BY MISS FLORENCE SEITTLES, On receiving a piece of Waldin Kake and Kai from the Stait of Georgy.

Last week I did receive a hunk Nigh ten pounds weighin, Of weddin kake all in a chunk, From a feller in Georgy stayin.

This temptin morsel soon I bruised. And while I chawed, I sot and mewsed

I mewsed on Hymen's favors scant, And on his smiles so fittin—
How some folks kin, and others can't,
And how skerce men is gitten. (1 mean such men as ean be noosed,) And while I chawed, I sot and mewse

I mewsed how many a young girl smiled,
And old maid grumed in fury,
While nice young men is roamin wild,
Like green mules on the prarie,
Whilet no soft hand their tresses clawed? And as I mewsed, I sot and chawed.

mewsed how many a rose doth fall, And how many a violet pine on, Kaws cruel fate denied 'em all A Shirt boosen's for to twine on. And off the cheek the dammusk knawed, And while I mewsed, I sot and chawed years it is destined to possess.

I mewsed how different things is here, To what they is up yonder,
Where each pure mormon doth appear
Of fifty geese the gander
Sarkastically a sigh I drawed,
And as I mewsed, I sot and chawed.

mewsed how much konnubial bliss, Poth bless the plainest vittles; that I saw the parson kiss She wot was once F. Skittles. Good grashus, how I haw, haw, hawed! And as I laffed, I sot and chawed.
