THE TRIAL BY FIRE.

The battle is not yet over. The men who fought down the rebellion and received the submission of the armed hosts thereof, are about to be subjected. to another test, not so terrible, not so exacting and exhausting, but still requiring an undeviating love and devotion to the principles upon which our liberties are founded, to pass through scatheless.

We regard the evidence of the disaffection of the President as cumulative : such as to weaken the faith of considerate men in his fidelity to the principles to which he pledged allegiance when he accepted the nomination of Vice President at the hands of the Union party.

To us the new test has no terrors. We fear no axe wielded by the dispensers of suggestion of such person so offering a ballot, to examine such person on oath or affirmation as to the fact appearing from such certificate or alleged against him by the elector so objecting, and if to labor, not for the love of work, but answers under such examination are from necessity, we have, and have ever false, such person shall be deemed guilty had, more respect for a plow, or other had, more respect for a plow, or other that patronage which has come to be, wrongfully, the appliance of power.

Our readers will at once guess what the sheriffs in the several counties of the nature of this new test is to be. It this Commonwealth to insert in their is affirmed, with a pertinacity that savors of truth, that the President is about to use the patronage in his right to dis-SEC. 9. This, of course, involves the rewarding of Copperheads and the punishment of true and steadfast Union men.

It is also the same Wm. F. Johnston who, in 1856, undertook to force himself upon the Republican party as its candidate for Vice President. Failing at Philadelphia, he set up for himself, "on his own hook," and was probably induced to get out of the way by promise of a place should Fremont be elected. * He is a sot now, and classed among wind-broken politicians. The people will see out of what sort of material Senator Cowan is to construct the new party.

We see that Mr. James Buchanan, once President of the United States, has taken the field, (or council,) for Mr. Clymer. Mr. Buchanan seems to be forgetful of the fact that Clymer is already "dead duck," having died of his record.
