

A man assaulted Gov. Fairchild, of Wisconsin, in his own garden a few days ago. He struck him with brass knuckles. The Governor exhibited pocket artillery, when the assassin withdrew.

Judge Bowie, of Maryland, has decided that negroes have a right to testify before Courts, in that State, and the old State law forbidding it, being in conflict with the later U. S. law, is null and void.

In Richmond a white man and a negro were guilty of the same crime—grand larceny. The white was sentenced to the State prison for two years; the negro, for life. That's Johnsonian justice.

Jesup, the Sheffield cutlery manufacturer, is now in the U. S. His wealth is reported at $20,000,000. Comfortable.

Gen. Grant was invited to visit 96 places on the 4th, and was "confidently expected" at 45 of them.

The Greensburg Herald, published at the home of Senator Cowan, repudiates "his Accidency." Cowan & Co. The editor says that he will stand by the organization that served the Union. This many attitude of the Herald leaves Cowan without a home paper. He is now made totally dependent on Copperhead defense.

The Bridge on this side of the Island was completed on Saturday. It is a splendid piece of work and does credit to the skill of Mr. Kline and his workmen. It looks light, but is stiff and strong. A loaded team passing over causes no perceptible vibration. We feel safe in saying that there is not a better bridge on the river.—Jersey Shore Vilette.

Seven hundred and sixty-nine bills have been reported and one hundred and eighty-six joint resolutions during the present session of Congress, a number greatly in excess of that acted on by any preceding session.

The city of Hartford, Conn., has produced no less than $21,000 volumes relating to the civil war, whose aggregate value is about $2,500,000, turned out more firearms than any other city, and built $1,500,000 worth of steam engines during the war.

RE-NOMINATED.—The Union Congressional Convention for the 9th District of Indiana, met on the 9th inst., and renominated Hon. Schuyler Colfax for Congress, by acclamation. From 1500 to 2000 persons assembled on the occasion, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. This is the eighth time this true patriot and gifted statesman has been nominated by the Union electors of that district to represent them in the Congress of the United States.

The committee on elections in the lower House of Congress, have reported on the case of Gen. Koontz, Republican, and Coffroth, Copperhead from the 21st district of this State, in favor of Gen. Koontz, and there is no doubt that the House will admit Gen. Koontz to his seat. Coffroth has held the seat from the commencement of the session. This will add another to the Union Majority in the delegation from this State.

The copperhead members of Congress have endorsed the call for the copper Johnson Convention to be held in Philadelphia, on the 14th of August. It is significant that while the Republicans who go into that convention drop their allegiance to their former party, the sly Democrats loudly proclaim their fidelity to party and tenaciously hold on to their party name.

Last week Gen. Grant issued an order, directing officers in command in the South to arrest all persons guilty of crimes against officers, agents, citizens, and inhabitants of the United States irrespective of color. The people of the country appreciate this action of Gen. Grant, leading as it will, to the protection of those who have been faithful to the Union.

Brick Pomeroy, of the La Crosse Democrat, says "not a dog in the land but is better than an abolitionist, or a Lincoln hireling, who was only brave when mobbing the defenseless—or Lincoln thief, who went to war in order to steal from private houses." What do soldiers think of a party (of which Pomeroy is a conspicuous leader) that esteem them not so good as the meanest cur?

The present platforms of the two parties are given in a nut-shell as follows: Union Platform—Loyal men shall control the Government. Democratic Platform—Restore rebels to power and give them control of our National affairs.

HONORS TO GEN. GEARY.—The Philadelphia Inquirer, a "Conservative" paper, in noticing the incidents of the Great Parade in Philadelphia on the 4th of July says: Gen. Geary along the entire route of the procession was greeted by the vast assemblage with loud and continued cheers, the ladies waving their handkerchiefs with a will, and as though they would delight to participate in the huzzas and other manifestations of joy at his presence.

During the procession the little orphan daughter of Captain Thomas H. Elliott, Assistant Adjutant General to Gen. Geary who was killed at the battle of Peach Tree Creek, presented the General with a very handsome bouquet, with a card attached, on which was inscribed, "From my father's grave. Kate Elliott, To General John W. Geary." The throngs on the sidewalks immediately gave three glorious cheers as the gallant hero received it from the hands of the orphan donor.

