

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATIONS.

Executive Proclamation, Washington, Oct. 15, 1873. By the President of the United States of America.

Governor's Proclamation.

Whereas, The President of the United States, by his proclamation, has appointed the twenty-seventh day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving...

All Americans will be glad to learn that the report of the execution of the third...

Every honest man, not only in America, but in all countries, should rejoice to hear that outraged justice has at last overtaken William M. Tweed...

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

THE CUBAN OUTRAGES AND THEIR RESULTS. THE OTHER ACCOUNTS AT BOSTON. THE CASE OF THE VIRGINIA. THE CASE OF THE VIRGINIA.

Mr. Everts's Opinion.

It is proper that the President and members of the Cabinet should keep silent as to the position of the Government in relation to the affair of the Virginia until the exact facts of the case are ascertained and weighed.

prey clearly indicated if not fully developed. But in the meantime there is naturally a great deal of discussion in the press...

Official returns, made to the Bureau of Statistics show that there arrived at the port of Boston during the quarter ending September 30, 1876, 2,534 immigrants, of whom 4,550 were males and 4,704 females.

Mr. William M. Everts is well known as one of the first lawyers at the American bar. He has been more than once urged as a candidate for Secretary of State, and he is regarded by a large portion of the bar as the lawyer best fitted by attainments and character to fill the post of Chief Justice of the United States.

Warren, The President of the United States, by his proclamation, has appointed the twenty-seventh day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving.

THE LAW OF THE CASE.

The application of certain rules of international law to the case of the Virginia seems to be better understood by the President and his advisers than by the public.
