Mr. Parton's Life of Aaron Burr has given rise to much discussion. This author undertook to relieve Burr from the charge of insinuated what almost amounted to a denial of the facts by which this opinion has been tual, and of most engaging manners, but awfully deprayed.

Monday evening, the 25th ult., was celethe gifted, but wayward Burns. The sunply of sentiments, songs, speeches, and Scotch whisky, was abundant.

A Mark of Honor, never before conferred on any foreigner, was shown on Tuesday, the 26th ult., to the memory of the brave General HAVELOOK. The flags of the shipping in the river, and on the public buildings, were displayed at half-must. This was a voluntary tribute of a people to one whom they had never seen, but whose bravery and high Christian character will form one of the brightest pages in English history. England was slow to acknowledge the merit of a man, whose fame is now part of her own renown. Would that the American Army could present a few samples of equally fervid piety!

The great and increasing Desecration of the Lord's Day in New York, has for some time been a subject of great anxiety to Christians and philanthropists. In April last a meeting was held in Dr. Alexander's church, to consider what measures should be adopted to arrest the growing evil, at which a committee of eighteen laymen was ously engaged in devising means to carry out the objects of their appointment. A meeting, at which one hundred clergymen representing all the orthodox denominations, were present, was held on Monday evening week, to hear the report and consider what action might be necessary. The Rev. Dr. Spring acted as Chairman. This report gives startling proofs of the extent to which Sabbath desecration has progressed in this metropolis. It gives a list of shops, drinking houses, &c., open on the Sabbath, which shows the whole number to be nine thousand six hundred and ninety-two, or one to every sixty-five of the population. And these are frequented by probably two hundred thousand persons every Sabbath. The measures recommended are the enforcement of the existing laws; the preaching of sermons on the subject; prayer; and more active efforts to bring the people under the restraining influence of the Gospel.

The New York Institution for the Blind has been productive of great good. One of its graduates has recently been ordained to the work of the ministry in the Associate Reformed Church, by the Presbytery of New York-the Rev. Adam McClelland. This is the first graduate that has devoted himself to the preaching of God's Word.

Mr. Lemuel Brewster has already distributed ten thousand Bibles to children who have recited, perfectly, The Whole of the Shorter Catechism; and the demand, on this condition, is still increasing.

People are not fully aware of the extent to which Perjury is carried in our civil and criminal Courts, or of the dangers to which it gives rise. When a public officer feels warranted in using such language as we quote, we may be certain there is reason for alarm:

But we doubt very much the propriety of affixing the names of men, however great and excellent, to Presbyterian churches; and if we do so, we had better go back as far as the days of the Apostles. The American Presbyterian calls attention to the fact that the Alexander most conspicuous in that period was "Alexander the Coppersmith."

We had communion here last Sabbath, the 24th, after having had preaching sixteen nights in sucfall.

Late examinations have brought to light

Late examinations have brought to light of the covenant. Thirteen are heads of families. At our communion in the Fall, there was not one single) young man a member of the church; here are now eleven that are members. Of the whole number received twenty-six are males, and eighteen are females.

Though it was only last May a year ago, that I came here, and this church has enjoyed only one half of my ministerial labors during that time, yet there has been added to the church seventy-one members in all, and some of them are among the most active and devoted members that we have. "Truly the Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad. We are not worthy of the least of all the mercies which he has showed unto us." We feel that it becomes us to lie low before God, and to say, "Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory for thy mercy and for the truth's sake. The interest still continues; quite a number are anxious and inquiring. We still have meetings at night, which are well attended, though the oads are very bad, and the weather somewhat unfavorable Brother Williams, Father Munson, and Bro. Montgomery, of Clarion Presbytery, rendered us great service, for which we pray that God may abundantly reward them. Bro. Montgomery was very providentially with us from Wednesday pre-vious till Sabbath evening of the communion. And having been so recently blessed with a revival in his own charge, we feel that God has been very gracious to us in having directed him, as ye believe, to labor amongst us on this occasion.

May God still more abundantly revive us, and Resumption in Pittsburgh.

The Banks of this city resumed specie paynents on Monday last. There was no run upon them. Their position seems to be very strong, and to command the confidence of the community. A good example is set to Philadelphia, which it is to be hoped will be followed speedily.

Messrs. Hunt & Miner send us the fourth Number of this new aspirant for fame and favor. It is conducted with very great ability, and its character is improving. Pennsylvania Legislature.

