The Sleep of Plants.

The way in which sleep is shown in the vegetable kingdom is infinitely more variable than among animals. Man throws himself prostrate; the camel places its head between the forelegs, and birds roost their head beneath the wing. Beyond these are few remarkable differences. But in plants there is no end to the curious and beautiful diversity which rewards the seeker of Nature's mysteries. Some plants disgrace belongs to the man, who by reverdroop their leaves at night, the flat part becoming flacid and pendulous. Others, of to destitution. The poorest man who walks

Another Scientific Wonder. DEPSIN! AN ARTIFICIAL DIGESTIVE FLUID, or Gastric Juice! A great Dyspepsia Curer. Propared from Rennet, or the fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Leiter directions of beg, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., No. 11, North Eighth street, Philadelphia.

This is a truly wonderful remedy for INDI-GESTION, DYSPEPSIA JAUNDICE, LIVER COMPLAINT, CONSTIPATION and DEBILI.

TY, curing after nature's own method, by Nature's own agent, the Gastric Juice. Half a teaspoonful of this Fluid, infused in water, will digest or dissolve, five pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

DIGESTION. Digestion is chiefly performed in the atomach by the act of a fluid which ficely exudes from the inner coat of that organ, when in a state of health called the Gastric Juice. The Fluid is the great solvent of the food, the purifying, preserving, and stimulating agent of the stomach and intestines. Without it there will be no digestion—no conversion of food and blood, and no nutrition of the hody: but rather a foul, tornid, minful, and de-TIN, SHEET-IRON & SHELF HARDWARE. at much lower rates than can be purchased elsewhere in Northern Pennsylvania, or Southern New body; but rather a foul, torpid, painful, and destructive condition of the whole digestive apparatus. A weak, half dead, or injured stomach produces no good Gastric Juice, and hence the disease, distress and debility which ensue:

It is also found in the stomach of animals, as the ox, calf, &c. It is the material used by farmers in making cheese, called Rennet, the effect has long been the special wonder of the Dairy. The curdling of milk is the first process of digestion. Rennet possesses astonishing power. The stomach of a calf will Fluted, air-tight, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4. Baron Leibeg, in his celebrated work on Animal Trays, Waiters, Lamps, Iron, Brass, Britannia and Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid may readily be prepared from the mucuos membrane of the stomach of the Calf, in which various Japanned Candlesticks, and a general assortment of Hardware which I have neither time nor space articles of food, as meat and eggs, will be softened, changed and digested, just in the same munner as they would be in the human stomach."

Dr. Pereira, in his famous treatise on "Food and Diet," published by Wilson & Co., New York, page 25, states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities that Dr. Pereira. Dr. John W. Draper, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College of the University of New York, in his "Text Book of Chemistry," page 386, says, "it has been a question whether artificial digestion could be performed—but it is now universally admitted that it may be." Professor Dunglison, of Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject. His experiments with Dr. Beaumont on the Gastric Juice, obtained from the living human stomach and from Animals are well known. "In all cases," he-says, "digestion occurred as perfectly in the artificial as in the natural digestions." AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER.