In 1891, when the Confederate usurpation was first established at Montgomery, Alabama, George N. Sanders telegraphed to the North that the only way to prevent war was for the Northern Democrats to force their States to secede after some fashion, and then join the Davis government. Obstacles of insurmountable magnitude having intervened, this original plan has been considerably modified; but the August Convention is designed to serve the similar purpose of elevating treason and punishing loyalty.

The first Rebel invasion of Pennsylvania was made in 1863 by General Lee, the second in 1864 by the band that destroyed Chambersburg, and the third is to come off on the 14th of August, when the rebel leaders are to assemble in Philadelphia for consultation with the men who were their Northern allies during the war and such new recruits as may be tempted by the bounty offered by the Bread and Butter Brigade.

A Copperhead paper quotes approvingly a saying of Seneca that the Romans owed their greatness to the policy of making citizens of the people of conquered countries as soon as their victories were achieved, yet the copperheads are so far from subscribing to this doctrine that they bitterly oppose every attempt to confer the simplest and most indispensable rights of citizenship upon our Southern allies in the late conflict.

The War Department has ordered, at the instance of the President of the United States, that all persons who are undergoing sentence by military courts, and have been imprisoned six months, except those who are under sentence for the crime of murder, arson, or rape, and excepting those who are under sentence at the Tortugas, be discharged from imprisonment, and the residue of their sentence remitted. Those who belong to the military service and their terms unexpired, will be returned to their commands, if it is still in service, and their release is conditional upon their giving their full time and being of good behavior.

Henry A. Wise, the irrepressible, best known by the part he performed in the John Brown raid, has been making a speech in Norfolk, in aid of the churches of the South. The address was like Falstaff's bill—very little church and much rebel talk. He spoke against the test oath, which kept so many men out of Congress, calling it unconstitutional, and haranguing against any measures calculated to compel a proof of loyalty. An attempt to picture Jeff. Davis as a martyr, bearing his sufferings with Christian fortitude, was thrown in as a connecting link between church matters and politics. The ex-Governor had his say and was satisfied.

The brave General Gantt, of Arkansas, now in Washington, well known for his early and heroic opposition to the rebellion, freely declares that the President's course has endangered the whole future of the Southern country, and that no decided Union Man's life is safe even in Arkansas.

From the eastern shore of Virginia many negroes went to swell the ranks of the Union armies, and fought bravely.—After the conclusion of the war they returned to their homes, bringing with them the arms which they had used with such good effect against the rebels. The white people suddenly became filled with an idea that the negroes intended to make an improper use of their arms, which, under the law of Virginia they are not allowed to possess, and immediately fabricated a cock-and-bull story of an attempted insurrection among the blacks. They called on the freedmen's bureau for assistance, and a few men were sent over from Fortress Monroe to look after the matter. It is universally regarded as an exaggeration.

As soon as it was known throughout the South that the armed force of rebellion had been broken, that General Lee had surrendered the armies of the confederacy, and that the Federal power had been victorious as soon as all this was known to traitors, large bodies of them at once commenced to make preparations for leaving the country. Why did these men thus promptly prepare to go abroad? Why did they not wait for the action of the Government, before they organized colonies for settlement in Mexico? The answer is easily given. No man better than those who were traitors understood the penalties of treason. They knew they had been engaged in a stupendous conspiracy—in an unprovoked assault on the Government. They were self-accused and self-condemned traitors, flying from the confessed penalties of their crimes. If this was not so, why did they run away? We leave this question for the consideration of our Copperhead friends. While the Government was in the hands of just men, the rebels were unwilling to trust themselves to its justice. While Mr. Lincoln lived no traitor of prominence was willing to trust himself in this country. But as soon as Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, all the traitors who had left the country, fearing justice, returned, knowing that they would escape punishment. THIS IS POPULAR CONFIDENCE IN ANDREW JOHNSON. It is one of the sublime realizations of the effects of my policy.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

PAPER COLLARS.—Several instances of the poisonous effects of Paper collars are recorded of late. Children have been poisoned by chewing them, and men have been poisoned by wearing them. The enamel is said to be composed of poisonous substances, injuriously affecting whatever part they may come in contact with under circumstances favoring the communication of the poison.
