

Select Poetry.

The Gates of Zion. The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob. The earth is the Lord's, and all fulness; He rules in the kingdoms of men; Alike on the good and the evil, He sendeth his sunshine and rain.

and the little one put her fingers to her eyes, and silently turned toward the house. We hurried on in the direction of the wood, without giving a single glance backward. I think Kate's conscience reproached her for her selfishness, and I know my own pleasure was spoiled for the afternoon. We found plenty of strawberries red and ripe, among their beds of leaves. There were blue-eyed blossoms, too, that kept reminding me of Rosie; and I was not sorry when the sunset shadows lengthened, and we turned to go home.

Mr. Editor:—Did you ever hear of the city of Zanesville, on the Eastern bank of the river Muskingum, about three score miles from its mouth? It is a place of some note and age, and ranks high as a manufacturing town among the business men of our State. It is surrounded by one of the finest agricultural regions in the Union. Its soil, water, stone, and railroads, are all adapted to the raising of domestic animals or limitation. Its health is proverbial. People grow old here, it is said, but they seldom die.

Go Back, Rose; You're Too Little to Come!

By ELLEN LOUISE CHANDLER. [This story is one of those pearls we love to place before our readers. We cannot mention the publication in which it first appeared, for some forgetful editor has failed to make the credit due.—Home Magazine.]

Agricultural.

When, and How, to set out Trees.

1. I advise to set out most kinds of fruit-trees in the Fall, as soon as they can be set after the leaves have dropped. Peach, apricot and nut-bearing trees are transplanted more safely in the Spring, as early as the ground will admit of being worked. 2. Deciduous shade-trees and shrubs, that is, those which shed their leaves in Autumn, should be set as soon as the leaves fall.

Poetry.

Borrow No Trouble. BY CLARA AUGUSTA.

There's sorrow enough in this lower world of ours, And abundance of tear drops and sighing, And while man shall live he always will find Cause to plenty to set him a-crying; But he needn't look out with a mote-searching eye For perplexity's first tiny bubble. Won't you listen, good man, to a piece of advice? Trust in God, and borrow no trouble.

Miscellaneous.

A Clerical Anecdote.

Some thirty-five or forty years ago, a Mr. Williams, clergyman of the Old School, somewhat eccentric, came to Salem, from the country, to exchange desks with one of his brethren in the ministry. During the Sabbath-norm intermission, he said to his daughter, "I am going to lie down; if St. Paul comes himself, don't you disturb me."

Protestantism in the United States.

Dr. Baird, in his new edition of the United States, discusses the five great Evangelical denominations in the United States, the Congregationalists and Presbyterians being, in many important respects, the same, he places both under the head of Presbyterians:
