USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE. Cracked Heels.

(J. K. A., Carthage, Ilt.)—I have a mare in training that is continually troubled with cracked heels, otherwise in good health.—I het her rest a few days and they heal up apparently all right, but the first time she is speeded afterwards they crack open and become as bad as ever, notwithstanding the most unremitting care to keep her heels clean and dry after washing and driving.—What is the proper treatment? I would be a few and dry after washing and driving.—Yhat is the proper treatment? but nevertheless the immediate causes, the various, may be summed up, under the general heads of neglect and mismanagement.

Any very sudden change from heat to cold; Any very sudden change from hear to cold, or from cold to heat, is very likely to derauge the secretions of the skin. Hence washing the legs, especially with hot water, is very apt to induce cracked heels.—The use of caustles and active astringents frequently do irreparable mischief. "Gummy-legged" horses—i. e. those whose legs and legged to fill—are prelisposed to are disposed to fill—are predisposed to cracked heels. Though this affection is usually associated with neglect or misman agement, we occasionally find it in animals receiving the best of care. Horses well groomed and regularly exercised sometimes suffer from cracked heels. The process of sweating induces the affection. The sweat truns down into the hollow of the heels, and the evaporation of the perspiration, strong ly impregnated as it is with the salts of the in impregnated as it is with the saits of the blood, may possibly lead to disease. In regard to treatment—first, the cause, if it can be discovered, must be removed. The heels should be washed every night in warm water or carefully enveloped in thannel bandages. Soap, though commonly used in conjugation with the rester is interest. nection with the water, is injurious, because nection with the water, is injurious, because the alkali contained in it spoils the material thrown out for the reparative process. Gintments of various kinds are used. The following, if properly prepared, is the most perfect local application for inveterate cracked heels that is known: Take of oxide of zinc, one drachin; lard, one ounce; pendered gun herzoing, ten, grains, conide of zinc, one drachtn; lard, one ounce; powdered gum benzoine, ten grains; cumphorated spirits, one drachm—mix thoroughly. The mode of application is that terror attention. It should be gently rubbed upon the crack with the finger, so us to distribute it in a moderately thick layer over the affected part, and to insinuate it as much continued in most in the crusts that may be as possible under the crusts that may be formed in the disease. Once properly ap-plied, it will prevent further crust from colecting, while it serves the several purposes of a new cuticle to the abraded skin, a water dressing, and a barrier to the oxidising action always present in inflamation. The heels must not be washed after the application of the ointment; they may be wiped with a soft napkin as much as may seem necessary, but when the ointment is once

GROWING CHESTNUTS.—We have on repeated occasions suggested the growing of chestnuts upon soils where but little else will grow, as a means of profit, both in the fruit and wood. The chestnut is rapid in its growth, and will in from eight to ten years begin to bear a crop of nuts from the seed. This seed, however, should be planted as soon as the fruit is ripe and before it becomes dry. Chestnut will thrive almost anywhere, and would be especially valuable where timber is scarce and rough land abounds to appropriate to the purpose. A good selection of the American chestnut is the best. Our nuts are much superior in quality to the Spanish, French, or Italian, though not nearly so large, and even grafts can be set with the ease and certainty of the pear. There is always a market demand for the nuts greater than the supply, or any supply likely to be furnished.

The question is one of real interest in every section where scrub-land is abundant and timber scarce; or wherever there is such land, as a means of profit with reference on-

He has been experiton of leaves will tan as much leather as five cords of hemlock bark, and will do the work, in one-half the time. By mixing the leaves and bark in equal proportions, one fourth of the time is saved. Weaning Lambs—The Canada Farmer gives the following suggestions in regard to weaning lambs: "When separated from field the ewes, lambs should be placed in a field has distant as possible from them, so as to be out of reach of their bleating, and they will become contented and thriving, The pasture to which the lambs are put ought to be somewhat better than that to which they have been accustomed, yet not too luxuriant; and if the ewes and lambs can be turned in-to it together for a week, and then taken away, the lambs will not then fret so much as would be the case were they removed to a field that is strange to them."

