The Feulan Quarrel. TheFeulan quarrel maintains its in terest, and judging from the space devoted to it in the New York papers, attracts an unusual share of attention. One important point developed during the quarrel is the fact that our Irish born citizens have made large contributions to the Fedian cause out of their hard earnings, which is not only being used for unlawful purposes but is being wasted by their leaders in wild project, luxurious living and private speculations. Let us name a few of the disclosures. There are $27,000 for the zent of a house, $5,000 for extravagant furniture,850,000 asked to supply troops The facts in relation to the case are these in the field (what field ?) $70.000 lost in Duncan had polled for him twenty-five votes -rold speculations, and $250,000 said to more than were polled for his competitor. Mr.

Q'Mahoney himself. It is a ornel shame under the law of Congress these ninety-three that the poor, hard working Irish people votes were illegel ; the opposition contended
