a great party than it has heretofore. We commend it to our Union friends who desire a paper from the Capital. Terms: Daily, 50 in advance; weekly, $2.

Nothing that Maximilian can do will suffice to cover up the outrage of his presence in Mexico. He may be the most liberal of the liberals, but he is none the less a usurper, the tool of a despot, supported by foreign bayonets. He may do what he pleases, the only act that is called for in his case is his removal to Europe.

On Saturday afternoon, July 1st, as three colored boys were fishing in a boat on Jones' Lake, near Montrose, the boat sank and all three were drowned. Their names were Edward Williams, Theodore Allen, and Alexandria Ray. Williams could swim, and attempted to save the others, but they, in their fright, seized hold of him and drew him under.

The Second Volume of Messrs. Ticknor & Field's Companion Poets for the People has been issued and contains the better part of Tenyson's short poems. We have no doubt but that when the people come to understand the worth of these volumes they will be found as frequently at our firesides as the most popular magazines of the day. Send for a specimen copy. Price 50 cents. Ticknor & Field, 135 Washington St. Boston.

Messrs. Ticknor & Field, of Boston, have published a pamphlet edition of a most remarkable narrative "The Man without a Country." Upon its original publication in the Atlantic Monthly it attracted more general attention than any work of fiction we have printed in a long time. It has a peculiar interest at this particular time and should be read by every American, old or young, man or woman. Send ten cents to the publishers and they will send you a copy, post-paid.

FIRE AT KANE.—Some three weeks since, a very valuable sawmill, belonging to Gen. T. L. Kane, at Kane, on the line of the Philadelphia and Erie R. R. was destroyed by fire. The loss to Gen. Kane cannot be less than $15,000 and the loss to the Railroad Company who are erecting extensive repair shops, a round house, &c., and to the citizens who contemplated building at Kane this season, is almost irreparable. We are gratified to state, however, that another mill will be built as soon as men and means can build it. Gen. Kane, with his usual promptness and energy, is pushing the work forward with all possible dispatch.

Information is wanted of the whereabouts of Nathaniel Hart, late of Co. Ia, 29th P. V., who has not been heard of since his discharge at Camp Curtin, on the 5th of June. Any information will be thankfully received, if addressed to Mrs. Harriet A. Hart, Blossburg, Tioga county, Pa., or Mr. Frederick Usher, Harrisburg.

We get the following items from the last Williamsport Bulletin:

One Hundred Dollars has been deposited in the First National Bank, towards a fund for the purpose of erecting a Monument to the memory of the fallen heroes who went from Lycoming County, and the Ladies are taking the initial steps for establishing a Soldiers' Home.—The Williamsport Bridge Company are ready for bids from contractors to construct the Bridge.—A man named Petr Cartigan was killed in Perkins' Mill on Saturday afternoon.—Copper ore was found on the farm of Martin Coughlin in Wolf township.—The sale of Government horses on Wednesday and Thursday, was very successful. The number sold was 193. The highest price paid for one was $215. The lowest price $28.—The Street Railroad is in full blast. A beautiful car was placed on the track, and commenced its regular trips on Thursday last. It runs at intervals of twenty minutes, and the first day had no lack of passengers.—The people of Muncy are taking active measures to have a Soldiers' Monument erected in the Muncy Cemetery. Several hundred dollars have already been raised for that purpose.

REPORT

Of the last regular meeting of the Old Man's Conventional Gathering, held in Crab-apple-orchard, July 1, 1865.

Having met, the ears of the conugal sisters were regaled by an Instrumental piece on the Accordion, by Araminta Jane Scraggs.

Next, an Essay, "Single Blessedness," by Hannah Martha Simpkins, which called forth heartfelt enthusiasm.

Song—"We're a band of sisters." After which, as the tea was cooling, they proceeded to the supper table—Mary Ann Livoferer and Felicia Dorothea Nipper carrying the banner on which was inscribed "Liberty for all—a union with no man."

On seating themselves, they were horrified to find that the splendid banquet that graced the centre of the table contained a bachelor's button, but as Jemima Mchitabie Snappdragon had the courage to throw the vile thing away with just indignation, they proceeded to partake of the delicacies set before them.

The following toast was offered by Alvira Charit Green: Old Maids—who, though meeting in a crab-apple orchard, are not yet reduced to bouquets of "distastes and tansy."

