Life and Times of Sheardown.

County Poor House! The Right Rev. Bishop LEE, of Delaware, preached in St. Paul's Episcopal Church last Thursday evening, to a large congregation. The rite of confirmation was administered to three persons. Bishop Lee was assisted by Rev. Mr. Barrows, of Manafield.

ACCIDENT.-We learn from the Corning Journal that John T. Wood, of Blossburg, fell on the track of the Tioga road, near that village, last Friday night, and was crushed to death. He was an employee of the company, a faithful, industrious and worthy young man.

PERSONAL.-Cadet NATHAN NILES, of the Annapolis Naval Academy, is at home on a visit. He looks well, and we are glad to learn from disinterested authority that he promises to graduate with honors. May he live to win the stars and stripes of an Admiral.

THAT "BLESSED BABY."-We were in error, in several respects, in our notice of the baby which was left with Mr. S. K. Chamberlin. of Middlebury, not of Chatham, not long ago .-We mistook the initials of Mr. C.'s name, his residence, and, worse than all, we called the baby a boy. It is a girl, and we ask its pardon for calling it a boy. Boys are of small account and not worth raising, commonly. But girls-ah-girls are just the sweetest of creatures, especially all the way up from six months to sixteen years.

UNION PIC-NIC.—The Sunday Schools of this village united in a basket pic-nic in Dickinson's grove on the 18th, and were favored with a beautiful day and a pleasant time. About 250 children and teachers were present. The Wellsboro Band were on the ground and acquitted themselves most creditably, much to the enjoyment of all concerned. There was an abundance of the good things of life and a healthy appetite seemed vouchsafed to all. It was one of the most sensible affairs we ever participated in; there being no detention of the little folks to hear speeches. On arriving on the ground the schools assembled and sang several Sunday School hymns, after which the children betook themselves to the swings and other amusements provided. Nothing occurred to mar the enjoyment of the occasion. [Note.—This notice was intended for last week's paper, but was mislaid and not put in type.]

CORRECTION.—In our notice of the Mansfield Normal School two weeks ago, we fell into an error as respects the graduating class.-We stated that it alone, of all the State Schools graduated a class. This was true in part, as a the time we received the information no other class had passed the ordeal. Since that time the class at Millersville has been graduated, having passed a creditable examination. The Mansfield graduating class was the larger of the two. We make the correction very cheerfully, expressing the hope that the Mansfield School may continue to lead the Normal Schools of the State while education shall remain both useful and ornamen

MAIL DEPREDATOR ARRESTED. - During the past two months losses of valuable letters, pasting through the mails between Towards and Canton, Bradford county, Pa., had become so numerous that confidence was being lost in that mode of transmitting money. Letters addressed to H. L. Scott, revenue collector, were more particularly disturbed. The attention of Dr. Humphrey, Special Agent of the Post Office Department, having been directed to the matter, that efficient officer, after perfecting some necessary previous arrangements, succeeded, on the 14th instant, in fastening the depredations upon Mrs. Sally Chaapell, wife of the Postmaster at West Franklin. The most positive evidences of guilt were found in her possession, among others the contents of certain letters mailed that day by Dr. Humi brey himself. Mrs. Chaapell was taken before Esquire Bogart, of Towards, who held her to bail in the sum of $3,000 for her appearance at the next term of the U.S. District Court.

No little credit is due to Dr. Humphrey for the manner in which he conducted the investigationof this case; and the result shows the importance of having men of ability and experience in places of responsibility and trust. If the Post Office Department consults its own and the public interest, it will not interfere with officers of this

Two Pictures.-" Can you tell me where I can get a good, serviceable boy?" writes a mechanic.

We know of many boys, dear sir, but whether any of them come up to your standard or not we cannot say.

