

New Advertisements. Ballard Right Side Up—O. Ballard. Notice to Collectors—C. F. Miller. Willson's List of Letters. Notice of Appeals—R. H. Foster. Salt Rheum Cure—Dr. Roy.

Republican Club.—The Reading Room over the Post Office is open day and evening, and our friends are cordially invited to call and read the paper. Regular meetings every Friday evening.

NOTICE.—The County Treasurer petitions Collectors not to receive other than Greenbacks or national bank notes in payment of taxes. Collectors should govern themselves accordingly.

LADIES' EXHIBITION—PRIZE CONTEST.—Don't forget the Ladies' Prize Contest at the Methodist Church, this (Wednesday) evening. The reading will be very fine.

Mr. A. FOLEY has just received a very neat stock of jewelry and ornamental articles, such from the city. He has vases of Bohemian glass, Parian marble, and of brown and black jasper. He has a group in bronze, which would make a nice ornament for somebody's mantel. Call on Foley.

A letter from our former fellow-townsmen, Mr. C. L. Kimball, from Nebraska, came to late for insertion this week. We shall endeavor to give it to our readers next week.

We are obliged to our young friend, C. A. DEANE, for copies of the Rocky Mountain News, daily and weekly. It is published at Denver, Colorado. The weekly is about the size of the New York Evening Post.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—Mr. Charles Mosier has purchased Mr. J. Manley's interest in the bookbinding business, and may be found at the stand next door to Dart's wagon shop.

RELIGIOUS.—REV. L. M. KERN, of Fayetteville, N. Y., will preach in St. Paul's Church, Sunday morning, 24th instant, at 10 1/2 o'clock.

IMPROVEMENT.—Mr. B. T. VANHORN, whose chair and cabinet factory was recently destroyed by fire, has purchased a large lot in the rear of the former factory, on Pearl street, and will at once erect a factory building, 30x60 feet, two stories in height. Mr. Curtis Culver has taken the job, and the frame will be ready to put together in a few days. The factory will be ready for business not later than September 1.

Mr. Vanhorn has purchased an eight-horse power steam engine and boiler, together with improved machinery for the new factory. He expects to employ a dozen hands, we learn, and intends to extend his business, measurably. The engine and boiler room will be detached from the main building, and thoroughly guarded against fire. Success to him.

WENT TO WORK.—The strike of the Morris Run miners is ended, and the men have gone to work. This is, undoubtedly, wise on the part of the working men. We are assured by various persons, generally disinterested, that at present prices per ton good miners are able to clear from three to five dollars per day. The business calls for skill and judgment, and very proper compensation. There is also some risk attached to the business, all of which should be taken into account in the matter of compensation.

While we recognize the right of labor to make defence against extortion and oppression, strikes are not always profitable or just. They might be made powerful for the righting of wrongs; but that they may so become, they should not be resorted to on slight occasions. In the case before us, the loss fell almost entirely upon the miners, the company having a large stock of coal on hand—more than enough to cover any stoppage likely to occur.

A GOOD COMPARISON.—Said a Charles-ton farmer to us the other day: "As I was coming to town, the thought struck me that one rule applied to the earth and to men. That is—a strong, healthy, well-kept man will endure hunger and thirst, and hard work, with but little wear; the weakly, ill-kept man is prostrated by any of these trials. So with farms: when well cultivated and well cared for, they endure drought and cold spring weather, and still produce good crops; but the poor tilled farm cannot endure drought or late seasons. The land has no surplus of vigor to resist adverse influences." Well said, indeed.

BURGLES ABOARD.—The Clinton Equitables of last week chronicles two attempts and partial successes at housebreaking in and near Lock Haven. In one case the burglar entered a second story sleeping room and stole the occupant's pants. In the other, several persons entered a house and searched the tenant with knives and clubs, and then set the house on fire. Moral.—If you have locks and bolts on your doors, use them. If you have windows, get them at once. Also, secure your windows before going to bed. Reason: There are a great many desperate fellows roaming the country.

THE CIRCUS.—Dan Rice's "show" drew immensely on Saturday. The town began to fill up quite early in the day with men, and women, boys, girls, and babies. The peanut and lemonade vendors drove a thriving trade from 9 A. M. to sunset; and none but the moneyless went home hungry or thirsty. The hotels were crammed to their full capacity, and the theaters and sidewalks were filled with the curiosity seeking throng.

The "show" though sold like hot cakes, was many degrees ahead of any like exhibition in this village since we know it. The horses were very superior, and the trained animals worked very superior, and the trained animals worked very superior. The circus was nothing to brag of, and Dan Rice was not on hand—as usual. But we can say for the managers, that their department was gentlemanly, and the employees behaved well. The crowd was immense. Three thousand people probably sat down in the spacious tent, which was too small to accommodate them. The side show did as much as the main concern, no doubt, and the establishment must have netted $1500 during the day.

It gives us great pleasure to say, that in this great commingling of all sorts of people, no disorder, no fights, no minor breach of the peace, took place. For this pleasant record, the public is indebted to High Constable WILLIAMS and his very efficient police corps. It shows what a man of energy can do on extraordinary occasions. It shows the necessity of organization under a capable chief, if you would preserve order.

CORRESPONDENTS sometimes ask very queer questions. One asks: "Suppose you had a boy old enough to put to a trade, would you put him to a trade in this village, or send him away?" We had a boy (as we haven't and don't want) old enough to be put to a trade, we should make a study of his tastes and capacities; and then, if he preferred one trade before another, put him to that trade. If he was wild, and had idle companions in Wellboro, we should put fifty or one hundred miles between them. Another asks: "What do you think of tilting hoops?" We don't think much about hoops, anyway.—If the ladies wear hoops of the sort inquired of, to keep their dresses out of the mud, very well. But Bloomer costume does that much better, and seems to us more decent. Another asks: "Why don't you give us more murders and accidents in your paper?" Because a newspaper is an educator, and ought not to pamper the morbid tastes of its readers.—Local casualties are always noted when reported at this office. Another inquires: "What do you think of Jeff. Davis?" That he is a bold, bad, ambitious politician, and a traitor. He ought to be hung, to purify the atmosphere. About two hundred questions remain unanswered.

Fourth of July!—Grand Celebration!

There will be a grand celebration of the anniversary of our national independence in Wellboro, under the auspices of the Fire Department. There will be a grand Ox Roast on the Public Square, and preparations to dine 2000 people are being made.

Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong will deliver the oration. In the afternoon there will be several amusing entertainments. A greased pig will be turned loose, and given to any one who captures him by fair means. There will also be a steple-chase, distance twenty rods, with a pheasantbarrow. The committee have appropriated $500 for fireworks. Twelve balloons will be sent up during the evening. The whole to close with a grand Firemen's Ball in the evening. We omit details of the programme until next week, as the notices came when our forms were full. The programme of the committee will be published next week.

CELEBRATION.—The people of Maine are making extensive preparations to celebrate the Fourth of July. Dinner for 800 persons will be provided in a grove near the village. We wish them a decided success, and fewer kicks and curses than commonly fall to the lot of get-togethers of celebrations. There is to be a dance at Brundage's in the evening.

TOGA COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.—The 6th Annual Meeting of the Toiga County Medical Society will convene in Wellboro, Wednesday, June 27th, inst. D. BACON, Sec'y.