Responded to by Mercy Ann Livoferer. Araminta Jane Scraggs gave Old bachelors—"One could call unmarketable. Repulse—No doubt of that; by Ketura Della Slinmensen.

May the tribe of man vanish from the face of the earth and be seen no more; by Angelina Mary Pashpor.

Responded to by Felicia Dorothea Nipper.

Fearing that the sentiment just offered cannot conveniently be complied with, Alvira Charit Green gave the following: May Old Bachelors flourish forever—at the Bachelors' Retreat.

Responded to by the whole sisterhood. Dessert.

Araminta Jane Scraggs and Jerusha Sophronia Pillicoddy, having partaken freely of the perambulations, which formed part of the banquet, retired in a mood of singing, favored the rest of the company with a long song, the concluding verses of which are particularly fine:

May the sun shine on all as ever has done, May our hearts be ever as changelovers remain; And Cupid darts ever pierce our hearts, May we never have "Love on the brain."

We hope that the day is not far away, When no bachelor can so provoke With the words we now hear whenever they're near As, "Ladies, permit me to smoke."

May bullets still fly—may smoke cloud the sky, My cannon continue to roar; May the trumpet still call until it takes all, And then will our troubles be o'er.

The following resolutions were then adopted: Resolved, That while we deplore the ravages made in our ranks during the past year by the disease called Mutrimonia, we are consoled by the thought that the opposite sex suffered quite as severely as our own.

Resolved, That those unfortunate members of our band who have been unable to join us here, have our heartfelt sympathy, and that for their benefit, a report of this meeting be sent to the Potter County Journal for publication.

Resolved, That when the smiles of another summer shall have called forth the buds and blossoms on the crab-apple trees, we will meet again in this, our favorite retreat, to renew our resolutions of the present year.

Resolved, That— At this juncture the form of Jeremiah Clossop was thrown through the window on his way to the Bachelors' Retreat, at sight of which the company retreated in graceful confusion. USE WHO WAS THERE.

The following is the description of the large Hotel about being finished in Williamsport: The whole structure is one hundred and fifty-six feet square. The basement, which can hardly be called a basement, as it is only about eighteen inches below the surface of the surrounding grounds, is as dry as any other floor in the house. It will contain a first class Restaurant, Oyster and Eating Saloon, which will be situated in the northeast corner. In the southeast corner is a large room which is to be fitted up for an elegant Cream Saloon for ladies. On the west side are the rooms for washing, ironing, baking, &c. The basement also contains a Barber Shop, Store-room for the use of the Hotel, and about fifteen sleeping rooms for the use of the employees of the House. In the centre is an open area sixty-six feet square, which is reached by an open archway. Here are the rooms for depositing coal, &c.

In the centre is an open area sixty-six feet square, which is reached by an open archway. Here are the rooms for depositing coal, &c.

The next story—which must be called the first—is divided by halls, or entries, running through the centre of the building at right angles, making four entrances, one on each side, besides one entrance into the Dining Room from the Railroad Depot, where the structure is built. At one side of this entrance is a Wash Room for gentlemen, and on the other a similar Room, with private Saloon attached, for ladies. The Dining Room is 125 feet long by 40 feet wide, and will be furnished in elegant style with small oval tables. There is also an outer entrance from the west front. These entrances are all from a verandah, which extends around the north, south and west fronts. The central north entrance leads to the Office—a large and spacious apartment—connecting with the Dining Room, and from that to a Billiard Saloon, &c. On the east, in the ladies' private entrance, on the left is the ladies' Reception Room, which is connected by folding doors with the ladies' Parlor in the northeast corner of the building. From the south entrance, by turning to the left, we enter a magnificent room which should be a parlor, but is designed for a Store for the sale of gentlemen's and ladies' furnishing goods. This will be a novelty on the main floor of a hotel, but will have its convenience and attractions. This story also contains a room for cooking, with a large flue to carry off the steam and smoke, so that none will escape into the Dining Room or other parts of the Hotel. The second and third stories are occupied by suits of rooms for families and single rooms. They are all large and airy, and the doors between communicating rooms so large that a bed can be moved there without taking them apart. A passage way, or entry, seven feet wide, runs entirely around the centre of these stories, dividing the rooms into two sets, front and back. The fourth story has a similar arrangement, but the rooms are smaller and designed for a single bed; but they are large in comparison to the single rooms of most hotels. There are three main flights of stairs to each of these stories, besides the private one for the use of the employees of the house. In fact, there seems to be nothing left undone which could be done to make this a first class Hotel, unsurpassed in our large cities for extent of room or the perfect arrangement for accommodation of guests. Such a house will, necessarily, attract persons, who desire a comfortable retreat from large cities, and will, undoubtedly, be fully appreciated.

