

The Truth about the County Buildings.

A claim—A court house being built in circulation that the County Commissioners intend to erect a new Court House; the undersigned take this notice, assuring the people that there is not one particle of truth in any such rumor.

On the contrary, we are engaged in repairing the old Court House, and find that it can be put in good order for a sum of four or four hundred dollars. When those repairs are effected, which will be in a few days, the building will be good for the next generation.

The court house buildings are in good repair and are ample to accommodate the public business of the county.

The friends of Elder C. K. Bunnel undertook to hold a donation for his benefit on Thursday evening the 16th instant, but were sadly interfered with by the high water. They therefore propose to hold another next Tuesday evening, February 4th, at the residence of A. B. Briggs at Mansfield.

Black's Boston Stereopticon will be exhibited at the Opera House, in this village, Friday evening February 7th. It is a most wonderful contribution of science to the entertainment and instruction of the masses, bringing to our very doors objects and scenes which multitudes make long and expensive journeys to see.

The Only Remedy.—Those who suffer from full breath are open to the charge of pleasance. It is an offence that can be readily abated, as a single bottle of the fractur Sosopon will unmistakably accomplish the work. No toilet table should be without it. It will preserve and keep the white, and the breath pure and sweet.

The people have had such a ride on Mr. D. H. Hollis' back street of late, that he has been obliged to go to New York for his supply. He returned from the city last week, and is now well prepared to fight out the remainder of the campaign on the same line of quick sales and small profits. You want anything in the dry goods line, we can supply you to your entire satisfaction.

B. W. Payne & Sons are manufacturing ten-horse power engine and sixteen-horse power boiler for the Elmira Gazette. They recently furnished Elmer John I. Nick's engine for his cigar manufactory, and, as a year ago one for the Elmira Advertiser. B. W. Payne & Sons manufactured and sold seventy steam engines last year, varying from five to one hundred and fifty horse power.

Five weeks ago the little son, five years old, of Mr. E. H. Burr, residing at Troy, N.Y., accidentally thrust the point of a pen-knife in his left wrist. The wound was small, bled slightly, and was painless, so his parents considered it a trivial matter. Next day, however, the wrist began to swell, and continued to do so until the entire arm became much enlarged. A physician was summoned, who punctured the tumor at the wrist, from which coagulated blood was excreted. Soon after, copious bleeding ensued, which could not be readily controlled.

The tumor was a donation visit, held at Round Top Cheese Factory for the benefit of Rev. J. S. Randolph next Friday evening. A general invitation is extended to all.

The Tioga News says that a frame house, belonging to James Kelly, situated a few rods south of Mitchell Town on the line of the Tioga railroad, was destroyed by fire a few days ago.

—Here is one more temperance lecture. Mr. Abram Chambers, a miller at Painted Post, was killed by the cars while walking on the track near that station. Whisky did it.

—Trains 7 and 4 on the Erie Railroad, the former passing Corning at 6 a.m. for the West, and the other going East about midnight have been taken for the winter, the travel being insufficient to warrant the expense of running.

—This is important news, if true, that why didn't Charles board with his family before he fell on the whole story?

—One day last week Mr. Henry Rowland, Compt. Treasurer, slipped on the icy sidewalk near the Methodist church, and hurt his hip severely. Though no bones were broken, Mr. Rowland was confined to the house several days by the injury.

—This is a queer country, to be sure! Ten years ago Liberty was less than 20 miles from Wellboro and now it is 60! If you don't believe it, read the blue bulletin from Tioga.

—More, cut the arm open, removed the coagulated blood, and tied the ulnar artery, which proved to be the vessel injured. The physicians hope to be able to save the little boy's arm, notwithstanding the grave character of the injury and the dangerous condition in which they found the arm.—Advertised.

Clark, singing in this village, at Bowen's Hall, today evening, January 31st; at Mansfield, Saturday evening, February 1st; at Troy, Sunday evening, February 2d; and at Lawrenceville, Tuesday evening, February 4th. —The birds from our bower have fled, the summer is silent and dead;

—We will have a home of our own,

—I am the master of my fate;

—I am the master of my soul;

—None but Heaven can part us;

—I know that my mother's kiss.
