THE DEACON AND THE CLAMS. - Good old Deacon S. lived and farmed it away down in eastern Connecticut. It was his custom to go with several of his neighbors, nearly every year, down to the shore for a Clam-bake. The old Deacon was very fond of these bivalves, and on one occasion he are and over-loaded his "capacity" to such an extent loaded his "capacity" to such an extent that he was sore distressed. His faith in prayer, however, was strong. Leaving his party, and being followed by some of the younger members a little way off, he was heard to supplicate thus: "Forgive me, O Lord, for this great sin of gluttony, and I will never eat any more clams!" Then pausing a moment, he added, "Very few, if any. Amen."

ONE OF THE PENNSYLVANIANS.—Old Ricketts was a man of labor, and had little or no time to devote to speculation on the future. He was, withal, rather uncouth in the use of language. One day, while engaged in stopping hog holes about his place, he was approached by a colporteur, and presented with a tract.

"What's all this about?" demanded

"That, sir, is a book describing the celestial state," was the reply.
"Celestial State!" said Ricketts, "in what section is that?"

"My worthy friend, I fear you have "Well, never mind," interrupted Ricketts. "I don't want to hear about any better State than Pennsylvania. I intend to live and die right here, if I can keep them darned hogs out." A punctual man is rarely a poor man, and never a man of doubtful credit. His small accounts are frequently set-tled, and he never meets with difficulty in raising money to pay large demands. Small debts neglected, ruin credit, and when a man has lost that he will find himself at the bottom of a hill he can-

Good News to Soldiers and their Heirs.

LL who have any interest in war claims,

A will find it to their advantage to read the following acts of Congress which have recently

SEC. 1st of an act of June 6, 1865, provides for all soldiers or sailors who have lost the sight of both eyes, or both hands, so as to require constant attendance, the sum of $25.

SEC. 2. To those who have lost both feet, or are totally disabled in the same so as to require constant attendance, the sum of $20.

SEC. 3. Those who have lost one hand or one foot, or are so disabled as to render them unable to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a band or a foot, the sum of $15.

SEC. 4. Persons who have been deprived of their pensions under act of March 3, 1$65, in consequence of being in the civil service of the U.

States Government, are restored. SEC. 5. Pensions are extended to dependen fathers and brothers, as well as to mothers and

In addition to the above act, to such persons as In addition to the above act, to such persons as are embraced by it, Congress, before its close, July 25, 1866, passed a bill granting additional bounties, and also one increasing the pension to widows, and orphans, and extending the benefits of the pension laws to the heirs and representatives of certain invalid applicants, to wit:

SEC. 2 of the act of July 25, 1866, provides for pensions to widows of deceased soldiers or sailors having children by such soldiers or sailors, at the rate of two dollars per month for each child of soldier or sailor under the age of sixteen

SEC. 8 gives an increase of pensions to thos widows now receiving a pension of less than eight dollars per month, except Revolutionary widows.

BOUNTIES. This act provides a bounty of one hundred dol. This act provides a bounty of one hundred dol-lars to all three years' men enlisting since April 19, 1861, and fifty dollars to all two years' men who enlisted since said period.

The above is additional to the $100 or $50 bounty provided for in previous acts.

Blanks will be forwarded to all who wish my assistance in the cellection of these claims, with oper instructions.
