For the Presbyterian Banner and Advocate. On the Death of a Child. My dearest babe! my darling child ! Now far, far from me gone ; Thou hast been taken from my arms, My precious little one.

When on thy smiling face I gazed. And on thy lovely eye; Ah! little did I think, sweet babe, That thou so soon shouldst die.

In yonder village church-yard green. Thy little grave is made ; Thy tender form, of marble white, Within the tomb is laid.

But angels bore thy spirit up To the bright world above; Where thou wilt dwell forevermore, In happiness, my love.

Then I will wipe my tears away, And weep no more for thee; For thou art happier than e'er Thou on this earth could be. ... M.A.M'C.

for the Ladies.

The Art of Not Hearing. In dedicating what follows to the ladies, we It would not be proper for us to mention would by no means intimate that they alone names, or we could illustrate this by numerare to be benefited by the advice. The gentlemen also, sometimes, greatly need a topper for their ears. We address the matter to our female friends because they, mainly, have the education of our sons as employing all your time usefully. Never well as of our daughters; and also because be unemployed. The land is full of idlers, vell as of our daughters ; and also because we know that gentlemen are exceedingly curious to know how the ladies are advised. We would have both to read and profit. The art of not hearing should be taught | tive labor, it will probably be healthful and n every well-regulated family. It is full as mportant to domestic happiness as a cultivated ear, for which so much money and ime are expended. There are so many he may be innocent and amiable. things which it is painful to hear-many which we ought not to hear-very many which, if heard, will disturb the temper, corrupt simplicity and modesty, detract from contentment and happiness; that every one hould be educated to take in or shut out sounds, according to their pleasure. If a man falls into a violent passion, and alls me all manner of names, the first word shuts my ears, and I hear no more. If, in my quiet voyage of life, I find myself caught in one of those domestic whirlwinds of scolding, I shut my ears, as a sailor would furl his sails, and making all tight, soud before the gale. If a hot and restless man begins to inflame my feelings, I consider what mischief these fiery sparks may do in the magzine below where my temper is kept, and nstanly close the door. Does a gadding, mischief making fellow begin to inform me what people are saying about me, down drops the portcullis of my ear, and he cannot get in any farther. Does the collector of a neighborhood's scandal ask my car as a warehouse, it instinctively shuts up. Some people seem anxious to hear everything that will yex and annoy them. If it is hinted that any one This spoken evil of them, they set about search ng the matter, and finding out. If all the petty things said of one by heedless or illnatured idlers were to be brought home to him, he would become a mere walking pincushion, stuck full of sharp remarks. I should as soon thank a man for emptying upon my bed a bushel of nettles, or setting cose a swarm of ants in my chamber, or raising a pungent dust in my house generally, as to bring in upon me all the tattle of reless or spiteful people. If you would be happy, when among good men, open your cars; when among bad, shut them. And as the throat has a muscular arrangement by which it takes care of the air passages of its TAMILY BIBLES. own accord, so the ears should be trained to an automatic dullness of hearing ! It is not worth while to hear what your servants say when they are angry; what your children say after they have slammed the door; what our neighbors say about your children; what your rivals say about your business, your dress, or your affairs.

This art of not hearing, though untaught in the schools, is by no means unknown, or unpracticed in society. I have noticed that NEW STAR PAPERs; or, Views and Experiences a well-bred woman never hears an impertiof. Religious. Subjects. By Henry Ward Beecher. Pp. 403. New York: Derby & Jackson. Pittsburgh: John S. Davison. 1859. from much blame from not a little apparent Effects will follow causes : as a man sows, so shall he reap; boyhood is the seed time, of which minhood is the harvest. Form, then, the habit, while young, of striving to live without labor. It is not to be supposed that you are not to take any. recreation; this is useful, it is necessary but if it come after hard study or produc moderate. It is not to be supposed that a boy is to be a man-much less an old man;

but in the midst of his mirth and hilarity,

Don't Tattle.

Children, don't talk about each other. Do n't call one of your schoolmates ugly, another stingy, another cross, behind their backs. It is the meanest sort of sin. Even if they are ugly, stingy, or cross, it does you no good to repeat it. It makes you love to tell of faults it makes you uncharitable-your soul grows smaller-your heart loses its generous blood, when you tattle about your friends. Tell all the good you know about them, and carry their sins in your own heart; or tell them to God, and ask him to pardon them. That will be Christ-like. If anybody says to you, "O! that Mary Willis did such a naughty thing !" call to mind some virtue that Mary possesses, and hold it up to her praise. For your own sake, learn to make this a habit .--

SPECIFICS FOR CONSUMPTION.

SYRUP OF THE HYPOPHOSPHITES,

Composed of the Hypophosphites of Lime.

Soda, Potassa, and Iron.

Soda, Potassa, and Iron. These remedies were brought to notice by Dr. John Francis Churchill, ian eminent physician of Dublin, and have attracted much attention from the medical profession. To give, a general idea of their artion, we make the follow-ing extracts from Dr. Churchill's Paret "On the Proximate Cause and Specific Remedy of Tuberculosis," read before the Academy of Medicine, Paris, July, 1867. Says Dr. C.---"The total number of cases of Phthisis treated by me amounts to thirty-five. All were either in the second or third stages of the complaint; that is, they had either softened tubercles or cavities in the lungs: of the disease dis-appearing altogether in eight out of that number; elsven improved considerably, and fourteen died. The results will be found to justify the following conclusions: "The proximate cause, or at all events an essential con-dition of the tubercular diathesis, is the decrease in the system of the phosphorus which it contains in an oxygoni-rable state. "The specific remindy of the disease consists in the use of

rable state. "The specific remady of the disease consists in the use of a preparation of phosphorus, unling the two conditions, being in such a state that it may be directly assimilated, and at the same time at the lowest possible degree of oxy-ation. "The effects of these sails upon the tubercular diathesis

