WOMEN OF THE WAR.

[From the Hartford Daily Times.]

Here is a book unlike any of its predecessors in the war literature which has proved so popular. It possesses a fresh and peculiar interest all its own; the portraiture of the noble women whose devotion to the alleviation of human suffering, and to the glory of their country's flag, impelled them to abandon the pleasant home sphere which it was their privilege and office to adorn, and go forth with our gallant armies to the field of strife and blood, there to illustrate the loftiest and most truly heroic traits of human nature. In the affecting scenes of their hospital experience, where as ministers of mercy they were enabled to cheer and comfort the suffering, and to sooth the last hours of the dying it was the fortune of some of the women to exhibit a heroism as true and lofty as any that had ever been displayed on the field of battle. Nor is the narrative before us confined to scenes of this character; for there are given in this book accounts of deeds of bravery and glory by women in actual battle which may well put to shame many of the boasted exploits of our soldiers.

The history of the late war is rich in this material of woman-heroism. No other war in any age or land, ever developed such realities as this book treats of. Joan of Arc in battle, and Florence Nightingale at the cot of the wounded and suffering soldier, have been many times reproduced in the vast tragedy which for four years was enacted in our Southern States.—Where a Crimean war has produced one Florence Nightingale for the world to wonder at and admire, this war produced scores of noble women heroes, as self-sacrificing as the heroine of Scutari.

These accounts are all authentic. Mr. Moore has been at the expense of much time, travel, and money, to obtain true and reliable statements; and of such only are to be found in this volume. Every character here is a splendid one. Many heroic deeds of equal interest, and possibly in some cases more romance, might have been recorded of women who went with the army as scouts or spies; but nothing has been admitted here relating to any woman whose character was not known to have been pure and above suspicion

We have been tempted, in looking over the proof sheets, to mark for our columns a number of things in the army life of such noble women, here treated of, as Miss Margaret E. Breckenridge, Mrs. Gen. Rickets, Miss. Carrie Sheads. Mrs. Booth at Fort Pillow, and many others; but want of space forbids.

The "Women of the War" is a book of nearly 600 octavo pages. It will be published about the end of August by S. S. Scranton & Co., 126 Asylum street, Hartford Conn., and will be sold by subscription only. Mr. Scranton we believe, has held a responsible business position in the American Publishing Company.

We have not much space remaining; but it must in justice be added, that this volume is no catchpenny affair, but a book of real merit, and published literally "without regard to expense." The steel portraits are in the very highest and costliest style of the art; and so many of them must have involved a very heavy outlay. Some of these portraits of the women heroes are "beautiful exceedingly:" and the matter of the book, no less than its elegant style of publication must insure a wide sale

☞Agents wanted in every township and county of the country, as this book will be sold only by subscription.

GOOD NEWS TO SOLDIERS!! AND THEIR HEIRS!!!

PENSIONS.

ALL who have any interest in war claims, will find it to their advantage to read the following Acts of Congress which have recently become law:

SEC. 1st of an act of June 6 1865, provides for all soldiers or sailors who have lost the sight of both eyes, or both hands, so as to require constant attendance, the sum of $25.

SEC. 2. To those who have lost both feet, or are totally disabled in the same so as to require constant attendance, the sum of $ 0.

SEC. 3. Those who have lost one hand or one foot, or are so disabled as to render them unable to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or a foot, the sum of $15

SEC. 4. Persons who have been deprived of their pensions under Act of March 3, 1865, in consequence of being in the civil service of the United States Government are restored.

SEC. 5. Pensions are extended to dependent fathers and brothers, as well as to mothers and sisters.

In addition to the above act, to such persons as are embraced by it, Congress, before its close July 25, 1866, passed a bill increasing the pension to widows and orphans, and extending the benefits of the pension laws to the heirs and representatives of certain invalid applicants, to wit:

SEC. 2 of the act of July 25, 1856, provides for pensions to widows of deceased soldiers or sailors having children by such soldiers or sailors, at the rate of two dollars per month for each child of soldier or sailor under the age of sixteen years. To derive benefit from this act it is necessary to make new application, surrendering the old certificate.

SEC. 3 gives an increase of pensions to those widows now receiving a pension of less than eight dollars per month, except Revolutionary widows.

Applications for Pensions must be made before the Prothonotary.

BOUNTIES.

THE BILL TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES HAS BECOME A LAW. The following is an analysis of its provisions:

1. $100 to three years' men who served their time.

2. $100 to three years' men discharged by reason of wounds received in service.

3. $100 to the widow, minor children, or parents, in the order named, of any such soldier who died of wounds or disease contracted in service.

4. $50 to each soldier not included in the foregoing classes who enlisted for two years or more, and discharged after serving two years.

5. $50 to every soldier enlisted for two years, and discharged by reason of wounds received in the line of duty.

6. $50 to the widow, &c., as above, of every soldier enlisted for less than two years, who died in service, or of wounds or disease contracted in the army.

No additional bounty is allowed to three years' men who have received, or have heretofore been entitled to receive, more than $100 national bounty, and none to two years' men who have received or are entitled to more than $50. The law only applies to honorably discharged soldiers of the late war, and to none who have sold or transferred their discharges or rights to bounty.

The undersigned will attend promptly to the collection of all such claims, at reasonable rates. Where parties reside at a distance, the business may be done by letter. Address,

The Normal.

We are in receipt of a new educational journal called "The Normal," published at Edinboro, Erie county, Pa., by J. A. Cooper. It is conducted in an able manner, and the typographical appearance is all that could be desired. Teachers in all parts of the country will find this work admirably adapted to their profession and no one can peruse its pages without being sensibly benefitted by so doing. The editor says it is "proposed to publish a magizine for the young teachers, and for the great army [50,000] of teachers in the Keystone, Empire and Buckeye states who do not now read or see an educational journal; to make The Normal useful to them by informing them what they ought to do in the school room, how it should be done and where to find assistance in doing it; to inform them how to spend their time out of school to awaken in the minds of the reader a desire for improvement; to encourage those who labor under difficulties, and to excite in the public an interest in the cause of education."

INSURANCE.

The Ætna's Loss by the Portland Fire!

The total amount covered by Ætna Policies on property destroyed or damaged is $206,854 on which salvage will be about 5 per cent. Our total loss will not vary much from $200,000, and is being promptly adjusted and paid. This sum is 5 per cent. upon the assets, a figure but slightly exceeding the Government and State taxes paid last year, or a proportion equal to a $5000 loss for a company of $100,000 assets.

The necessity for insurance and the value of wealthy, strong corporations, is forcibly illustrated by this fire. Several weak insurance Companies are destroyed. Portland has a population of 35,000;—was handsomely built, mostly fine brick or stone structures—protected and screened with upwards of 3000 shade trees—bounded on three sides by water—indeed, literally, almost rising from the ocean—and with a good steam fire department—yet it has $10,000,000 of property consumed in a few hours—upon a holiday when its people are least occupied—from the very insignicant cause of a contemptible fire cracker.

Remember the trifling origin of fires that sweep away in a few hours the earnings of years Consider your best interests and give the Ætna agent a call if you need proper Insurance security. Policies issued at fair terms.