There are several grades of boys. One is represented by a bright-enough-eyed, healthy, active fellow. You see him in the street and pronounce him "a smart boy." However, when you have tried him, you will find that he has nothing to learn, in his own belief. He was born with all kinds of knowledge and cannot be improved. He spends his evenings in idleness, and scorns books and newspapers. If you offer him advantages, he will coolly neglect them and think you a slow old coach. He cannot tell you anything about the European war, or the "situation" in this country, or the geography of his native county But he is posted on the merits of the horse-tha noble animal-of the dogs-those noble animals. -and he can tell you all about the doings in the corner grocery up to ten o'clock of the night previous. He does not trouble bimself about the means of living and doing good, but he can swop knives, and occasionally drink a glass of beer .-He loves his pillew, especially in the morning but if there is any fun alread, be cannot sleep atter daylight. Probably that boy would not suit

There is another boy, the type of another class now nearly or quite extinct. We can speak of him only from recollection. We saw him once years ago. He was not prominent on the street and was never alluded to as a fast boy, or a tough case. He was rather slow, in fact, spending his evenings with books and papers, generally, and his days at work. He knew all about the geography and topography of his native county, but could not tell you anything about the last dog fight. He actually lived to see the advanced age of thirteen without going a-courting of any ventrable damsel of twelve. He was foolish enough to buy books instead of beer, and clothes instead of candy. So he grew up, and actually lived to be sixteen without having been heard of ut the corner grocery. No doubt this was his misfortune, not his fault. We never heard that he was witty on the street corners, or smart in doubtful company. He was so reckless of his health as to rise at five and retire at nine; and no doubt this accounts for his disappearance from the stage of ding the short and imperfect notice given of the Mass Meeting of last Friday, and in spite of the rain and unusual cold which rendered the day inclement up to three o'clock in the afternoon, the attendance was large, and the occasion of immense benefit to our citizens. The rain was copious and the mud omnipresent; but through it all came the thousands, intent upon hearing the good words of freedom preached.

The failure of Gov. Hamilton, of Texas, to reach us per appointment, was a great disappointment, as his speech before the Texas Convention, published in the Agitator some weeks ago, had aroused an intense interest in the man among our people. But severe illness prevented his coming, and the explanation made by Gen. Cameron was perfectly satisfactory. The Convention assembled at two P. M., in the Court House, but found the room so crammed that it was not possible to do business. A motion to adjourn to the Public Square to hear the speakers was carried by a storm of "ayes," and thither the crowd poured.

Here, gathered about the stand, were some 2000 people, listening to the stirring music discoursed by the Tioga Cornet Band, which was early on the ground, and acquitted itself to the delight of everybody. Presently came the speakers, Hons. SIMON CAMERON, and L. W. HALL, Speaker of the State Senate. Mr. Seymour, President of the Convention, then introduced Gen. Cameron, who said that he would not make a speech, but leave that to, his friend, Mr. Hall. He spoke briefly and pointedly of the duty we all owed the country, the dangers which threatened us as a nation, and the promise which beckoned all good citizens onward to duty; and closed with a highly complimentary allusion to the thrift, intelligence, and incorruptible integrity of the people of Tioga, as evidenced in their agricultural progress, their habits of thought, and their unflinching fidelity to the cause of freedom. He then closed by introducing Hop. L. W. Hall.

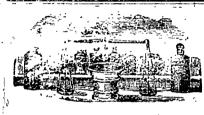

Perhaps the highest compliment we can pay Mr. Hall's speech will be to say, that before he had spoken thirty minutes, the crowd had forgot ten their disappointment at not hearing Governor Hamilton, and were thoroughly under the influence of the speaker. We cannot pretend to give even a sketch of the speech. He gave a graphic account of the condition of the country, prior to the rebellion, and came down with rapid step to the issues of the hour. The applause was frequent and enthusiastic, and the speech was one of the most effective we ever heard from the stump Senator Hall uses plain Saxon, and is most happy in his illustrations. The crowd, like all intelligent crowds, was reticent when he began, but soon became intensely interested. At the close of his speech he called for three cheers for Geary, Steve Wilson, and the entire ticket, which was most boisterously responded to. Three cheers were then given for the distinguished speakers, and the meeting broke up in most excellent human Altogether it was a good time, and we can promise our friends several more of the same sor before the 9th day of October.