¹ "The effects of these saits upon the tubercular disthesis is immediate; all the general symptoms of the disease dis-appearing with a rapidity which is really marvelong. If the pathological depasit produced by the dyscracy is of re-cent formation, if softening has only just set in, and does not proceed too rapidity, the tubërcles: are re-shorbed and disappear. When the softening has attained a certain de-gree, it sometimes continues in spite of the treatment; and the issue of the disease then depends upon an anatomical condition of the local lesion, on 'its extent, and 'upon the existence or non-existence of complications. I have made numerous attempts to modify the local condition of the large by the inhalation of different substances, but have never obtained any satisfactory result independent of what was to be attributed to the specific treatment. The Hypo-phosphites are certain prophylactics against tubercular disease.

phosphites are certain prophylactics against tubercular disease. "The physiological effects show these preparations to have a two-fold action; on the one hand they increase the principle, whatever that may be, which constitutes ner-yous force, and on the other, they elevate the tone of the reveral functions concerned in alimentation and nutrition. They seem to possess, in the highest degree, all the thera-pentical properties formerly attributed by different ob-servers to phosphorus itself, without any of the danger which attends the mes, of that substance. The different preparations of Hypophosphorus Acid will undonbtedly occupy one of the mest important places in the Materia Medica."

occupy one of the most important places in the Mistoria Medica." The success of this treatment being so, much in advance of anything before attained in the management of this heretoiore almost incurable disease, calls for a thorough testing of these remedies. With this view, the combination here offered in the form of Syrup has been made. The beneficial effects of these fails are not limited to Consumption alone; they are appropriate remedies in a large class of affections, resulting from loss of nervous force, Dyspepsia, Ecrofula, debilitated conditions of Females, lack of vital action in Children, and where the osseous system is, defective. Understanding, the chemical nature of these Salts, physicians will be enabled to use them in a large class of diseases where they seem to be indicated. We have every advantage in manafacturing, these arti-cles. The Dry Salts we have been engaged in mannfac-turing largely since they were first brought to notice, and we know them to be strictly reliable. The Syrup is a com-bination of, the Salts, containing a little over five grains to ithe tesspound, and is the most pleasant-form for taking them.

Temperance.

At a meeting of the friends of Temper ance, citizens of Armstrong County, Pa. and others, assembled in Rural Village June 8th. 1859.

On motion, Robert Wilson, of Wayne Township, was chosen President; and John Hood, of Valley Township; Elias Pontius; of Wayne Township; Jonathan McCleymond, of Plum Creek Township; James Reed and Joshua Craft, of Cowanshanoc Township; and David Sloan, of New Alexandria, were chosen Vice Presidents; and James H. Ewing, of Rural Valley, Secre-

On motion, Rev. J. E. Caruthers, Wm. MoIntosh, and Nathaniel Bryan, were ap-pointed a Business Committee to prepare resolutions for the action of the Convention. The exercises of the day were opened by a sermon preached by Rev. G W. Mechlin, of Glade Run, based on 1. Thes. v: 22-"Abstain from all appearance of evil." After which,

On motion, the Convention was addressed by Rev. Pierce.

The Business Committee having returned, On motion, their report was heard, and after some remarks by the Chairman of the Committee, was accepted. The resolutions being taken up singly and discussed by Revs. Mechlin, Duff, Pierce, Morgan, and Caruthers; also, by Messrs. Hutchinson, Craft, Bryan, etc., were adopted, and are as follows : WHEREAS, The evils of Intemperance are terrible, deadly, and alarmingly on the increase; and,

WHEREAS. The serpent coils of the de stroyer are closing in deadly folds around thousands of our dearest youth ; therefore, Resolved, That license laws, however stringent, do really but stamp the traffic in ardent spirits with the high sanction of civil authority; therefore such enactments should be branded as outlawry by a moral and religious community. Resolved, That the suppression of known and deadly evils is a legitimate object of leg-islation and civil enactment.

Resolved, That in a Government constituted as ours, the power is in the breasts of the people; and whilst the people succoumb to the power and influence of liquor leagues, and vote for the candidate that treats ino suitable enactment can be secured, or if secured, could not be enforced.

Resolved, That if we would secure the enactment of a probibitory law, or carry out the provisions of such a law if enacted, we must cultivate a sound moral sentiment on eyes, and ears open." If there is any sweet thing the subject.

Another delightful and instructive book for the young from the press of Sheldon & Company. Its object is to teach the necessity of entire truthfulness in every thing pertaining to the training of children and the conduct of life.' May this little book have many readers, and may its lessons be carefully pondered.

portage, St. Clair Street. The author of these addresses has been for several years Superintendent of a Sabbath School in which all the classes have the same lesson and use the same question book every Sabbath. When circumstances, would allow, he has been in the habit of recalling the attention of the chill dren, just before the close of the school, to the subject of the lesson-sometimes to a single verse or question, or to a merely incidental topic." These addresses, have been collected and pub-lished in the little volume before us. The idea is a very happy one. We can heartily commend the book to Sabbath Schools, teachers, and Su-? perintendents. It will be a happy day for our Sabbath Schools, when addresses such as these will take the place of the meaningless and insipid speeches that take so much time from the regular best ; besides; I ve got twenty five cents duties of the school, and that could be occupied so much more profitably by each teacher attending to his or her own class. EVERY DAY, FAULTS ILLUSTBATED IN, BRIEF NAR-BATIVES. Written for the Board of Publication. Pn Ing.
