Anonymous Letters from the South. The Portland (Maine) Press has the following:

"Two high toned Southerners have felt moved to set forth their views of God's ways with man, in anonymous letters addressed to gentlemen of this city. The first writes from Louisville, Ky,' to 'P. M., Portland Maine'"

"LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 8, 1866.
"P. M. Portland, Maine: "Dear Sir:—Gen. Sherman, the great Arson and Fire King, is once more a-broad with his incendiary torches. Every day we hear of destructive fires in some locality at the North. As long as Sherman remained stationary at Chicago and St. Louis, fires were principally we hear daily of fires either in his front or rear. Day before yesterday the town of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, was consuand to-day a fire is reported in Pennsyl vania. I look for such reports daily until the vengeance of the Almighty is appeased by the destruction of sevenfold the amount inflicted by the desola ting march through the South by the great Arson. Fires in his front, fires in his rear fires at his right and fires at his left hand, is destined to be your fate at the North. The total destruction of N. York city and Boston by fire, would not equal the sixty mile tramp of Sherman through Georgia. I just call your attention to this matter, in order that your curiosity may lead you to observe, &c.

"Yours, JOHN SMITH." Another writes "To the Chief of the Relief Committee, Portland, Maine,' from Richmond, Va.:

"RICHMOND July 9, 1866. "To the Chief of the Relief Committee, Portland Maine:
"Sir:—Your city is quite destroyed by fire. Your people have my sympathy. I am a believer in retributive Providence, and He distinctly states, 'ven geance is mine.' I am daily witnessing this expression being carried out, with the different and various ways He has of applying it to the North, practically and generally. You no doubt will say I am a fool and no prophet; neverthe less, deny not this expression, 'Vengeance is mine saith the Lord.' The North has overrun the South by numbers, destroyed her-freedom, robbed her of her liberty, and buried her best blood; thousands upon thousands, white as well as black, are in a much worse condition than your unfortunate people, and still no help, no sympathy is extended to them. 'Vengeance is mine, civil war. tended to them. 'Vengeance is mine saith the Lord.' From what is written a heading for a history of untold length could be written. Justice in every line—yes, in every word. 'Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord,' is my text; this embraces more or less the whole book of Christ: now add the violation of our Constitution and the subjugation of the ditch. South by superior forces, arbitrary power being applied to a downtrodden race. Thus a proud and high minded and Davis, poor fellow, included.

ings are heaped upon your heads by Providence, as a retribution for your past actions, and particularly your present unkind feelings towards your suffering countrymen. Yours truly. A REBEL UNTIL REPRESENTED.

Insulting the Flag at Gallatin. -The particulars of the damnable insult offered to the Union flag at Gallatin on the night of the Fourth of July, are far worse than we at first reported them. The flag was not only torn down, but the blaspheming and sacrilegious Union haters actually tied one end of it to the tail of a cow, and the other end of it to the tail of a dog, and then drove tion of that grand patriot, ABRAHAM them pell meli through the streets while LINCOLN. the sacred symbol of the country was dragged through the dirt and trodden under foot. The villains who perpetrated the brutal outrage, deserve to to the sun during the dog days. deserve to be tied by the wrists to the tail of a steer and driven from Gallatin to Philadelphia, until Andy Johnson's delegation arrive in the latter city.—

A BUNDLE OF THREATS.

The man of threats is not always the man of action. But "the threatened dog" may not live longest in all cases. Just now the political atmosphere is confined to those places; now that this resonant with muttered threats. One great desolator is on his march North, is reminded of the threatenings which thickened the air in 1860.

But not every thunder-peal threatens med by fire, yesterday we heard of your a storm. We are told that storms of the town suffering from the fires of Heaven, most threatening aspect, sometimes fail most threatening aspect sometimes fail altogether by the restoration of electrical equilibrium between earth and atmosphere.

> And sometimes the thunder that mutters on the far horizon heralds a storm which rises slowly, pauses for a space over our roofs, and then splits in twain and passes by on either side.

But the wise farmer regards these signs of elemental disturbance with an observant eye. He makes haste to secure his curing or cured hay and grain; and whether the rain comes or passes performed.

So of this muttering thunder on the political horizon. It is not to be feared, nor is it to be despised. Regard the past and disregard these threats if you can. The way to avoid disaster, is to face its slightest manifestation, and stand prepared for the possible worst.

