The men who are after anybody to beat Grant are having a terrible time. A good many of the shrewder Democrats don't believe that Greeley is exactly the man to undertake that little job; but they can't see how they are to get rid of him at this stage of the game, and so some of them are already contemplating a bolt from the Baltimore nominations. A call has been issued by certain New Yorkers of the Democratic stripe requesting the attendance at Baltimore of all opposed to Horace the day before the coming convention. And at the same time a circular has appeared at Cinciunati addressed to Democrats and "Liberals" who oppose Greeley, being substantially a call for a bolting Democratic Convention in case he is nominated, It won't do, gentlemen! OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. WASHINGTON, June 25, 1872.

DISHONORABLE ATTACKS. Following on the forbidden ground so re ently trodden by Senator Sumner, who, wild with wounded pride and humbled dignity, brought the pretended death-bed murmurings of Stanton, the War Minister, against the great war chief who saved the nation and won its deathless praise, we now have another evidence of the pitiful weakness of our opponents. Judge Mason, of Iowa, has gone down into the mouldy tomb of ex-Senator Grimes, and there found another sample of Joe Smith's tablets of brass to regulate the conduct of the world's people-in politics. This time it is not claimed that the immortal spirit of Grimes has spoken since it left the fleshly form, but that, when sadly depressed in body and mind and confessedly "blasted" in both he had given up public life irrevocably, he wrote to this Democratic Judge, and confessed that he, in common with the Republican party, had been exceedingly naughty. This utilizing of dead humanity has generally been monopolized by hyenas and cannibals, but Charles Sumner and Judge Ma son, in their desperate anxiety to injure their opponents, seem willing; to vie with both in minking second-hand hash out of their departed friends. The gravest part of this offending is the reckless manner in which ex-Senator Grimes's friend, in digging up his buried private sentiments, has exposed his reputation by publishing admissions to the effect that exactly what he had been engaged in all his Senatorial life, and nothing else but that, was "reeking corruption," for which the Republican party is responsible, and out of which, in one way or anoted among the solid men of that city. The Democratic support is not hearty, and most of the leading Democrats are ashamed to acknowledge the position their party holds toward the Cincinnati nominees. What Honest Men Should Do. The Nation is one of the papers which supported the so-called Liberal Republican movement at Cincinnati, but it could not stand the nomination of Greeley, and has not hesitated to express its opinions pretty plainly. The following remarks are from a

His great, and indeed only reliance, is the Democrats of the North and South, but especially of the South, and he therefore presents himself to the Republican party as simply the visible sign of a renewed attempt on the part of the old Copperheads and Rebels to get possession of the Government.

"What are honest men to do now? Well, if there is nothing else offered, if the Democratic Convention commits the absurdity of raising 'the old white bat' as its standard at Baltimore, the only thing for Republicans of our way of thinking to do is to choose the less of two evils, and vote for Gen. Grant. We expect no improvement in the Administration from him; we do not look at his hands for the removal of any of the existing abuses; we know of no answer to any of the weighty and reasonable objections made to his Administration; but we do know, as near as may be, what he will do; we know at least the worst he will do. The probabilities are that, the temptations connected with renomination over, he will on many points change for the better. Moreover and this is the most important point of all —if he is re-elected, there will be no genera redistribution of offices and no financial disturbance. What Greeley will do, and what the motley crew whom he would lead to Washington would do, nobody knows." Retrospect and Prospect.

The conference of Free Traders, called to meet at the Fifth Avenue Hofel, assembled and talked till midnight, and went out in and talked till midnight, and went out in darkness; the advantage, on the whole, being clearly with Greeley. Indeed, it looks to us simple folks who know little of the machinery of politics, first the conference had come together—like the famous German dwarfs of the fair story—to hump their backs to form a bridge upon which their countryman, good Carl Schurz, could walk over to Mr. Greeley He is safely over!—Not so his companions in grief, the Freetraders-on-principle. They did not step quick enough. But being left desolate, they held an after-meeting, and determined to held an after-meeting, and determined to leave Grant and Greeley to fight out their differences, while a new party, with Groesbeck, of Cincinnati, and Olmstead, of New York, should march straight upon Washington and take possession of the Government! Now, then, people can take their choice of the three G.'s—Grant, Greeley, Groesbeck; the brave soldier, the skillful editor, the acute lawyer; the old Republican, the new Republican-Democrat, the old Democrat. As for ourselves, we stand by our colors-Grant and Wilson, and the old Republican party, which has been bred and proved in stormy days, when the whole nation leaned upon it and found it a sure support. It went through the fire and the flood to save our country. We do not believe that the common people of America are ready to throw away an old servant, and put in its place a party whose whole strength lies in the adhesion to it of the very men whom the Republican party has fought before, at Shiloh, at Vicksburg, at Gettysburg, around Richmond. They tried to take Washington several times before. They could not do it by bullets, and we do not intend they shall by ballots.