The following was offered in the Senate, by Dr. lazzam, of Pittsburgh, and passed by a vote of wenty-four to three; viz.:

Resolved. That the Committee on Vice and Immorality be instructed to report a bill establish-ing the office of Inspector of Liquors for each county or for districts composed of several counties; said bill to provide for compensation of said Inspectors out of the funds raised by licenses granted to wholesale and retail dealers in liquors granted to wholesate and recan desirers in inquors, and also providing for the confiscation of all adul-terated liquors offered for sale, and imposing such other penalties for selling or offering for sale adulterated liquors as the Committee may deem

If a law to this effect should be adopted, and rigidly executed, it would have much effect in prolonging the lives of drunkards, and would also ender their drunkenness less of a madness. But still, a humane people, if only the people could be induced to look aright at the subject, should not be content merely to diminish an evil when it might be removed, in the use of means within Washington.

The District of Columbia is likely to be favored with the hard money system; as it is to be suposed that, at the seat of Government, specie must bound if Bank notes are prohibited. And to this end, approximately, a bill is before the Senate. It provides that there shall be no Bank of saue in the District, and that no Bank note of a less denomination than fifty dollars shall be permitted to circulate as money. The bill is the special order for next Tuesday.

The resolution to present a Medal to Commo Paulding, has been partially discussed in the Sen ate, and postponed to 9th of February. Mr. Pearce, of Maryland, thought the Grand ury of New Orleans, in writing ignoramus on the bill of indictment against Walker, had, in that word, expressed its own character. He could not see how any man could sympathize with Walker, who was a mere dreamer, a visionary. He contended that Commodore Paulding was entirely justifiable, in the circumstances, in landing on Nicaraguan soil and arresting the depredators. If it was an error, it was but the fractional part of one. It was not a "grave error." The Commodore had his beartiest thanks, and doubtless the thanks of the great mass of the people of the whole country. But he should not vote him a nedal. It was not the proper token of the approbation which should be bostowed.

Mr. Slidell, of Louisiana, entirely disapproved f the act of Paulding, and hoped the President would recall him, but he equally disapproved of the motives and course of Gen. Walker, and had o confidence in him, either as a soldier or a statesman. He submitted a proposition, that the President be authorized to suspend the neutrality laws at his discretion, but not exceeding twelve needed. Kansas Affairs are still shrouded in gloom. The Lecompton Constitution, official, has reached the President, and reports say, he has a message ready to send into Congress with it, urging its adoption. Several leading men from Kansas are in Washington, and others are expected shortly; among the latter, Calhoun, the President of the Convention. Commissions to the State officers, and the members of the Legislature, chosen or the 4th of January, had not been issued, so that it cannot yet be told what will be the political complexion of the State, provided the Constitumore will reveal matters.

The territorial Legislature in Kansas has resolved not to give way to the Topeka Legislature. This looks like firmness in sustaining a governengaged in remodeling the laws, in accordance with the wishes of the people. The new State officers have sent to Congress a very strong memorial against the Constitution. Acting Governor Stanton, lately dismissed by the President for calling an extra session of the territorial Legislature, is now in Washington, and has caused great excitement by publishing an address to the people of the United States, on Kansas affairs. The Governor is a Southerner by birth, education and feeling; a Democrat, a Buchanan man, and pro-slavery. But he urges that great wrong was done to the people of Kansas, in thwarting them in the free use of their civil rights. He fully sustains the policy of Governor Walker; and shows the necessity and the right. ousness of his own act, in the measure which induced disfavor at Washington. Toward the conclusion of his address, which is calm, firm, and seemingly ingenuous throughout, he says:

"The measure for which I have been unjustly condemned has enabled the people of Kansas to make known their real will in regard to the Le-compton Constitution. This affords the Democratic party an opportunity to defend the true principles of constitutional liberty, and to save itself from disastrous division and utter overthrow. f Congress will heed the voice of the people, and not force upon them a government which they have rejected by a vote of four to one, the whole country will be satisfied, and Kansas will quietly settle her own affairs without the least difficulty, and without any danger to the confederacy. The Southern States, which are supposed to have a deep interest in the matter, will be saved from the supreme folly of standing up in defence of so wicked and dishonest a contrivance as the Lecompton Constitution. The moral power of their osition will not be weakened by a vain and useless defence of wrong, when it is perfectly certain they will gain nothing even by success in the resent attempt. "The extra session of the Kansas Legislature has done good, also, by giving means to expose and punish the monstrous frauds which have been perpetrated, and doubtless, also, by preventing others which would have been attempted. It has driven the gullty miscreants engaged in them to become fugitives from justice, and has rendered it impossible for the peace of the territory hereafer to be endangered by smiler occurrences.

Wood's Restorative.

