

The Situation in Europe.

A war is about breaking out in Europe, which may extend, before its close, over the whole continent. We give below a short synopsis of the strength of the contending nations.

I.—PRUSSIA.
The area of Prussia is at present 108,212 English square miles, or about equal to the combined territory of Georgia and Florida. The population, according to the census of 1864, was 19,805,179, falling but little below that of the Northern States of the Union. The great majority of the population are Germans; the total number of persons belonging to non-German nationalities being 2,504,179. A considerable portion of the latter are feeble remnants of small tribes, which are rapidly being absorbed by the German nationality. Within the last few years the Government of Prussia made several important additions to the former dominions, acquiring first the two Principalities of Hohenzollern, next the important seacoast-district of Yaldé, which it purchased from Oldenburg, and more recently the Duchy of Lauenburg which was ceded to it by Austria for a pecuniary consideration. It holds, moreover, possession of Schleswig, and avows its intention to permanently annex to Prussia both this Duchy and that of Holstein. In point of administration, Prussia is not inferior to any other country of the world. Its finances, unlike those of Austria and Italy, are in a sound condition; its army discipline has long been the admiration of the entire civilized world. The army, on a war footing, numbers 700,000, and its fleet consisted, in 1865, of 37 steamers, 8 sailing vessels, 40 rowing vessels; total, 85 war vessels. The reigning King is William I., born in 1797, who succeeded his brother Frederic William IV. in January, 1861.

II.—AUSTRIA.
The Austrian Empire, as at present constituted, is divided into nineteen Provinces, the area of which is 236,511 English square miles, with a total population, according to computation, of 36,795,000 souls. This population is divided with respect to race and language, into no fewer than twelve different nationalities, namely:
Germans, 8,200,000 Serbians, 1,470,000
Bohemians, 2,500,000 Bulgarians, 250,000
Moravians, 3,000,000 Magyars, 5,050,000
Slovaks, 1,000,000 Italians, 5,050,000
Poles, 2,200,000 Eastern R., 2,700,000
Russians, 2,800,000 mms., 2,700,000
Slavonians, 1,210,000 Members of
C. o. o., 1,300,000 other races, 1,430,000
Austria is one of the great military powers of Europe, her army on the war footing being over half a million of men. The navy, however, is comparatively small, consisting, in August, 1864, of 39 steamers with 63 guns, and 11,730 horse-power, and 20 sailing vessels with 145 guns. Great efforts have been made within the last few years to raise the Imperial navy to a state of high efficiency by the substitution of steam for sailing vessels, and the gradual formation of an iron-clad fleet of war. Austria has become a constitutional monarchy since 1849, the main features of the constitution consisting, first, of the Provincial Diets, representing the various States of the monarchy; secondly, a Central Diet, or Council of the Empire; and thirdly, a reduced form of the latter, or Partial Council of the Empire, as it is called. The public debt of the Empire, which at the commencement of the French revolution in 1789 was $174,500,000, had grown in 1863 to $1,210,222,985. From 1789 to the present time there has not been a single year in which the revenue of the State has come up to the expenditure. The present Emperor, Francis Joseph I., was born August, 1830, and was proclaimed Emperor and King in consequence of the abdication of his uncle, Ferdinand I., and the renunciation of his father, Francis Charles, December 2, 1848. He was Commander-in-Chief of the Austrian army in the Italian campaign of 1859.

III.—ITALY.
The Kingdom of Italy has an area of 98,784 English square miles, with a population, according to the last census, taken in the Spring of 1864, of 21,703,710 souls, being on an average 220 inhabitants to the square mile; a figure higher than that of France and Germany, but lower than that of England. There has been in some of the Provinces a rapid increase of population of late years; but the increase of wealth has been much more rapid within the last century than the increase of population. The great mass of the people are devoted to agricultural pursuits, and the town population is comparatively small. It has a sea-faring population of 158,692 individuals, nearly all of whom are able to the maritime profession. The military organization of the Kingdom is based on conscription, and the standing army consists of more than 200,000 men on a peace footing, and more than 400,000 on a war establishment. The navy of the Kingdom consisted in 1865 of 98 steamers of 20,700 horse-power, with 2,160 guns, and 17 sailing vessels with 279 guns. Italy has a public debt of nearly eight hundred millions of dollars. The expenditure is largely in excess of the annual revenue. The reigning Sovereign, Victor Emanuel II., was born March 14, 1820, and is the eldest son of King Charles Albert of Sardinia, and Archduchess Theresa of Austria. He succeeded to the throne on the abdication of his father, March 23, 1849, and was proclaimed King of Italy by vote of the Italian Parliament, March 17, 1861.

THE GERMAN CONFEDERATION.

The German Confederation was organized, in 1815, upon the ruins of the German Empire which had been dissolved in 1806. The object of the Confederacy, according to the first article of the Federal Constitution, is "the preservation of the internal and external security of Germany, and the independence and inviolability of the various German States." The organ and representative of the Confederation is the Federal Diet, consisting of Plenipotentiaries of the several German States, and permanently located in the free city of Frankfurt. The administrative Government of the Federal Diet is constituted in two forms: 1st, As a General Assembly or Plenum, in which every member of the Confederation has at least one vote, and the larger States have two, three or four votes each; and second, the Minor Council, or Committee of Confederation, in which the eleven largest States cast one vote each, while six votes are given to the smaller States, a number of them combined having a joint vote. The presidency is permanently vested in Austria. The General Assembly decides on war and peace, on the admission of new members, or any changes in the fundamental laws or organic institutions; but in all other cases the Minor Council is competent to act both as legislative and executive.

At the time of its establishment the Confederacy embraced 39 members, but of these four (Saxe-Gotha, Anhalt-Bernburg, Anhalt-Koethen and Hesse-Homburg, have become extinct), and two (Hohenzollern-Hechingen and Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen) have been incorporated with Prussia, leaving, at present, 33 sovereign States. They have together an area of 242,867 square miles, and, in 1864, a population of over 46,000,000 people, exceeding the aggregate population of British America, the United States, Mexico and Central America, and being in Europe inferior to that of no country except Russia. The federal army numbers about 700,000. Austria and Prussia belong, with only a part of their several dominions, to this Confederation; Austria with a population of 12,002,044, Prussia with a population of 14,714,024. Prussia, therefore, and not Austria, is in point of population the first German State, and this priority is still more prominent if we take into account the provinces of both powers not belonging to this Confederation. Dedicating the population of the two great German powers, a population is left for the other States of about 19,000,000, with a Federal Army of about 300,000. As the record of the votes of the Federal Diet during the last years, shows the great majority of the minor States side with or at least lean toward Austria, and it is still commonly believed, that soon after an outbreak of war between Austria and Prussia, the Diet will declare a Federal war against Prussia. All parties in Germany, Austria, Prussia, the Minor Governments, and all the political parties among the people, are in favor of establishing a Central National Parliament, as a step toward the ultimate establishment of one German Empire. This point is therefore likely to be one of the results of the impending war.

RULES FOR THE CHOLERA SEASON.
Somebody gives the following rules to be observed during the cholera season. If the individual who follows the directions don't have the cholera, he will be deprived of what rightfully belongs to him:
Drink all the poor whiskey you can.
Eat something as often as possible during the day, and take a hearty supper late at night, just before retiring.
Guzzle lager beer every Sunday at the beer gardens.
Keep well supplied with green apples and other unripe fruit to eat between your meals.
Take a drink occasionally.
Don't be afraid of vegetables—"harness" them on every possible occasion. Meats won't hurt you if you only eat enough of them.
Above all, drink.
Avoid bathing altogether.
Don't miss an opportunity to get mad, it gives a healthy tone to the brain. Get up cross in the morning and keep it up. In order to do so you must drink a great deal over night.
Pay no attention to the condition of your back yards and alleys.
Drink as often as anybody asks you.
Treat as long as you have any money.
A dozen or two glasses of soda during the day, and a quart or so of ice cream on a hot afternoon, will be found advantageous.
Drink.
Take another.
Swill down brandy and Blue Ruin in the morning to give tone to your stomach.
Above all, don't fail to drink.
The reason why people know not their duty on great occasions, is that they will not take the trouble of doing their duty on the little occasions.
The intelligence and education of a people are the passports of a country to eminence and prosperity.
As one single drop of black ink will tinge and pollute a vessel of crystal water, so one little act of faithlessness may irredeemably poison a whole lifetime of the purest friendship and confidence.
A learned young lady, the other evening, astonished the company by asking for the loan of a diminutive argenteous truncated cone, convex on its summit, and semi-perforated with symmetrical indentations. (She wanted a thimble.)

THEORETICAL BOOK-KEEPING Upon a new plan, with an original exposition of the science of accounts, arranged and published by the Proprietor of this Institution exclusively for his use, saving one-half the ordinary labor of the student, and giving him a complete knowledge of the principles of the best accounts.

THE COMMERCIAL COURSE embraces Book-keeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Law, Lectures on Business Affairs, Commercial Customs, Forms, and Actual Business Practice.

SPECIAL BRANCHES. Algebra and the Higher Mathematics, Photography, Ornamental Penmanship, the Art of Lettering, Counting Money, Engineering, Surveying, Navigation and Telegraphy.

TELEGRAPHY. The arrangements for Telegraphing are far in advance of anything of the kind ever offered to the public. A regular Telegraph Line is connected with this Institution with twenty branches in the various parts of the city, where public business is transacted, and in which students of this Institution are permitted to practice. No regular office practice can be had in any other school of instruction in the country, without which no one can obtain a position as a practical operator. Young men are equipped against the destructive representations of those who, without any facilities, pretend to teach Telegraphing.

PATRONAGE. This Institution is now enjoying the largest patronage ever bestowed upon any college in the State. Over five hundred students were in attendance the first year, and over seven hundred during the next year. The best class of students, may invariably be found here, and all its associations are first class.

LOCATION AND ACCOMMODATIONS. The Institution is located in the central part of the city, and its accommodations, for comfort, elegance and convenience, are unsurpassed. All the rooms have been fitted up in the very best style with Business Offices or Counting Rooms, Telegraph Offices, Stationery Store, and a regular BANK OF DEPOSIT AND ISSUE supplied with finely-engraved lithographic notes used as a circulating medium in the Department of Actual Business.

TO YOUNG MEN who desire the very best facilities for a Practical Education for Business, we guarantee a course of instruction no where else to be equalled, while the reputation and standing of the Institution among business men make its endorsement the best passport to success and advancement. All communications relative to any Commercial College, are invited to send for an
