And a bill is now before the legislature requiring the Executive to report to the legislature the number of pardons granted every year, and also to lay before them the evidences on which the pardons plication, simply, is not to be sufficient; the reasons must be given in writing, properly future governors may find it more difficult vigilance. to set aside the law and the testimony against villains, than it has been for some time past.

Henry Ward Beecher has been announced as a regular contributor to the Independent, that it is not looked upon as something new. for the present year. But, judging from and consequently the daily papers take less the commencement made, his papers will contain much in the way of defending himself and the Plymouth church, of which he daily prayer meetings are well attended, and is pastor. Formerly, he paid but little the Sabbath services, and other meetings in attention to newspaper attacks, or to animadversions upon his conduct and doctrine: but latterly he has changed his course, and has put himself on the defensive. What | Rev. O. M. Todd has been released from may be the particular cause of this, we are unable to tell. It may be that he has become a little sore under the many raspings. to which he has been subjected; or it may be that he has determined to turn round, and in his own way entirely demolish the whole tribe of assailants. Some time ago, Society connected with the congregation of Theodore Parker, for which he was taken to task by the Examiner, and other leading Rev. JOHN HUNTER was recently installed journals. To these he replied in a letter much more objectionable than was the act Rev. WM. MATTHEWS was installed pastor complained of. Next, his congregation let out its pews for the year at an aggregate of some $25,000, and by the high rates at which they were rented, some four hundred Rev. Dr. STRATTON, of Natchez, Mississmembers of the church were unable to obtain sittings. This was made the subject of comment by the papers generally. Mr. Beecher hastened to make a characteristic reply. After this, the Observer set itself to work to "show up" the heterodoxy contained in the letter on the subject of the lecture for the benefit of the Society con- Rev. J. M. Worral, of Covington, Ky., nected with Parker's church. This week, the redoubtable Mr. Beecher is out after the Observer. And next week we expect to Rev. A. Shotwell's Post Office address is see him "pitching into" a communication in the Presbyterian of this week, headed "Infidelity in Brooklyn." At this rate, he will be able to fill his engagement to the Independent and fight his own battles at the same time.

The Methodist Book Concern has become a most prolific publisher, sending forth annually, 3,344,312 pages. Its daily issues Rev. Wm. Bannard, of Madison Avenue amount to 11,147; its hourly, 1,114; and 18 every minute.

The success of Professor Mitchell's Lec tures has been astonishing. To behold some four thousand people assembled one hour before the time for the commencement of a lecture on Astronomy, is a spectacle not often witnessed. So much enthusiasm has been awakened, that the erection of the contemplated Observatory is not doubted. It is supposed that the most favorable site will be in the New Park, because of less liability to any undue oscillation from cars. machinery, drays, carriages, &c.

The anxiety to have Mr. Spurgeon visit this city, is becoming greater every week and it is reported that a Baptist minister has sailed for Eorope, for the purpose of inducing him to be present at the Anniversaries in May. But the most reliable information on the matter, is that given by our London Correspondent, last week, who says that Mr. Spurgeon told him, a few days before, that he would sail for this country on the first day of April next.

Foreign Intelligence.

The news from Liverpool, is to Jan. 22d. The state of affairs on the Continent was exceedingly unsettled. The symptoms of a conflict between Austria and France continue. France has sent two additional regiments to Rome. Prussia has signified her sympathy with Austria. The preservation of the peace of Europe depends much on Russia and England, the former of which inclines to the French side of the question, and the latter to the Austrian; but neither has spoken decidedly. The news from India is favorable. The coun try is becoming quiet.

Obituary.

DIED .- At Sewickleyville, Pa., on the 12th of legember, 1858, Mrs. Eliza Cole, daughter the late Robert Anderson, Esq., in the 53d year

