The people of this city cherish, with great ndness, the Memory of Washington. And a roposition has been made to erect a bronze olossal equestrian statue of him, in Washington Park, at an expense of $75,000.

The Undisguised Infidelity of the Westminste Seview has been long known to the readers of the oreign Quarterlies. But because of the talent Isplayed in many of its articles, and from the hot that it was published in connexion with the ther Quarterlies, it has attained a wider circula ion, and escaped with milder criticisms, than ould have been possible under other circumtances. But this forbearance must soon come to end, if it persists in its present course. The hiladelphia Mercantile Library Association, to s great oredit, discontinued it, immediately after a appearance of the article styled the "Reliious Weakness of Protestantism." This article reats Christianity as a thing of the past, and the atholic Church as its only representative. I he publishers will continue the re-print of this eview, they will soon be compelled to seek its upport exclusively from its infidel sympathizers. At the late meeting of the Presbytery of Philcommodious church edifice has been d, and the prospects for the future are bright Another church, under the name of the North road Street church, has been lately organized, ear the spot lately occupied by the large tent, there many young men were hopefully converted o God, during last Summer. Some of these nited with others in asking this organization, which, from its position, and the number and neans engaged in the work, promises great usealness in a part of the city hitherto destitute. The Tenth church, of which Dr. Boardman has o long been the efficient pastor. has sustained a Jabbath School, for several years, in that dark listrict, Moyamensing. The teachers had much discourage them, but they persevered, and now hey are permitted to see the fruits of their labors a flourishing church, of which the Rev. Wilard M. Rice is pastor elect. This church is to e known as the "Moyamensing Presbyterian burch." The Tenth church will not cast it of o struggle for itself, but will, as long as it ay be necessary, pay that part of the salary of he pastor that the church cannot meet.

That part of the city lying West of the chuvlkill is known as West Philadelphia. Here he Rev. Charles H. Ewing has been laboring for me time, with much success, and a church has een organized. The church edifice will be erected a lot donated for that purpose by the venerable Ars. Miller, widow of the late Dr. Miller, of Princeton, and sister of the late Hon. John Sereant. The church is to be called the "Princeon church of West Philadelphia." Although the ale members are but few, and actively engaged business for themselves, they have assured Ir. Ewing that they will relieve him from all sponsibility in soliciting funds for building puroses, by taking the burden of this work entirely inemselves.
