-The Addison Advertiser of last week tells this story of a stabbing ffaray at Knoxville: On Friday evening, 7th inst., a stabbing affray occurred in Knoxville, Pa., resulting in the infliction of two serious wounds on the person of Mr. J. E. Beach by a Frenchman named Bolyea. Bolyea who was in a state of intoxication, was making considerable noise in a ball-room where a dancing party was being held at the time. and had been requested several times to keep quiet, when finally Beach took him down stairs and then returned to the ball room. Some time after, Beach started to go home, and as he passed out of the hall door was assaulted by Bolyea with a knife, who inflicted two serious wounds in his thigh. Bolyes was arrested, waived an examination, and was held under bail of $800 to appear at May Term, to answer the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. A WARNING THAT SHOULD BE HEEDED. Last Friday night more than a year had passed since our village had been damaged by fire; but its exemption from loss in that way was to be ascribed, solely to good fortune, for no means had been provided to prevent conflagration or to limit the extent of any that might break out. In such an event, the village has been and is now in a state of utter defencelessness. No doubt every citizen who heard the alarm last Saturday morning, and found a fire was raging on Main street appreciated this fact most felly. That a large part of the principal business street of Wellsboro was not swept away on that occasion is due not to the foresight and precaution of her citizens, but to the accidental fact that there was no wind blowing that night. But for this favorable state of the weather the fire would undoubtedly have passed the brick block, by which its progress was stayed, and consumed the entire bussiness part of that side of the street. The chance for the recurrence of such a favorable combination of circumstances can be easily reckoned by considering the extreme rarity of such nights of perfect calm in this latitude. It is eyident that it won't do to tempt for tune again in that way, and it is high time that a vigorous and organized effort was made to provide for the extinguishment of fires, unless our business men are prepared to sit down; supinely and witness the destruction of their property without raising a -There was a terrible conflagration at finger for its preservation. We are glad to believe that the feeling is general that an effort should be at once made to provide the means for fighting fire, and we trust it will not be allowed to die out without bringing essmaker at Antrim, was burned to death forth substantial results. If it is, certainly we shall have only ourselves to blame, for the scene of last Saturday morning has given us sharp warning of what we may expect this village on the third Monday in May hereafter. We hope never again to see a ext, by Hon. F. B. Streeter, President fire engine standing in our streets idle and useless while valuable property is burning. The first thing needed is the organization now being mined and sold on Little Pine of an efficient fire department. The old eneek. People around English Center use gine may not be of the best, but it is claimed in preference to wood. It is sold for $3 that if kept in repair and in working order it is capable of doing good service. It should be at once put in good condition; new hose should be procured, and a company organized to operate efficiently all the appliances we now have. In addition to this, hook and ladder and bucket company should be organized and fully equipped. In the present condition of our village, with a large part of our business street built of wood, such a company would be able to render prompt and most efficient service. The want of just such an organization was severely years not less than twelve hundred have large part of our husiness street built of wood. -Rev. FIRE-DESTRUCTION OF THE PENNSYL-VANIA HOUSE. - About two o'clock last Sat irday morning the old hotel standing on the corner of Main street and the Avenue, opposite the public square, was discovered to be on fire in the roof of the main building. An alarm was at once sounded, bringing to the spot most of the citizens of the village; but it was evident from the first that, with our present lack of means for extinguishing fires, the old hotel was doomed to destruction. Attention was immediately turned to county, have been successful in fooling an- ing building. The location of the fire favored this, and many willing hands made short work of the operation; though, as a matter of course, much of the property was considerably injured in the removal. No more favorable time could have been found for a fire, there being not a breath of air stirring, and the surrounding buildings being covered with the snow that had fallen the day before. But there was some danger cated was confined in a cold lock-up over that the fire might extend to some of the small buildings in the rear, and as a precautionary measure two of these were torn down and dragged away from the burning building by means of ropes.

The back part of the hotel extended along Main street one hundred and twenty feet from the corner, the extreme rear end standing close against Williams and Converse's new brick block. There was some danger that the heat might set this block on fire, and it was certain to damage it somewhat in any event, so an effort was made to tear down that part of the hotel. But there were no fit appliances for such work, and no substantial progress was made at it. The result was that the fire burned directly up against the solid brick wall which fortunately resisted its action and limited its progress in that direction. The brick block did not escape a severe trial, however, the side wall becoming Saturday evening, the 15th instant, a Miss so hot that the plastering in the third story was cracked, and some of the roof timbers taking fire. But they were promptly extin-

> The building burned—the Pennsylvania Hotel-was owned by Mr B. B. Holliday, of this village, and although very old was quite a productive piece of property, the annual rental being $800. There was no insurance on the building, nor on the furniture in it belonging to Mr. Holliday, and his loss is about $4,000. We understand the scheme, if successful, promises to entail expenses to landlord, M. R. O'Connor, had an insurance penses and consequently taxes upon the citon his stock and furniture which will cover his loss. The lot burned over is a very valuable one, extending 120 feet on Main street. It is not yet determined what use it will be put to; but we trust that before another winter a substantial business block will be erected upon it. It is certainly too valuable to be allowed to lie in its present state any great length of time.