But few are called to pass a life of greater vi cissitudes, both delightful and painful, to abound more in acts of usefulness, to endure more for the Gospel's sake, or to experience more of the power and blessedness of Divine grace than did this saint, now at rest. In early life she made the Saviour of sinners her choice, and never did she falter in the service she had chosen. No fascinations of pleasure could turn her aside from following the great Master; nor could threatenings intimidate her from a profession of his name. The pathway of her Christian life was not the Another Great Cure Effected by Bærhave's Holland smooth and agreeable one, along which most who bear the name of Christ are permitted to Jesus. But none of these things moved her; she clung to the cross more firmly, and continually increased in devotedness and zeal. Secret prayer, reading of holy Scripture, the family altar, the prayer-meeting, and the sanctuary, were the delight of her soul; and neither entreaty nor threatening could induce her to neglect them. And as becometh women professing godliness she adorned herself with good works. In the social circle she was always welcome, but never was she so happy as when relieving the poor. nursing the sick, or strengthening the weak and desponding. Her purse was always open to the calls of charity, and her hand was ever ready to meet the demands of duty. Indeed during the last few years, her great object, as was apparent to all, was to live for God in seeking the welfare of others. Her mother, brothers, and sisters, have lost one who loved them fondly, the Church a nost devoted member, and the poor and the sick one who felt much and did much for them. She rests from her labors, and her works do follow her.

DIED-At Chapel Hill, N. C., December 3d, SUSAN AGNES, wife of Wm. J. Martin, Professor in the University of North Carolina, and formerly Professor of Natural Science in Washington Co lege, Pa., aged 24 years. Also, at Richmond, Va., December 27th, FANNIE KEMPER, only child of Prof. Martin, aged 2 years. Mysterious beyond human comprehension is to the sadness of bereavement and solitude. A andden reverse deprived him of the wife of his youth, after the crisis of danger was supposed to have been safely passed: and the agony of solicfactured by FLEMING BROS. of PITTSBURGH, itude in behalf of his motherless child, was PA. Mrs. Martin was a lady of unusual levelines of character. Amiability, gentleness, candor, and cheerfulness, were beautifully blended in her disposition, whilst the graces of the Spirit shed their fragrance over her whole life. B.

DIED-In Philadelphia, on the 20th inst., after four years of constant pain and suffering, with consumption and affection of the spine, MARY BOARDMAN VARNEY, wife of the Rev. Miles T.

She fell asleep in Jesus, in calm and holy resignation to the will of her Heavenly Father, in hope of a glorious immortality. Her disease was beyond the power of medicine. The most eminent surgeons and physicians were consulted, and could do nothing for her relief. For years past she was not able to lie down to rest, but had to lean against a support, and then to change her position for relief very frequently, day and night. She bore her great debility and sufferings with the utmost patience and fortitude. Although wearisome days, and nights, and years were allotted her, yet she never murmured nor repined against Him who appointed them all. Not many hours before her departure, she said, "The Lord will give me rest in his own good time." She retained her reason until the last, and then breathed out her soul into the hands of her Redeemer so peacefully and gently, that death came like a sweet sleep to one that is weary. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth." She has left this life of trial, suffering, and sin, forever. She sleeps in Jesus, in hope of a glorious re-union, one day again, with those she loved. Her friends' loss is her unspeakable and eternal gain. Her bereaved companion and daughter are smitten, but the hand of their Father in heaven has done it, and he doeth all things well. R.

This book describes, in a very pleasing manner, the fen successive manifestations of the Saviour in his bodily presence, after his resurrection, and, indeed, tells all that is known about him during the days that intervened tetween that event and his ascension. The author draws many beautiful and important lessons from the Scripture narratives which he explains, and in his hands they prove to be rich in instruction to a very remarkable degree.
Although this book has been published but a few weeks, a second edition is already called for.

BY A. S. HAYDEN,

Has uniformly given so far as the Publishers know, entire satisfaction to all Churches and Musical Associations that have used it. Scores of practical teachers have prised the booksand have it now in their schools. But the fact that it has reached so many editions, has attained a sale of between between ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND AND TWO HUNDRED ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND AND TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES.

and is now in larger demand than ever, has, if anything can, taken the work out of the domein of criticism.

Two reasons will chiefly account for the great success of this volume:

First—The Oharacter of the Work. It represents a new and greatly improved system of notation. In it much that is abstruce and difficult in this delightful science, is so simplified that months are made equal to year in the common way of learning the practice of musical art.

BROND—The Quality: and; Style of Music. Many new pieces, destined to please as long as music lasts, may be found on its pages, and also many of the old and tried melodies, hallowed from associated recollections of sanctuary delights, and far more welcome to the heart of the worshipper than others frequently substituted for them.

The mechanical execution of the work is superior altogether to the majority of Eastern Music Books, and the price much lower.

The work may be had of Booksellers in all the principal cities and towns, or may be ordered direct from the Publishers.