The threats we alluded to may mean much or little. They may be the outbursts of baffled hate and treason, or leading the van. Of course he prothey may be the inadvertent revelations claimed that order must be restored; but at 101 A. M., same day. It is hardly of plotters against the public peace.-

The New Johnson organ at Williamsport reminds us of a customer, Ben Finch by name, who leads a monotonously errant life in the eastern counties of the State. Ben is "cracked."-He has an idea that he is to marry the Queen of the World, whoever she may be. One morning, a dozen years ago, Ben called upon us, and in a strictly confidential manner asked the loan of $50,000. We demurred. He fell to $25,-000. Still we demurred. He fell to $10,000; and so Ben kept falling in his demand, until at last he approached and whispered:

"Could you lend me a quarter?" The Johnson organ set out with a paying subscribers. It had too much advertising. It went in for Conservaout the first week, through "inadver-

tence," and put it in the second week But three weeks of blowing begins to take effect upon the organ. Its pipes squeak horribly. Its thousand paying subscribers are reduced to one hundred. Its highest edition was 900—half of which, if the number wasted in Tioga county gratuitously be a criterion, must have been dead-heads. It calls-or permits a correspondent to do so-Rousseau, the bully, "the brave and gallant Rousseau."

The organ is coming down, after the style of Ben Finch. At its present rate of fall, it will be able to tote its stercoraceous load to the gates of the Copperhead citadel in a month or so, and be received into full communion by Vallandigham & Co. Vale Dunham. Byby! be virtoous, and you will be happy.

"ORDER REIGNS IN WARSAW."

Good people, it is not pleasant to announce that under the beneficial influence of "my policy" the rebel flag floats over New Orleans. But such is the fact. That city has just been the theater of a most fearful convulsion, in the throes of which nearly every prominent Union man has been killed or wounded. We will make the sad story as plain as possible. In 1864 a State Convention of Union men was called to amend the Constitution preparatory to the admission of the State into the new Union. Of late the most fearful disorder has ruled in Louisiana. Union men have been murdered daily, and the freedmen have been by, he has the consciousness of duty the victims of savage rebel barbarity. That these things might be remedied. Gov. Wells, the duly elected and recognized Executive of the State, reassembled the Convention in New Orleans on building and proceeded to the work of and congenial work the rebels were sustained by the municipal authorities-Mayor J. P. Munro, a pardoned rebel, it was the sort of order which reigned possible to human belief, but such is the There is no time to stop and decide at Warsaw. The dead were removed in

It was locking the stable door after the horse was sto-

Baird, and placed Mayor Munro in command of the troops, with orders to suppress the Convention at all hazards. To make a long story short, we print here the Presidential order in the case: "WASHINGTON, Monday, July 30, 1866.

The admission of the Tennessee delegation to seats in Congress has upset the plans of the rebels and Copperheads .-President Johnson is placed in a position to eat his policy, or refuse to Tennessee what he claims she is entitled to.

The people can now see just what Congress demands as the condition precedent to the restoration of the States lately in arms against the Government.

> A correspondent is very indignant because we do not pitch into the Copperhead papers when they call Republicans disloyal, and disunionists.

Good friend, see here: When a liar calls us a liar, we do not feel insulted. When a scoundrel calls us a scoundrel, we do not feel insulted. Should a thief call us a thief, we should not feel insulted. Because, neither a liar, nor a scoundrel, nor a thief, is competent to criticize us in any respect.

So, when traitors and their tools call us disloyal, we do not feel insulted.— The duty of earnest men is plain enough. It is to do their whole duty fearlessly, and take the consequences.

The Clymerites had what they call "a Grand Mass Meeting" in Reading on the 18th ultimo. The truth appears to be that they had a gathering of less than 5,000, in a city and county numbering about 100,000; that they had two speaker's stands prepared, and only one was used; that they hired a drum corps from Harrisburg, and refused to give the boys supper or transportation home. It is not uncommon for 8,000 people to attend a Republican mass meeting in Tioga county. When Gen. Butler and Gen. Logan visit us, as they will during the campaign, we guess we can see that

At the Soldiers' Convention held at Wellsboro on the 27th of July, the fellowing resolution was unanimously dopted:
"That we regard it as but just, in view of the services of those who took the field in defence of civil liber and their and thei ces of those who took the field in detence of civil liberty against the machinations of traitors and their apologusts, that where there is equal competency and integrity, as between candidates for place, the soldier should be preferred before the civilias."

In keeping with the idea therein expressed, we, the undersigned, soldiers of Tioga county, would respectfully but earnessly recommend to the Republican county Convention, which meets on the 24th instant. the name of William T. Humphrey, M. D., of Oscrola, for the office of Representative; Captain Elmer Backer, of Rulland, for the office of Prothonotsry: and Sergt. Darns Deanne, of Delmar, for Register and Recorder.

Believing that this would give us but a fair representation upon the county ticket at the coming election, we earnestly hope that is may receive the approvat of said Convention.
