Road, which is the six foot gauge. The proprietors of that road offer to put down the third rail at their own expense, and to co-operate most liberall with the new company in every way.

Whichever of these companies mentioned above builds the road in this county, it will be built under the charter of the Wellsboro and State Line Railroad. That charter has until a recent date been in the hands of the Cattawissa Railroad, but this winter an act passed the Legislature taking it out of that Company's control and placing it in the hands of men who have a more local interest in putting it to practical use. It is now controlled by Hon. H. W. Williams, Chester Robinson and J. C: Strang, Esq., of this village, and by Hon. B. B. Strang and Richard Krusen, of Westfield, and is held solely for the construction of a road on one or other of the routes above mentioned.

A glance at the map will show the value of the proposed road in opening up the latent resources of this region and bringing the products of our mines and forests directly into the general market. It would run near the bituminous mines known as the "Barrens" near Gaines, and a very short branch would bring the coal of that point in immediate connection with the railroad net-work of the country. It would pass directly by the Antrim and Arnot coal fields and would afford them a shorter outlet to the north and south. Leaving the W. & L. Road it would skirt the extensive coal fields formerly owned by the Bingham estate, and then strike the rate. But the demand for bituminous coal appointed by the President of the United is rapidly growing and seems destined to increase almost indefinitely. Great railroad companies are turning their engines into coal-burners, and they consume the products of Tioga county mines by the thousand tons. The great advantage of bringing hese new mines into market is apparent. 🖊 But besides this mineral wealth of the county, partly developed, but a great part of it almost unexplored, there is a hardly less prolific source of wealth above ground in > enlarge on that topic. But while the material benefit to be derived from the road would be very great, the advantages conferred by it from a political and social point of view would be hardly less. It would not only render communication between the different parts of the couny more easy and rapid, but it would attach. he whole county more firmly to the general political, social and business interests of the State. Under the existing condition of affairs the people of Tioga county naturally gravitate toward the State of New York .-It is impossible to reach our own State Capital by rail without passing a considerable distance through the State north of us, and our business and social relations with New York City are much more intimate than with Philadelphia. But the proposed new road will place Wellsboro within about six hours

But the building of railroads is a work line is located. And the same thing is true of every village along the line. "A.L." STILL RAMPANT .- This spicy writr still continues to send his lucubrations to the Tioga News. His last closes as follows: "As I have heard some things wherein the News failed to please, I would like to state a few things that will be expected of a paper in Tioga. First, half of the paper should be filled with local news, every week, no matter filled with local news, every week, no matter whether anything happens or not; of course the editor is to blame if the required amount is not furnished. Everybody must be praised according to his hearts desire. If an article is sent in worthy of Henry Ward Beecher, be sure and sign the person's name to it, but if it be one which any school boy could write as well or better, the editor ought to have a nough to sign a fletifus name with whow enough to sign a fictitious name without being told. Then it is right if the editor publishes an article distasteful to a person to insult him in the street or some public. place. You remember about the "man in our town who was so wondrous wise," etc.; there are a few of that sort in Tioga, In short—everyone must be praised, and none censured.
'I wish it understood that I do not ask anything for this advice, and do not expect any thanks. The true greatness of a newspaper, as of a man, is to tell the truth.

But Williamsport, at least, confesses her proud gratitude to the genius who has, unaided by optical instruments, with the naked eye alone, made the discovery. This great and good man is, strange to say, the inimitable Peter Herdic; who the discovery.

inimitable Peter Herdic; who the discoverer is there are different surmises. Perhaps it is Peter's orator; his traveling mouth-organ, it may be. There's no telling; it might be Peter himself; for the communications heralding the discovery to the remotest corners of Tioga are wonderful ungrammatical and deal in awful hyperboles. But the constructive weakness of the compositions is no detraction from the merits of the great Caliph himself. For, was not Mohamet himself illiterate and did not a humble fiddler and philosopher, such as Peter's, write the sublime old Koran?

At any rate, it is exceedingly probable that the genius "Lycoming" who is at once astonishing and enlightening the Tiogians, through that powerful engine of intelligence, the Wellsboro Democrat, is no less than a humble page of Peter Herdic; which will account for the way in which he magnifies his hero.—Williamsport Register. idents of both the north-west and south-east Administrators' Sale.

March 25, 1873-4w EGYPTIAN CORN!

The mass of Sale.—Fifty dollars at the time of purchase, and enough more to make one-half the purchase money on confirmation of the sale by the Court, and the balance of the purchase money, with interest from the confirmation of the sale by the Court, or possession delivered, if before that time, one year from the time of sale.

JANE E. MITCHELL,

THE subscriber offers to the farmers through the county the Egyptian Corn, which upon trial was found to ripen if planted even the last of July. It is estimated, from its very prollife qualities, to yield 150 bushels per acre, and weighs, by measure, 65 pounds to the bushel. This corn was produced from some procured direct from Mr. Jones, our Consular Agent, directly on his return from Egypt. It needs no different culture from that of other varieties, and in the South two crops can be raised on the same ground in one year. It grows in the form of a tree, and 34 ears have grown upon one stalk—average from 5 to 15 cars. For domestic use it is unparalleled. When ground and properly bolted, it is equal in color and ineness to wheaten flour. As a forage crop, by sowing in drills or broadcast (for early feed,) there is no kind of corn so well adapted to mitch cows, and none that will yield half the value in stalk or corn.

It can be successfully grown in any State.

Terms:—In order that all may receive seed, we have reduced the price to one dollar a package. Any, person who will get up a club of five, will receive a package gratis—15 package sfor $10; 50 packages for $20; 100 for $30. One package will contain enough to plant the following season from 20 to 30 acres; also, directions for planting it.