Frederick Seaward has so far recovered from his injuries as to be able to ride out each day, weather permitting, and he expects shortly to visit his home in the State of New York.

The gentlemen who run the McKean Railroad and Navigation Machine, have been with us once more and retired, probably not to again return until next year about this time, when they are compelled to visit us again, in order to retain their charter. For a goodly number of years we have been accustomed to this kind of proceeding, and for the life of us we find nothing in it attractive or which tends to win our admiration. The meetings of the company are held in somebody's back office, and the proceedings are through no such profound secrecy.—Every two or three years the company is completely metamorphosed, not from the lava to the butterfly, but from one set of men to another. Whenever a change occurs, the never-despairing, hopeful-inhabitants of the valleys of Potato and Marvin creek, believe the change to be for the better. They are told that "the road is now certainly to be built," and determined to look only on the bright side of the picture, they believe all they are told. They remain all the time as ignorant of the doings of the Company as though no such company existed, and still hope on for the improvement to commence, for the day of deliverance, until "hope deferred maketh the heart sick." Such was the history of the Allegheny Valley R. R. Co., such is the history of the McKean R. R. and Navigation Company, and such we have almost come to the conclusion is to be the history of all railroads affecting our immediate locality, but still we shall continue to "hope on, hope ever."

We have reason to be thankful that capitalists are directing their attention to other sections of our county, if not to this. The Buffalo and Bradford Railroad is being completed to the Bond coal bed as rapidly as men and means can build it. A large amount of coal is being mined daily, and it is expected that before the winter months roll round, the iron horse will be transporting the products of our western hills to the vast markets of Western New York, the Lakes and Canada.

So with the Buffalo and Washington R. R. The men who have taken hold of this enterprise are determined to carry it through and we look upon the early commencement of operations upon the road without fail.—McKean Miner.

Dr. Chapin on Negro Suffrage.

Rev. Dr. Chapin of this city spoke as follows in his 4th of July oration at Albany:

"It has been ours to reassert our father's declaration that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. We have the premises, shall we accept the conclusions that government shall have no power except by consent of the governed; that there shall be no taxation without representation?"

In the assertion of this principle our fathers threw the tea into Boston harbor. How far shall we go in asserting it? Shall there be no taxation of property and yet a taxation of labor and bones and sinews and thought and speech and the dearest human rights? Shall there be a taxation of any class of men while the men themselves are unrepresented? Shall they give their blood in the hot battle and their sweat in the field, and yet feel that they have no vital function in the organism of the nation? Shall we allow them the ballot but not the ballot? Fellow citizens, the principle that gives its distinctive character to the Declaration is the principle of universal suffrage. It asserts this radical principle of democracy. The condition of universal suffrage should be universal education. [Applause.] The criterion of a man's vote should be, that he knows why he votes, and this will be enforced exactly in proportion as he knows what it is that votes. It is not cotton that votes, nor cotton, nor greenbacks, nor a white skin, nor a black skin. It is the intelligent will that votes, or should vote. Let the qualification be set forth and known as a condition, and it will become universal. You can lift men into intelligence, the safeguard of democracy, but you cannot educate them to be red, black or white."

NATIONAL TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

This body will hold its annual meeting for 1865, on the 16th, 17th and 18th of August, in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg. Gov. Curtin will deliver an address of welcome, at 10 o'clock A. M., on the 16th. It is contemplated to have an excursion to Gettysburg, on the afternoon of the 17th. The Pennsylvania School Journal says that the hotels of Harrisburg have consented to reduce their charges about one third, in favor of the members of the Association. The railroads will grant free return tickets to members who pay full fare coming to the Convention.

AN ENTERPRISING FEMALE.

The Erie Dispatch says: We were somewhat taken aback, a few days ago, on the creek by meeting a "charming female" who talked as "pertly" upon oil and oil wells as any person of the opposite sex we ever met. She had sites for sale of any desirable promise—was quite indifferent about trading—asked a good royalty, ranging from three sixteenths to one quarter—had interests which she considered worth from $50,000 to $100,000—did not want to marry—expected to open an office in New York soon—had no agents employed, transacted her own business, and was ready to negotiate for anything in the shape of property from a steam engine to a State house. Et cetera.
