THE CHOLERA.-Hall's Journal of Health gives the following practical suggestions, which deserve immediate attention of all who wish to avoid the scourge of cholera, which threatens to attack us next summer:

"1st. Every householder owes it to himself to his family to his f himself, to his family, to his neighbors, to the community in which he resides, to have his house, from cellar to garret, from the street curb to the rear line of his lot, most scrupulously cleansed, by sweeping, washing and whitewashing. 2d. Every man who has any authority in city or towns government should consider himself bound by his oath ofoffice, and by every consideration of humanity, to give himself no rest until every street alley, close gutter and sewer, is placed in a state of as perfect clean liness as possible and kept so until the frosts of next sea son come. 3rd, These cleansings should be done now, in February and March, because, if put off until warm weather the very effort necessary to the removal of filth will only tend, in the essential nature of things, to hasten the appearance of the disease, to increase its malignity, and to extend the time of its devastations; because, the sunsof spring and summer the sooner warm into life and intensify the viperic and malignant influence, which in its remorseless tread, wrecks so much of human hapfness and desolates so many hearthstones."

IMPORTANCE OF PRESENCE OF MIND.-1. If a man faints, place him flat on his face and let him alone.

2. If any poison is swallowed, drink instantly helf a glass of cool water, with a heaping teaspoonful each of common salt and ground mustard stirred into it; this vomits as soon as it reaches the stomach: but for fear some of the poison may remain, swallow the white of one or two raw eggs, or a cupof strong coffee. These two are antidotes for a greater number of poisons than any dozen other articles known, with the advantage of their being always at hand. If they canuot be had, a pint of sweet oil, lamp oil, "drippings," melted butter, or lard are goad substitutes, especially if they vomit quickly.

3. The best thing to stop the bleeding of a moderate cut instantly, is to cover it profusely with cob-web, or flour and 4. If the blood comes from a wound by jets or spirts, be spry, or the man will die in a few minutes, because an artery is severed: tie a handkerchief loosely around near the part between the wound and the heart; put a stick between the handkerchief and the skin, and twist it around until the blood ceases to flow; keep it there until the doctor comes; if in a position where the handkerchief cannot be used, press the thumb on a spot near the wound, between the wound and the heart; increase the pressure until the bleeding ceases, but do not lessen the pressure for an instant, until the physician arrives, so as to glue up the wound by the coagulation or cooling of the hardening blood.

5. If your clothing takes fire, slide the hands down the dress, keeping them as close to the body as possible, at the same time sinking to the floor by bending the dnees: this has a smothering effect upon the floors. If not extinguished are the flames; if not extinguished, or a great headway is golten, lie down on the floor, roll over and over; or better, envelope yourself in carpet, a rug, bed-clothes, or any gament you can get hold of always preferring woolen.

ONE WAY TO TELL.—A traveler called lately at night-fall at a farmer's house in Albany; the owner being from home and the mother and daughter being alone, they refused to lodge the wayfarer.

"How far then," said he, "is it to a house where a preacher can get lodging?"
"Oh! if you are a preacher," said the lady, "you can stop here!" Accordingly he dismounted, deposited his saddle bags in the house, and led his horse to the stable. Meanwhile the mother and daughter were debating the point as to what kind of a preacher he was. "He cannot be a Presbyterian." said one, "for he is not dressed well enough."

"He is not a Methodist," said the other, "for his coat is not the right cut for a Methodist." "If I could find his hymn book," said the daughter, "I could soon tell what sort of a preacher he is." And with that she thrust her hand into the saddle-bags, and pulling out a flask of liquor she exclaimed, "La! mother he's a hard shell bapttis."
