HEADLEY'S HISTORY OF THE GREAT REBELLION.

THE late Rebellion stands out peculiar and extraordinary in human events; and the magnificent scale upon which the way has been conducted, constitute to one of the GRANDEST and MOST BRILL LIANT CHAPTERS OF THE WORLD'S HISstitute it one of the GIRAFIEST and MOST BIGHTLIANT CHAPTERS OF THE WORLD'S HISTORY.

Mr. Headley, of all writers, is perhaps best qualified to portray the stupendons features of the mighty contest. His previous works on less momentous themes have placed him in the first position, as a graphic and powerful delineator of War Scenes and characters, and the magnitude and grandeur of his present subject, impart to his pon the fire and vicer of a yet more exalted inspiration, and furnish ample scope for the highest exhibition of his peculiar genius for military description. Under his powerful penithe stirring scenes of the War pass in review with the vividness and distinctness of a present and hiving reality; while his great talent for condensation enables him to embody everything of importance in a coimpass just safted to the public want. From no other source can so clear and comprehensive animpression of the grand march of events be obtained, so casily and agreeably, as from Mr. Headley's work.
Other histories have been issued before Grant's Report and other Official Documents were submitted to the Gövernment, and are therefore unreliable.
Mr. Headley Bas delayed the completion or this till
