Newburyport has been visited with a precious Season of Refreshing from the Lord. Over three hundred persons profess to have nassed from death to life, in connexion with the different Evangelical Churches. Here. as in many other places, young men seem to have been the special subjects of this blessed work. At one inquiry meeting, no less than seventy men were present, between the ages of sixteen and thirty.

The Ladies of Bangor, Me., and vicinity, have come up to the help of the Theological Seminary in that place, and have raised $6,000 for the erection of a suitable chapel.

The dock for the great "Leviathan," lately launched, has been made ready for her arrival at Portland, with the best arrangements for loading and unloading on this Continent. When Victoria Bridge, at Montreal, is completed, (which will be in a short time.) Portland will have an unbroken Railroad connexion with Detroit, eight hundred and fifty miles distant, of uniform gauge throughout.

NEW YORK.

This City exhibits the same excitement and engrossing pursuit as formerly. Every thing connected with business must move with rapid pace, or it will not be endured. The quiet progress of former days is discarded by many, and held in contempt by some. And yet late events have proved that those who have been satisfied with moderate returns, and have avoided great risks. or schemes of questionable propriety, have really made the most rapid advances. These have stood firm, while the more venturesome gone down, not unfrequently dragging others with them.

Inquiries are beginning to be made with regard to the Conduct of Policemen, in extorting money from the innocent, and accepting bribes from the guilty, who fall into their hands. This system seems to have been carried to a great extent, so that many look upon the protectors of the public with almost the same regard as upon its enemies. It has been announced that hereafter the strictest scrutiny will be exercised in this matter, and merited punishment visited upon the unfaithful officers.

Father Gaudentius has left Brooklyn for his calm and peaceful retreat in the borough of Birmingham, near Pittsburgh; but before his departure, he kindly left with healing the sick and diseased. The mantle has made a requisition, for his apprehension of this Roman Catholic father has fallen on a layman, a teacher of music and languages, Mr. J. Lowendahl, from Prussia. By passing the hand over the affected part of the body, without the use of any medicine, he has been curing paralytics, the blind, the lame, and the neuralgic; but only in cases solicited in charity. This remedy is certainly more easily applied than Allopathy, Hydropathy, or even Homocopathy. But, seriously, such imposture as this, in our day, is almost beyond endurance.

The Trustees of the New York Inchriate Asylum, held a meeting last week, in Albany, when it was determined to make a final location of the Institution by the first of May, and to commence the necessary buildings at once after that time. Every Christian must rejoice to learn that he Religious Interest manifested some time ago, continues to advance, and to extend its influence among all the Evangelical denominations. Scarcely a church can be found where the preaching is not more earnest, the attendance larger, the people more attentive, and inquirers more numerous than at any previous time for many years. The events of the past few months have been such as to lead true Christians to press more closely to the mercy seat, to pray with more and less scrupulous, have, in many instances, faith, and to be more diligent in the discharge of every Christian duty. It is especially cheering to know that the claims of This Winter, even Charity has become a religion are beginning to be felt by that rage, and has entered the lists among the large, and hitherto much neglected class, fashionable amusements. With equal earnestness do we deprecate the publication of a late work bearing the same name, and also its sale by Christian booksellers. To give currency to such things is an offence against sound morality, for which no trivial gains can make compensation.

A Union Meeting of pastors and people of the different Presbyterian churches (Old School) is held every Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. The exercises consist in singing, exhortation, and prayer; and the services are held in rotation in the different churches. These meetings have been well attended, and much interest seems to have been excited. A similar service has also been held, with equally happy results, in the New School churches.

Johnstown, Feb. 27, 1858. DR. McKinney:-The intelligence that our little congregation here has recently been favored with a spirit of revival, will be rereaders of the Banner.

On the Monday evening previous to the meeting of the Presbytery of Blairsville. on the 18th inst., a meeting was commenced. Dr. Joseph Smith, of Greensburg, preached three evenings in succession, with great acceptability, to large audiences. On Thursday afternoon, the 18th inst., the Presbytery met, and after electing Rev. Mr. Fulton, Moderator, spent a part of the after. noon in a conference on revivals. On this subject, Rev. Messes. Torrance, Gillett, and Harbison, made earnest and interesting addresses. In the evening a very large audience assembled to witness the ordination installation of Rev. B. L. Agnew as the fourth pastor of this congregation. The sermon was preached by Rev. N. H. Gillett, the charge to the pastor was delivered by Rev. A. Torrence, and to the people by Rev. D. Harbison. These exercises were solemn and impressive. Our communion was held last Sabbath. when fifteen united with the church, eleven of whom were upon examination. Our meetings are still continued, and five have united with the church on examination, since last Sabbath, making twenty in all. Rev. Albert Clark labored with us part of this week, and to him, as well as Dr. Smith and Rev. Mr. Torrance, the congre-

New York, Feb. 20, 1858. Mr. Editor :- A Business Men's Union Prayer Meeting is daily held, from 12 to 1 o'clock, in the John Street Methodist Church, 44 John Street, a few doors East of Broadway.

