WHAT THE GRAND JURY DID RECOM-MEND. - It has been extensively reported by the gentlemen who are so eager to cut up the county and remove the county seat that the last Grand Jury made a presentment in favor of erecting a new Court House at Wellsboro. We have letters from different parts of the county showing that this story has been repeated by men who are by courtesy styled "Honorable," and that it has had its effect in deceiving the people and frightening them into the support of the removal project. No doubt the people who has been misled by it will be surprised to learn that it is as baseless as the other yarn, -which is generally coupled with it, -that the Commissioners were about to levy a tax for the purpose of replacing the building which it is asserted the Grand Jury had so condemned. Yet such is the fact. The Grand Jury made no such report. And that the people of the whole county may understand just how much truth there is in the story, we propose to state what the Grand Jury did report. The report begins by stating that the jury have made an examination of the public buildings of the county, and find the County House for the Poor in need of some repairs. They mention the dilapidated condition of the plastering upon the walls, and the broken condition of the furnace. They find the condition and treatment of the inmates satisfactory. They find most of the rooms in the. large building cleanly to a reasonable degree. and the furniture sufficient. They recommend that the inmates of the insane department be furnished with some constant attendant to look after their necessary wants. They are informed that the Railroad Company offer to build a siding ofor twenty-five dollars, for the purpose of unloading coal and other freight, near the County House, and they suggest that this offer be accepted by the authorities. The above is a fair abstract of the body of their report. The brief remainder of it we print in the exact words of the original as follows:

"It is also evident, from the slight examination they were able to give to the Prothonotary's Office, that the records therein contained have very insufficient protection against fire. They would recommend that this office be put in a fire-proof condition.
"The Jail and surroundings were found in all respects in a satisfactory coudition.
"They would further recommend that in all respects in a satisfactory coudition.

"They would further recommend that witnesses in attendance upon the Grand Jury should be furnished with a comfortable apartment in the Court House, while awaiting their turns to certify."

"Was ever ready to sacrince minself and his own interests to the good of his fellow men; that highest praise, "The noblest work of God—an honest man."

Third, That we sincerely condole with his

It is a solid foundation for the $100,000 story, isn't it? The Grand Jury advised that some broken plastering be patched up and the furnace be fixed at the Poor House; that the runace be fixed at the Poor House; that the Prothonotary's Office be rendered fire-proof — a thing that can be effected at a slight expense—for the better protection of the public records, and that a room in the Court House be set epart for witnesses while in attendance upon the Grand Jury. This is ab-House be set spart for witnesses while in attendance upon the Grand Jury. This is absolutely all they recommend in regard to the public buildings. But it's awful! Let the paupers shiver over their broken furnace and their damaged plastering, let the public records burn up; let the witnesses cool their heels in the Court House hall, while we fall to work like men of sense, and cut up the county, and give away over three hundred square miles of territory, over six thousand inhabitants, over $8,000 annual income, and build entire new county buildings at Lawrenceville, or some other border hamlet, to avoid the outrageous extravagance recom-

It is said that Wellsboro is too far west, giving the eastern townships just cause for complaint. But if Wellsboro is too far west. then surely Tioga is too far north. Again, it is argued that Wellsboro is corrupt; that office-seeking, whisky-drinking, theatre-going, &c., are on the increase. Nay, it is even asserted that it is not safe for the county to risk its buildings and other property in such a place, lest the whole should in common share the fate of Sodom and Gomorrah .-But is Tioga any safer than Wellsboro in DEDICATION OF THE NEW CHURCH AT ARNOT. - Editor Agitator: On the afternoon and evening of the last day of the year just closed, though a disagreeable snow stormwas raging, our little town was on the move toward having the new and beautiful church which has been in progress of erection since August, dedicated to the worship of Almighty God. Several members of the Wellshoro Presbytery were on hand to take an active part in the dedication and services of installation which followed. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. F. Calkins. The Presbytery finding it in order to install the Rev. J. Ludlow Kendall, the members of the church having put a call into their hands for his acceptance, and he having consented to undertake the pastorate, they proceeded, after the prayer of dedication by the pastor elect, to install him over the said church. The Rev. P. Camp, Moderator of Presbytery, put the questions both to the pastor elect and the members of the church, and then solemnly charged the newly constituted pastor. The Rev. J. L. Landis charged the people. Then followed the installing prayer by the Moderator, who also extended the right hand of fellowship, when people and pastor congratulated each other by hearty hand-shaking, the choir meanwhile singing a selected piece very appropriate for the occasion. Thus did we dedicate the First Presbyterian Church of Arnot, and constitute the first pastorate. May the Lord in His mercy and providence bless the union and accept the gift of dedication !

In the evening all came together again to enjoy a social entertainment, being permitted to feast on every manner of good things for the palate, and what was better still, listen to such music conducted by Mr. Peter Cameron as is rarely found coming from church choirs, showing evidently a vast amount of culture and training. Then the speeches from the Reverend gentlemen present, J. F. Calkins leading off, were most happy and social in their tone, fruitful of the best results. Men. ungodly men. were touched.

in such cowardice. You are the strong; you should be capable of facing, and conquering the most formidable foe. I pray you do not resort to such shallow subterfuge, or the women and children will discover your weak points, and forget to do you reverence.

Father, you have a promising son, who you hope will be the staff of your declining years; whom you would delight to see a man of influence. O, stretch forth your hand and save him from the disgrace of the gutter, the terrors of delirium, or a pauper's grave!

Young men, with arms of kindness shield the tempted one? Inspire him with hope; tell him that indecision now will be his ruin.

Sisters, to you is given the beautiful mission of elevating the moral standard of society. With pure and noble purpose and earnest endeavor, you can win the young, the true, the noble, from the path of the drinkard. Though you cannot yote, you