How to get Sleep.—How to get sleep is to many persons a matter of high impor-tance. Nervous persons, who are troubled with wakefulness and excitability, usually have a strong tendency of blood to the brain, vith cold extremeties. The pressure of the thood on the brain keeps it in a stimulated or wakeful state, and the pulsations in the he id are often painful. Let such arise and chafe the body, and extremities with a crash towel, or rub smartly with the hands to promote circulation, and withdraw the excessive amount of blood from the brain, and they will fall asleep in a few minutes. A sponge bath and rubbing, or a cold bath, or a good run, or a rapid walk in the open air, or going up and down stairs a few times just before retiring, will aid in equalizing circulation and promote sleep. These rules are simple, and easy of application in castle or cabin, and may minister to the comfort of thousands who would freely expend whom you for an anodyne to promote the transfer. money for an anodyne to promote "nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep."

To Stop Bleefing. —It is said that bleeding from a wound on man or beast may be stopped by a mixture of wheat flour and common salt, in equal parts, bound on with a cloth. If the bleeding is profuse use a large quantity, say from one to three pints:
It may be left on for hours, or even days, if necessary. The person who gave us this recipe says in this manner he saved the life of a horse which was bleeeding from a wounded artery; the bleeding ceased in five miautes after the application. It has been successfully applied in other cases. EXTINGUISHING KEROSENE LAMPS,-EXplosions of kerosene lamps are frequently produced in the attempt to extinguish them by blowing down the chimney. This is a very dangerous practice, and should always be avoided. The desired result will be acbe avoided. The desired result will be accomplished much more certainly and safely by giving a sharp and rather prolonged puil exactly at right angles to the top of the chimney. The draft thus created draws the tiame away from the wick, when the carbonic acid immediately below the departing the real both of the companies also extinguishes the real both of the real companies. flame also extinguishes the red-hot, charred

One sentence in Mr. Sumner's letter will be likely some day to come home to roost: "No man or party can expect power except for the general welfare."

Many of our country papers hope to hold out until after election by furnishing themselves with "patent insides." That's just the thing for Gratz Brown!

with a soft napkin as much as may seem necessary, but when the ointment is once applied it should not be removed by washing without good reason for it.—Wilker the other side of the ciphers. CARRIAGE TRIMMINGS,

Mr. Buckalew has been in office over twenty years, and has drawn over, $70,000 of the public money, in the way of salaries, to say nothing of incidentals and pickings: The Herald says: "Jeff. Davis flying in female attire was not half so grotesque and cowardly as Democracy skulking into the old white hat and coat of Horace Greeley."
Senator Sumner advises his wards to recognize the bail bond given at Baltimore. They will be likely to do that, rending it side by side with the ball bond given at U. C. MATH

- Mr. Sumner's reference to "his excellent friend Chase" is quite suggestive, as it calls to mind a wreck which should serve as a warning to those who desire to stand well in history.

Congressman Golladay, of Tennessee, has declared that he is for Greeley because he signed Jeff. Davis' bail bond and was in favor of paying the South for the emancipation of slaves.

are both Grant men. Licutenant General John Hay goes for Greeley. He would probably be private secretary, and that is "darned sight better business than loafing round the throne."—

Cincinnati Commercial. Governor Hoffman says that Horace Gree-ley is a pretty good judge of men; he can pick out an honest man or a knove as quick

Mr. Frederick Douglass, in an article on the Presidential campaign, says that "wherever else Mr. Greeley may have been in other days, wherever he may be to-day, to his inner conciousness he is practically with the political enemies of the black man's liberty." A little more said about the President's absence from Washington, and Horace Greeley will be apt to make a bid for votes by pledging himself that if chosen its occupant, he will consent to close confinement, through dog-days and all other days, in the White House for four years.

