And as for Mr. Ferguson,
'Twas more than he could bear,
And so he hurled his boot-jack out,
Right through the midnight air;
But this vociferous Thomas cat Not one cent did he care-For still he yowled and kept his fur

A standin up on end,
And his old spine a doublin' up
As far as it would bend,
As it highopes of happiness
Did on his lungs depend. But while a currin' of his spine,

And waitin' to attack
A cat upon the other fence,
There came an awful crack;
And this here speckled Thomas cat
Was busted in the back. When Ferguson came down next day when rerguson came down next day,

'There lay'his old feline,
And not a life was left in him,
Although he had had nine.
'All this here comes,' said Ferguson,
"Of curvin' of his spine." Now all you men whose tender hearts
This painful tale does rack,
Just take this moral to yourselves,
All of you, white and black;
Don't ever go, like this here cat,
To gittin' up your back!

It is a greater mercy to have a spiritual appetite for the means of grace, and to be providentially debarred from enjoying them, than to have opportunities of attending them without an appetite for them.

Oh! if men were wise, they would, see that all earth's joys are like the bubbles which our children blow with soar; they glitter and they shine, and then they are gone, and there is not even a wreck left behind. Times of general calamity and confusion have ever been productive of the greatest

The intensely practical character of Christianity might be inferred from the life of its founder. In Jesus we see no display, no aiming at effect, nothing spoken or done to decorate or ornament the simplicity of his daily life.

How strange it is that anxious souls do most of all doubt the willingness of Christ to be their Saviour; yet these should least of all doubt him. If he is a willing Saviour to any, O, surely he is a willing Saviour to the weary soul.

To endure the present evils with patience and wait for expected good with long suffering, is equally the part of the Christian and the hero. Those evils would break a proud man's heart that would not break a humble Christians sleep.

A worldly man having infinite cares, cogitations and anxieties hanging on his mind, can never have rest or quiet, day or night, but is enforced to be working his night, but is enforced to be working his brains when other men sleep to compass those trifles wherein he is encumbered.

To die in a respectable position, what is the use of it? What are a few more plumes on the hearse, or a longer line of mourning coaches? Will these ease the miseries of hell? Ah, friends, you have to die, and why not make ready for the inevitable?

The rich and poor, the prince and peasant, are all upon Care's broad sea, and there are times when the humble bark, safely moored in harbor because of its frailty, escapes the storm, when the big ship that; goes forth in its strength is overwhelmed and wrecked.

To-day the churches are sickened with es-

To-day the churches are sickened with es says and "intellectual" treats. Fine language amuses the ear, as the tinkling of little bells pleases the coach horses, but it cannot satisfy the coach satisfy the soul any more than the aforesaid tintinabulations can supply the place of corn and hay. How much all our divisions and disputes arise out of our unfaithfulness to Christ?—

Each one seems anxious to justify his own little selfish reserve from the Lord, rather than to seek to be helped to employ his whole body, soul, and spirit in his most worthy and loving service.

ship, not in very deed separate from sinners or devoted to the service of God; hence the world has no care to oppose them, and leaves them perfectly ignorant of the very meaning of the word "persecution."

A dozen or two General Grants, eloquently silent, would form a fine board of church management; men who can give, and work and pray, are worth a hundred times as much as those who can compose resolutions cavil over expressions, move the previous question, discuss and re-discuss; till all is blue-moulded or green with verdigris.

One of the most evident weaknesses of most religious societies is a lack of practical common sense. They are great in red tape, rich in committees, and positively gorgeous with presidents and vice-presidents, and secretaries, and honorary secretaries, and minute secretaries, etc., etc.; but what comes of it all? We behold a fine display of wooden cannon and pasteboard soldiery, but conquests there are none.

of wooden cannon and pasteboard soldiery, but conquests there are none.

We cannot sink too low in humility, nor yet rise too high in heavenly mindedness; but we may soon be lost in the wilderness of needless speculation. Such as are sober minded will keep within their depth, and when the Lord directs us to launch forth we may do it with safety. If we are wise according as it is written, we shall be profitably wise, but if we want to be wise beyond what it is written, we shall smart for our folly.

our folly.

It has been the misery and the disgrace of the church, that too many theologians who have held the truth, and held it, too, in its best forms, have held it like the heathens, in unrighteousness; have held it in narrowness and bigotry. They have forgotten that the rich man can afford to be liberal that the strong man need not be constantly anxious; that a scientific and vigorous orthodoxy should ever look out of a beaming and

and not a sullen eye.

All this world's riches and glories cannot prevent the least calamity, nor make up the want of the least mercy. It is not the crown of gold that can cure the headache, nor the golden scepter that can stay the shaken hand, nor the honorable garter that can ease the gout, nor the necklace of pearl that can take way the pain of the teeth end a can take away the pain of the teeth, and a bag of gold with pain of the teeth, and a rest on. Miserable comforters are they are. Only the useful riches of grace give ease and refreshment under all pains and torments whatsoever.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Auti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical and Pharbaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive and nanseous pills, composed of cheap, crade, and bulky ingredients, when we can by accareful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Grauule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed; that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and lastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in the drug shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in proportion to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect, but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most scarching and thorough, yet gontly and kindly operating cathartic.

8500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprie-thorough, yet gontly and kindly operating cathartic.

3500 Reward is beieby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any Calomel or other forms of mercury or any other mineral polson.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Hendache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in mouth, Blilous attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Blonted feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Hend, High Colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Fellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair them: their sugar-coating and being enclosed in glass bottles preserve their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable, which is not the case with the pills found in the drug stores, put up in cheap wood or paste-board boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alternative or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all enterprising Druggists at 25 conts a bottle. They are sold by all enterprising Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Do not allow any drugglat to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good as my Pelicts because he makes a larger profit on that which he recommends. If your drugglat cannot supply them, enclose 25 cents and receive them by return mail from R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, BUFFALO, N. Y. June 26, 1872, Rot-1y
