According to the judgment of most merchants, goods are now about as cheap as they will be this fall.
I found that a large portion of my stock could not be replaced at as low prices as I am now selling them at, viz. Flanels, Morinoes, Paramattas, Black Silks, &c., but I intend to make no change in prices at present, preferring to sell out clean. Some Goods are cheaper and I offer the following bargains for this week: Attention is called to his stock of VERY LOW PRICES, for the little folks-the best ever offered in town-INKS, &c., &c., &c.