Already have we seen and heard enough of the results of these meetings to make us firm in the conviction, that if all Christians throughout the and were faithful, as they have opportunity, we would hear, one united shout of praise going up from all the people, because of salvation that has come to all men. It must be evident that we have come to all men. It must be evident that we have a right to ask this favor of you, for many of the readers of your journal are directly (all are, indirectly, at least,) interested in what is transpiring in the metropolis of our country, because of the sons, brothers, or friends they have here, whom they would like to have interested in these things. And we would take this opportunity of impressing upon the parents or friends of all such young would like to have interested in these things. engle (who may be one of the one hundred and fiffy thousand, between the age of sixteen and thirty five, we have in our city.) that a line, with the address, business or residence, directed to "E.," Box 3,841, will ensure them a personal invitation to attend these meetings, and similar ones held especially for young men; at the rooms of the "Young Men's Christian Association," 82 Waverly Place. It is proper to state that many of the most thoughtless, reckless, yea, heaven-defying young men, have, within a few weeks, changed views and aims, and are now "clothed in their right mind." We hope any who read this, when visiting our feel perfectly "at home" in these nestings, and we will be glad to hear from comp. ry friends always. It is well for it to be understood, that these meetings are a Union of Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, Episcopal, Reformed outch, and Presbyterian brethren, with one comnon aim of advancing the Cause of Truth and lighteousness in the earth, especially in our own

The Annual Report of the Trustees of the Farmer's High School of Pennsylvania, for 1857. is a document of very great value. The School is situated in Centre County, some nine or ten miles from Bellefonte. The Trustees hold four hundred acres of excellent land, mostly limestone, They are getting it under cultivation, and have suitable buildings in the process of erection.

The accuracy and system with which Agricul ture and Horticulture, in all their branches, will be attended; the experiments with soils, plants, manures, grains, grasses, &c., &c., which will be carefully made and accurately recorded, must all. be of immense advantage. And then the Education. Mathematical, Linguistic, and Scientific, as well as Agricultural, will render the School emiently desirable.

There is The deceased was long a consistent member of the church of Montours; and though, in consequence of bodily infirmities; she was much detained from the public sanctuary; yet, in ther own home, she found God ever near and gracious. Although remarkably impressed with a sense of her unworthiness, yet she never, even for a moment, seemed to doubt her acceptance with God, through his Son, in whom alone she trusted. Though her bodily sufferings, for a considerable time previous to the immediate approach of death, were very intense, yet at last she sank calmly to rest without a single struggle. M.

It was not the privilege of the writer of this have been long acquainted with the deceased He saw her, however, ministering around the death-bed of her departed mother, who preceded her but a few weeks to the spirit land; and again by the sick; bed of her surviving husband and last of all; in her own final illness; and throughout, she exhibited the temper and spirit of a disciple of Jesus. Having professed her faith in, and love for him on earth, we humbly trust she has gone " to be with Christ, which is far better."

-On Monday, February 8th, at 4 o'clock 1. M., Mrs. MARY CAROLINE, wife of M. M. Naturally of a retiring disposition, her worth could only be appreciated by those who knew her nost intimately; and yet she was an ornament in all the relations of life, ever manifesting the spirit of a consistent and humble Christian. She taken out by Wednesday's steamer shad been was ever a welcome guest to the social circle, by the enjoyments of those around her. As a friend and counselor, she was kind and prudent. As a daughter and sister, she filled the character of a true and loving woman. During her last sickness, which continued about ten days, although all the time suffering intensely, she was patient and uncomplaining. Although her disease was of such a character (causing her mind to wander,) as to prevent a full expression of her views in the near approach of death, yet even in sickness she has left a glorious testimony to the power of Almighty grace to sustain even in the dying hour.

BY HENRY J. RIPLEY. Imo: Cloth. 67 cents.

In presenting this work to the public, it is proper to cal attention to a single, but most important characteristic. In respect to which the work will compare favorably with others of the same class. The author has expended his chief strength on the difficult passages, and devoted but little space to the rest. He has proceeded on the principle that comment on what every one can understand is superfluous. The notes are "chiefly explanatory."

For Sabbath School instruction, the work will be found especially valuable.
