Though highly favored by an absence of wind at first. the burning cinders were blown far and fell thick over all of the eastern portion of this village, which, but for the rain of yesterday which left everything wet, must have rapidly fired every roof far and near.

The total loss is variously estimated at from $30,000 to $40,000, but a small portion of which was covered by insurance. We have referred to the prevailing opinion that the fire was designedly kindled by some demon in human form. This supposition is based upon the following :

M. Flaudin, of Paris, gave an account to From present indications there is not the Academy of the result of a series of tuting flax and hemp for cotton. The ex- experiments undertaken by him, with a view of ascertaining the effects produced periments thus far are most encouraging, by oxide of zinc, carbonate of lead and sulphate of lead, on the animal economy. The presentation of the Monty on prize to M. Leclare, has borne testimony to the interest taken by the Academy in the substitution of oxide of zinc for carbonate of lead in painting.

Flax Cotton.

As no experiments had yet been undertaken to determine the question whether the manufacture or use of oxide of zinc was divested of all injurious consequences to the animal economy, and as some persons had stated that the slow and repeated absorption of zinc was as injurious as that of lead, M. Flaudin determined to settle the question by having recourse to the following experiments :

Lead Poisons.

Some years since, M. de Roulz proposed to substitute sulphate of lead for carbonate of that metal, in painting, &c. He considered that as the sulphate was a more insoluble and stable compound than the carbonate, that therefore it would be less readily absorbed and assimilated by the system. M. Flaudin having been consulted by M. Roulz on the subject, first tried the effect of sulphate of lead on animals. In order to place the animals operated upon as much as possible in the same relative condition, as the workmen employed in the manufacture and use of white lead, he made use in each case of frictions on the skin. He took a dog, and having shaved off the hair, rubbed in every day, four or five grammes of an ointment composed of equal the tenth day the effect of the poison begrammes, or two ounces, of the sulphate of lead had been employed in the frictions. A chemical analysys of the body indicated the presence of lead, especially in the liver. A second dog was treated exactly in the same manner, and four or five grammes of an ointment composed of equal parts of oxide of zinc and lard, was rubbed in every day; ten, twenty, thirty days passed, and although the ointment was applied three to thirteen quarters. every twenty-fours, the dog's health did not undergo the least alteration. The experiment was stopped when about seventy grammes of the ointment had been used. For ten days afterwards the dog was allowed to remain untouched, after which he was submitted to the action of an ointment composed of equal parts of white lead and lard used in the same proportions as the sulphate of lead and oxide of zinc. At the expiration of ten days the dog sickened article of STOCKING YARN of different colors. and refused his food; gradually all the symptoms of poisoning appeared and the animal died on the twenty-third day, sixty grammes of the carbonate of lead having been used.

The Improved Clinton Air-Tight Stove is beyond a question the most durable and the very best fARMER'S COOK STOVE in America. It is constructed without an inside plate, or an inside damper, and also without a fire-back? The Stove warms up quickly with as moderate an amount of fiel as is desirable; the fire chamber is commodious, and has an additional one for fine fuel and chips, for summer use. The oven is very large, and bakes in the greatest perfection; the working surface is ample, and it has an excellent broiling hearth without the annoyance of grates. In short, it pos-sesses in an eminent degree, every necessary convenience, without departing from the simplicity in the almost universal feature of Low Oven Stoves. Persons wishing to purchase a Good Cook Stove, should by all means examine the Clinton Air-Tight, before purchasing. The undersigned will furnish the farmers of Tioga county with the above celebrated stoves through his pedlars at their doors, or they can be had of the following nrmed gentlemen, who are my author ized agents for this county: rized agents for this county :