Henry Wilson stated to a correspondent recently that during thirty-two years of po-litical life he had made about thirteen, hun-dred speeches, which had appeared in print, and, so far as his memory extended, had uttered but one sentence that he regretted, and that because it was misapprehended.

The Rebel General D. H. Hill, brother in-law of Stonewall Jackson, and one of the North Carolina Greeley leaders, is out in a letter for Greeley. He says: "We do not take Mr. Greeley from policy, but from principle. We take him because he is with us in all essential principles."

In 1869 Mr. Greeley wrote the following paragraph; "You must stop electing to the Legislature such men as Mattoon, Aiken, Bemus, and three dozen more such, or corruption can nover be vanquished. If you lie down with such dogs you will get up alive with fleas." These three men are now for Greeley. How about the fleas?

"The speeches praising him (Grant) are by office-holders and members of rings? says Senator Sumner: Such for example as those of Hon. E. R. Hoar, ex-Governor John H. Clifford, Gerrit Smith, Frederick Douglass, William Lloyd Garrison, and several others equally notorious for place hunting and mercenary conspiracies.—Bos ton Transcrint ton Transcript.

It is said that Horace Greeley, in a conversation with a friend recently, remarked "that he was much surprised to think the defection in the Republican ranks was not greater than it appears to be at the present time." Like the man who fell off the top of the stage-coach, if Horace had only known the stage hadn't tipped over, he'd never have got off.

The New York Sun furnishes the information that Governor Brown, "on his way to Missouri, will canvass the country and give public utterance to his views on the rottenness of the Administration." This is very important, if true. If he will make such a canvass on his way home as he has made during the past month the general im-pression is that the Administration can stand it.—Missouri Democrat. Buckalew's noble utterances were mostly of the kind to which he gave vent at Blooms burg, Columbia county, when he said: "Fellow Citizens, when I landed in New York end of the wick.

There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. Their Diuretic properties act on the Kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed. The liver, the stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

nerves are fendered discuse-proof by this great have orant.

Ist. They are firong and durable, and not likely to get out of order.

2d. They are simple in construction—less levers, springs, trips and complications generally, to get out of order than any other Machines.

4th. They have no Cog Gearing in the Drive Wheels to fill up with dirt and mud in passing over soft ground.

5th. The gearing is all in the centrelof the Machine, up out of the way of obstructions, and properly bedanced between the two Drive Wheels.

6th. The Driver is comfortably located in the cutre of the Machine, both in Reaping and Mowing, and not placed far on the rear end of the Machine, or out upon the tongue, in order to balance it.

7th. The Cutter Bar is on a line with the rear end of the Machine—only requiring a quarter circle Table in reaping—making it very easy to deliver the Gavel entirely out of the way of team and Machine on the next round, without disturbing it.

8th. The Sch-Rake is located on the platform; and being in the rear of the Drive Wheels, it is entirely away, and free from any danger of the Rake-Rake striking the team in their revolutions—as is not the case in front cut Machine—they being compelled by place the team at a great distance from the Machine, thereby increasing the draft.

9th. The Sch-Rake, itself, is the best in use. The lightest, most simple in construction, least hable to get out of order, needs no adjusting. When once put on properly, it is ready for all kinds of grain, long or short, thick or thin, standing, or lodged and tangled.

10th. It is entirely under the control of the driver, making Gavels large or small, at his pleasure. Very durable, and doing as good work the second and third years as the first. 10th. It is entirely under the control of the driver, making Gavels large or small, at his pleasure. Very durable, and doing as good work the second and third years as the first.

11th. They are adapted to all kinds of ground, rough or smooth, leaving a uniform height of stubble on uneven surface.

12th. They have a double hinged bar, and readily conform to uneven surface. Unlike the stiff lars which, when the Machine is on a back furrow, or knoll, the out bad of the Bar sticks up nearly or quite to the top of the heads. Ours drops down and cuts as low at one end as the other.

13th. They have a titing device, by which the driver can, while in motion, change the height of cut so as to pick up ledged spots without stopping.
