there are times and circumstances when it is their bounden duty to do the full citizen's part, as well as to bear a citizen's responsibilities. There are those who regard the present as such a time; and among these we find our valued friend, Rev. R. J. Breckinridge. He has lately addressed, through the press, a long and most important letter to his nephew, Hon. John C. Brackinridge, Vice President of the United States, discussing existing political affairs.