THE OUTRAGE AT KNOXVILLE .- Editor erty, was found frozen to death, last Friday week, on the plank road some five miles beyond English Center. When he left home transpired at one of our hotels a short time crime, however, I do not desire to palliate. The girls, it seems, resided somewhere in Potter county, and were in company with their uncle and aunt, on their way to Ithweather," and that his death was solely due | aca, N. Y. They stopped at the Eagle Hoties arrested, but the uncle of the girls very earnestly requested him not to do so then. as the sleighing was fast going off, and it was very important that he should get to his journey's end as soon as possible, and an ar-rest would be likely to detain him a day if not longer, and he could just as well attend to it when he came back, which would be in a week or so, and earnestly desired the matter to be deferred. So Mr. Gibson finally consented, supposing that for such a crime the parties could be arrested anywhere, and they were permitted to get out of the State; and before the affair came to the ears of the authorities all the parties, the accusers as well as the accused, were out of the State. As the uncle hasnot yet put an "appearance," it is but fair to presume that he has conclu ded that "the easiest way was the best way," and has gone home some other way, thus taking it out of the power of the authorities to do anything, for want of the principal witnesses. the State Superintendent from which we condense the following information: The whole number of pupils enrolled during the school year 1871, and 1872 in the ring the school year 1871, and 1872 in the Normam school proper, was two hundred and twelve, and in the Model school (soldiers' orphan) two hundred and one. The school is now over ten years of age, it having been recognized December, 1862. During these years three thousand pupils have been enrolled in the Normal and Model departments, and one hundred and fifty three have graduated, the first class graduating in June, 1866, and numbering fifteen. Before the recognition in 1862, the institution was called the Mansfield Classical Seminary, its chartered name, having first started in school work January 7, 1857. The graduates have taught from one to six years in the State; the average length of time they have taught in the State is already more than that taught in the State is already more than that required by law in order to receive State aid required by law in order to receive State aid, about seventy are now teaching in Pennsylvania, and fifty have received the Master's Diploma, satisfactory certificates from boards of directors indorsed by County Superint tendents having in every case been presented to the board of examiners. The pledge to teach two years in the State, made by those who receive fifty dollars upon graduation, is very generally fulfilled, and in most cases is cheerfully complied with; but it sometimes happens that when the two years are past more lucrative positions are offered

izens of our northern townships, which would be unjust and burthensome.

To take away Jackson, Cogan House, Mc-Intyre and Cascade, or any of them, would be disadvantageous to the citizens without bringing them any adequate return. As the citizens of these townships are generally on citizens of these townships are generally op-posed to the division it may be will for the Legislature to look to the causes:

There is no necessity for this division proposed—no good excuse even, for it. It has not its origin among the people. It is simply a pet arrangement of ambitious parties who have not the true interests of the people at heart. These schemers have viewed the territory—they have said how snug a little county (big enough to hold their calibre) could be made by cutting off parts of Lycoming, Bradford and Tioga, with headquarters at the everlasting Springs of Minnequa. They have contemplated how good it would be to represent the bantling in the Legislature and wear the title of a Solon. Then be to represent the bantling in the Legisla-ture and wear the title of a Solon. Then they concluded to have a new county. The people, who would have to bear the expense in the event of the success of this caprice, have never had anything to do with it. They are averse to it. They expect their repre-sentatives to expose the plot, and defend their rights against the infringement of a legislative enactment which would benefit but a few and burthen the many.

THE PINE CREEK ROAD.—The Act of Assembly incorporating the Jersey Shore, Pine Creek & Buffalo Railway Company was approved Feb. 17, 1870. It required work to be commenced within three years, to wit, before the 17th of the present month. There is not much doubt that work was commenced in May last within the meaning of the Act, by the organization of two corps of engiby the organization of two corps of engineers and their subsequent active operations in locating the route of the road, and by the labors of three attorneys for procuring the right of way in Tioga, Potter and M'Kean counties. But this was a matter of too mucl mportance to leave an open question in any possible contingency. Application was therefore made to the present Legislature for a supplementary act extending the time when work must be commenced on the road. The influence of Senator Strang, which is always promptly and effectively exerted in favor of every interest of our county, aided by our townsman, ex-Senator Olmsted, and assisted by Representatives Jones and Mitchell, secured the prompt passage of the Act, and we have now the pleasure of assuring our readers that Pine Creek is out of danger.

Mr. Ross, the untiring President of the Road, is now in Philadelphia, re-organizing his forces mith success. is forces with success. We cannot, in a newspaper article, explain the difficulties he has had to encounter nor the changes which have taken place in the interests and purposes of the men who agreed to furnish all the money required to construct and equip our Road. Suffice it to say, that the revolutions and combinations in the management of the Tries Buttons in the management of the Eric Railway caused so much delay in furnishing funds that Mr. Ross felt constrained to make other arrangements for the construction of the These are nearly completed, and there is ittle doubt that early in the spring active work in grading will commence. of the Road. He has already secured twenty thousand acres.

This Road is conceded to be an important link in our chain of improvements by all railroad men who have given even a casual glance at the subject. It is the shortest and best route from Philadelphia to' Lake Erie. It is going to be built. Coudersport, within two years from to-day, will be situated on a leading railroad from the seaboard to the Lakes. Patience, friends, and no more doubts about the fidelity of the men who have been are now working for this grand enterprise. Messrs. Strang and Olinsted, from the day the project first took shape in a bill for the incorporation of the Company down to the present, have done all that was possible for any two men to do under the circumstances. And Mr. Ross, since he became connected with it, has left nothing undone that his active brain could suggest for the furtherance of the prospects of the Road.

We rejoice in the confident belief that their efforts are to be crowned with success.

Ohis has been said and written of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

Let them ache, cut your boots,

Throat and Lung Healer.

Let them ache, cut your boots, curse them and, make up your mind that you can endure their torments as long as they can torment you, but take the advice of an old chap who has tried it, but got worsted by the corns.—They are worse than a coon in a barrel; never surrender, but fight it out on that line summer and winter. Bunlons, ingrowing nails, and other, such pleasant little pets, are gathered into the relief kitches, by using BRIGGS corn and Bunion Remedies, Alleviator and Curative.
