EASTERN SUMMARY. Boston and New England.

The Boston Tract Society has at length formally separated from the American Tract Society, at goes out of his way to attack them, as some of New York. The resolution to this effect passed his Church do when occasion serves, although without debate. Many were opposed to such when it suits their purposes they are profuse action; but to say anything against the movement | in expressions of regard for other denominations. would have been in vain, as its advocates were We are heartily tired of the cry against sectarianable and determined to carry the measure at all ism, by those who in the end prove to be the hazards. Nor was the separation effected in any most sectarian of all. very kindly spirit. For the following resolution, proposed by Dr. Copp, was indefinitely postponed, after quite a number declaring publicly that it did not contain a true expression of the feelings entertained by this Society toward the one at

New York: Resolved, That in dissolving a counexion with the American Tract Society at New York, which for thirty four years has been signally beneficial to both Societies, and a measure of extended usefulness to the cause of Christ in the world, we desire to proceed with tenderness and Christian courtesy, and to separate from our brethren in the exercise of charity and forbearance in respect to the difference of opinion which divides our counsels, and with no other feelings toward them than love and a sincere desire that the wisdom which is from above may guide all their future operations. And now, having receded from the connexion which has existed for so many years of useful co-operation to our original state, we shall continue to entertain feelings of Christian regard toward the American Tract Society at New York, and hope so to conduct our operations that all just causes of strife between us may be avoided, and as far as possible to sustain in harmony and peace with them as brethren and Christians, having in the main the same great objects in view. The Hon. George N. Briggs was elected President, and a large number of Vice Presidents and Directors were appointed, together with an Executive Committee, Secretaries, Treasurers, and Auditors.

The Annual Meeting of the Congregational Li orary Associations was held on Tuesday of last week. According to the Report, there are now 2,300 members, being an increase of 680 for the last year. During the same time, 876 bound volumes, 1,980 pamphlets, 125 manuscripts, and 19 periodicals have been added to the library. The total number of volumes is 5,627, of pamphlets 16,680, of manuscripts 471, of periodicals 88, all in good preservation, and obtained without the cost of a dollar to the Society. The annual address was by the Rev. John Todd, upon the subject assigned him, viz., "Meeting Houses." The address is said to have been characterized by sound sense, wit, and many happy hits at modern innovations and popular usage. New York.

Viewed in this light, the quarterly submitted to the Commissioners of Police, the other day, is worthy of attention. During the last three months, the number of arrests, by the police, has been 16,858, an increase on the previous three months of 2,593. Of these, 2,102 were married, and 8,256 unmarried; 11,147 could read and write, 5,211 could not; 9,409 were males, and 4,814 were females; of those thus arrested, 8,216 were born in the of 1859. The Baptist Convention composed of delegates from fourteen Northern States, after much discussion, prepared the way for a movement that will, in the end, bring about a consolidation of most of the Baptist Societies. And the Examiner reiterates its former statement that to get a dollar into the hands of a missionary or colporteur through the treasuries of the American Baptist Publication Society, the American and Foreign Bible Society, and the American Baptist Home Mission Society, costs fifty cents, and that it is not uncommon for an agents salary and expenses to equal sixty or seventy cents on every dollar actually collected by him. The day has come when the expenditures and efficiency of all the Societies that expect a continuance of the patronage of the Christian public; must undergo close and careful scrutiny. They are entitled to confidence, and to maintain it the highest degree of June. The "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," efficiency must be combined with the utmost efforts to prevent any useless outlay.

The Rev. Wm. J. Hoge, lately Professor in Union Theological Seminary, Va., was installed as associate pastor with Rev. Dr. Spring, of the Brick church, corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Seventh Street, on the evening of last Sabbath week. The capacious edifice was filled to its utmost capacity, both in the pews and the aisles. The sermon was preached by the venerable pastor, Rev. Dr. Spring, from Exedus vi : 12. The Rev. Frederick G. Clark, Moderator of the Presbytery of New York, presided, and proposed the constitutional questions. The Rev. Dr. Krebs gave the charge to Mr. Hoge, and the Rev. Dr. Potts to the people. Dr. Spring has stood longer at his post than any minister of any denomination in this city or vicinity, and the occasion of the installation of an associate was very interest. ing and very solemn.

By Major Daniel H. Hill, of North Carolina. 16mo., 76 cts.

An expository treatise of this kind, from the pen of a mathematician and a military man, is certainly a novelty. But the claims of this book by no means rest on its novelty alone. It is really an excellent treatise, and all the more attractive because it is sui generis. We confess to a much higher appreciation of the Sermon on the Mount. since reading it, than we ever had before. His logical mind seems to dwell with pleasure on the logical order of that inimitable discourse, and he makes his reader shere that pleasure. The spirit of the writer is worthy of all praise, and we most cordially commend his work to our readers as one which, while it is sure to instruct and profit, possesses also a peculiar power to secure and hold the interested attention of those who peruse it.—Exampleical Repository.

4. Its portability; as it can be transported from place to place without taking off the outler bar, or taking out the knife, being ready in a moment for cutting or transporting.

This volume is destined to create a profounder sensation in this country than any philosophical or religious work of this century. It is a defence of revealed religion. equal in ability to the "Analogy" of Bishop Butler, and meets the skepticism of our age as effectually as that great, work in an earlier day. The Pantheism and Parkerism inused into our popular literature will here find an antidote. The Lectures excited the highest enthusiasm at Oxford, and the volume has already reached a third edition in England. The copious "Notes" of the author have been translated for the American edition by an accomplished scholar, which

The work is likely to prove the most popular of Hugh Miller's writings, and to attain the widest circulation. It is written in his best style, and makes the mysteries of geology intelligible to the common mind. As an architect explains the structure of a house from cellar to attic, so this accomplished geologist takes the globes to pieces, and explains the manner in which all its strata, have been formed, from the granite foundation to the alluvial surface. It supplies just the information which many readers have been longing for, but unable to find.

This noble volume, so long and eagerly expected, introduces Sir William Hamilton to the American People. He has ranked for years among scholars as the acutest and most profound writer on Metaphysics in the English tongue. But common readers have been often repelled by the very subtlety of his thought and the exactness of his tyle. This volume, like the best efforts of Webster, combines the profoundest thinking with clear and popular statement. It is, without coubt, the best work of its kind ever published in this country, and while it gratifies the New England taste for metaphysical discussions, will put at rest certain great questions in theology and philosophy which have long been mooted. It overturns from the foundations the science of Phrenolagy as taught by Spurahelm and Combe. eim and Combe Copies of these works forwarded by mail, on receipt fe28-1y