Of all the restoratives for the hair that have been invented. Wood's pre-eminently claims the first place. It will certifully restore the natural color of the hair, if the directions are followed for a sufficient length of time. It also has produced astonishing effects in bringing out a growth of hair, where the head had been previously bald. Wood does not pretend that it will do this in all cases; and we think his candor is a good ecommendation of the virtues which his restorative really possesses. If the roots of the hair are destroyed, no human power can make them grow again; but where there is any vitality left the root, the restorative will soon renew the hair in all its pristine vigor. It has done this repeatedly when all other remedies had failed. is therefore worth while in all cases to make the experiment. For clearing the head of dandruff, and thickening and strengthening the hair it has no rival. - Western Patriot.

Dien-In Watsontown, Northumberland Co. Pa., on the 12th inst., JOHN WATSON, in the 79th year of his age. In Mr. Watson has disappeared the last of three brothers, who, but little more than two years ago, were all still living side by side in the midst of their descendants, and linked the present generation directly with the first settler of the region? where their farms all lay together. The deceased had spent a long life in uniform uprightness, simplicity, and piety, bore a tedious illness at its close with the patience and cheerfulness of Christian faith, and has left to his children, and his children's children, a precious example of those "who through faith and patience inherit the promises."

DIED-At Bethany, Va., January 20th, Mr. Lewis Kerr, aged nearly 90 years. He was a native of New Jersey, where he spent the early part of his life. He became a decided Christian at about the age of twenty-two. He was an elder in the Church in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Virginia-a faithful, prudent, devoted elder. He was a remarkable Christian; humble, meek, benevolent, cheerful, and eminently consistent. He abounded in prayer, and found in it delight. His plety was iniform, "always abounding in the work of the Lord." He seemed to have always a warm heart -a heart full of love to the Saviour, and to Zion, and to souls. No one could know him and not love him. He was certainly one of the best men I ever knew. I would love to write much but must not take more room in your paper. Dear old father Kerr is gone! He lived to the Lord; he died in the Lord. And now "he rests from his labors, and his works do follow him." May all connected with him follow his pious ex ample, and thus follow him to glory.

DIED-In Schuyler County, Ill., on the 17th of December, Mrs. Marx Reddick, wife of Mr. John Reddick, and daughter of the late William and Rosanna Clark, in the 36th year of her age. Again we are reminded of the shortness and uncertainty of life. In the family of which the deceased was a member, death's visits during the last few years have been very frequent. He called for the aged father and mother and the answer was "I am ready;" he called little prattling in fants, and they gently closed their eyes in death; again he called for one in the vigor and strength of manhood, and he quietly and cheerfully yielded up his spirit; and now he would come and call the sister who was endeared to them all. and around whom their hearts' affections were entwined; their language would be, "O Death! spare us at least this one " but she without a nurmur, bade them all adieu, and in the triumphs of that faith which she had for many years professed, left the scenes of earth, and passed away: to that rest which remains for God's children. Her disease was pulmonary. She had been for some time watching the slow but sure approach of death, and when at last he came, he found member of the Presbyterian church. Having early given herself to the Saviour and to his service, the lived a consistent Christian life, and died in hope of a blissful immortality. Although cut off from life in the midst of her years, and called with short warning to leave a sorrowing husband, and a helpless babe, but a few days old, yet she obtained grace to be entirely resigned to the will of God, and even to express a desire "to depart and be with Christ, which is far better." Her faith, always humble and child-like, was at times joyful and triumphant, in view of death and a coming Saviour. She manifested the patience of a Christian in the severest sufferings; and atlast, without a struggle, gently fell asleep in Jesus.

DIED—At the residence of her son, George W. Griffith, in Sunbury County, O., on the 20th of December, REBROCA GRIFFITH, in the 87th year She was born in Cecil County, Maryland, in 1770, and united in marriage to John Griffith in 1794. In the year 1798 they moved to Washington County, Pa., and from thence to Monroe County Ohio, in the Spring of 1831. In the year 1841, she was bereaved of her husband, but has since been cared for by kind and affectionate children. For the last twenty-eight years Mother Griffith has been a consistent and faithful member of the Presbyterian Church. [Copy defective.] On the evening preceding her death she retired in her usual health, and in the morning was found lifeless on the floor near her bed : but doubtless her faith, so strong in life, was stronger in death; and although in her final conflict no earthly friend stood near to utter cheering words and smooth her dying pillow, yet surely Christ was with her as she passed through the "dark valley;" and if her notes of "victory in death through our Lord Jesus Christ," were unheard by earthly friends, they were heard by friends in heaven, when her ransomed spirit dropped from angels' wings before the throne of God, took up her golden harp and sung the first strain of that fo immortal song of saints, "Worthy is the Lamb
