Railroad Celebration in Wellsboro! A BIG CROWD to BE PROVIDED FOR.

The people of Wellsboro have determined to celebrate the opening of the Railroad and the advent of the Iron Horse in our village. The new iron bridges are nearly finished; in a few days the track will be laid to the depot, which will be completed in good time, and by the middle of the month everything will be in good working order, the cars will be running regularly into our village, and Wellsboro will be in full steam connection with all the rest of the busy world. Wells-boro fully appreciates the significance of that fact in her history, and is disposed to make the day emphatic as a genuine holliday—a day to be given up to joilty and good theoral a day of thorough enjoyment and hearty congratulation over the good work done and of pleasant anticipation of the future prosperity and growth that work insures. The day upon which the celebration will take place is not yet known, but as soon as the date is settled public announcement will be made by handbills and through the press.
Whenever it takes place thore will be a general good time, with good speaking, good celebration interesting and entertaining. The general committee met last Friday and appointed the following sub-committees and officers: Marshal of the Day, Col. A.E. Niles, Assistant Marshals, Lieut. Cols. R. O. Bailey and W. A. Stone. Stranger Committee on Decorations, N. T. Chandler, E. H. Robinson and A. Foley.

which received a pretty severe scorching. This was a narrow escape not only for the hotel, but for the whole business street of Wellsboro. Being a large three story wood building, connected directly with the long row of old frame stores, its burning would almost inevitably insure the destruction of that whole side of Main street as far east at least as Crafton street, even in the stillest weather. - The only wonder is that all that region of tinder boxes has not been burned out long ago, and we advise every tenant there to keep reasonably insured in some good company, and be prepared to move at a minute's notice.

COVINGTON ITEMS.—Dean Agitator; I us been so long since you have mentione our little town, that I am almost afraid you have forgotten that there is such a place in existence. But Covington does exist, although it has not got along quite as far on the road of improvement as some of its neighboring villages.

Now that spring has fairly opened, our furmers have commenced their farming oprations in dead carnest, and although the ast winter has been a severe one upon winer grains yet the crops in this locality are ooking a great deal, better than they were ·Some evilly disposed persons, on the after: moon of last Friday, built a fire upon Victor

Gray's land situated near the river, and before its progress could be arrested it did considerable damage to the fences. W. J. Evans has sold his farm to Wm. Richards, and has purchased Geo. Cleveland's house and lot situated in the village. Price Brothers have opened a boot and shoe shop in the depot building. John Walker has opened a harness shop over O. F. Price's shoe shop. S. D. Forrest has established a paint shop in the building formerly used as a dwelling by what is known here as the "Happy Family." · Housekeepers sometimes get into trouble by being out of soda, and now the Covington glass company have been compelled to suspend operations for the same reason. Operntions will not be resumed for some time. The good Templar's lodge in this place is doing a noble work; new accessions are received at nearly every meeting. Ed. Cooley's house caught fire Sunday morning and burned down before anything worthy of mention could be saved. SAM. Covington, April 29th, 1872.
