Everybody has heard of Gov. Seward's journey around the world, and almost everybody will want to read the great statesman's accounts of his extraordinary travels. The work is now in the press of D. Appleton & Co., and will be issued next month. We have seen some of the advance sheets of the book, and can recommend it as a beautiful specimen of book making. It will be a full octavo, printed on tinted paper, and profusely illustrated with fine wood-cuts. It will be sold only by subscription. Mr. J. A. Hill is the agent for this region, and will give overyone a chance to obtain the work.

Truman has the finest store, and the largest stock at the lowest prices in Wellsboro.

Mr. Ira White dealer in fruit and orna mental trees, Watkins, N. Y., would thank the people of Tioga county for their liberal patronage, and also for their many compliments on the beautiful stock which he delivered this fall.

THE TEMPERANCE CAMPAIGN.-A union Rev. Mr. Reynolds read a portion of the twenty-third chapter of Proverbs, and Rev. Mr. Calkins made a prayer having special reference to the occasion, and to the approaching local election. After another hymn, Rev. Mr. Henry announced the object of the meeting, and gave notice that the next of the series would be held at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday evening, and also one at the Baptist Church on the following Sunday evening. He said some might raise a question whether it was right to hold these meetings on Sunday. But the matter create a moral sentiment in the community, which would prohibit the sale of liquors. I

VIII. Entire prohibition of the sale holesale or retail, is constitutional, (see 5 Howard's Sup: Court Rep. 5777, and is the only law consistent with divine legislation. IX. Entire prohibition is not asumptuary law, which is defined by Webster as a law to limit the expense of the citizen in apparel. food, furniture, &c. A man may est, drink and wear what he pleases; the law simply says one article he shall not sell. X. Society has the right to such protection under the prerogative of self-defense. On this principal of self-protection society legislates against lotteries, gaming, counterfeiting, drunkeness, profineness, poisonous drugs, and any employment that endangers the public health, morals, or peace.

XI. The true object of legislation is to prevent not protect evil, hence all attempts to regulate evil are only different modes of raming mischief by law. What would a law be that should attempt to derive a revenue from, poisoning people under suitable restraints and safeguards? And yet that is what all our license laws do, and what our regulation of lotteries, horse-racing and gaming did once. But the progress of the world

XIV. It is asked, what is the use in prohibiting the traffic when you can not execute the law? The law should be right whether executed or not, because of its influence on public opinion. We can not fail more signally in the execution of a perfect law than we have in the execution of an imperfect one. And finally we believe the people of Tioga county will at the coming election, declare by an overwhelming maority against license, and with the emonirasment of the wholesale traffic still among them; will yet seek to execute this

Maj. G. W. Merrick then made some remarks. He said that the subject was a very old one, but the public conscience needed quickening on this question. We take more notice of suffering than we do of the causes of it, and we do not see the evil tendency of some things until we are moved by some startling result of them. It is so with intemperance. It is a vice that has fewer apologists than any other. Men see the evil apologists than any other. Men see the evil of a Saturday night! Business has within the past few days become more lively in our village in consequence of our citizens being able to make use of their horses, and we would look forward for a brisk business winter, were it not for the great scarcity of ready money. We must, however, make the best of it. It is no strange thing for us that have been doing business for a quarter of a century to see such a state of money matters during the fall and winter after a Presidential Camarrives, and the President elect takes his seat again, the policy of the country will become fixed, and then the various business interests of the whole land, will receive proper attention, and every thing will move off again in its usual lively manner. At any rate, we shall expect good results from the Administration. The wagon shop and dweiling house of Mr. Henry Schnieder was consumed by fire on the morning of the 2d inst. Fortunately for him, however, by the timely arrival of a goodly number of his neighbors, the contents of both buildings were saved It is supposed by the persons who arrived at the fire first, that it took place in the upper story of the wagon shop, from a defect in the stove pipe or the flue. Mr. Schnieder's loss is estimated at $1,200 on his buildings. He is insured in the Lycoming Mutual I am informed, for the amount of $800. Fires seem to be quite a common thing through the different sections of the country, and also in the towns and cities. There was a very bold attempt made by some unknown person, several weeks ago to set fire to the blacksmith shop of Mr. Alpheus Sheffer in Wool per ib..... our village. The attempt was made at noonday, when Mr. Sheffer was absent for his dinner. When his apprentice returned from his dinner to the shop, he found that there was considerable more smoke in the building than usual, and looking around to acertain floor, with the top end leaning against the west wall of the building. NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY

Throat and Lungs.

FOR THE

It is gratifying to us to inform the public het fir. . Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tax Cordiel, sie Throat and Lung Diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from therees to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons throughout the Sixtus actually benefitfed and cured at his office. While he publishes less, so say our reporters, he is unable to supply the demand. It gains and holds its reputa-

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loostsing and assisting nature to throw off the unbesithy shatter collected about the throat and bronchial tabes,

Second. It removes the cause of irritation (which produces cough) of the mucous membrane and broughist tubes, essists the lungs to act and throw our the unhishithy secretions, and purifies the blood.

Third. It is free from squille, lobelle, ipcoso and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are omposed, which allay cough only, and disorganies the stomach. It has a goothing effect on the stomach. acts on the liver and kidneys, and lymphatte and servous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.
