The fisherman wades in the surges; The sailor sails over the seas: The soldier steps bravely to battle; The woodman lays axe to the tree. They are each of the breed of the heroes,

The manhood attempted in strife;

Strong hands, that go lightly to labor, True hearts, that take comfort in life. In each is the seed to replenish The world with the vigor it needs-The centre of honest affections,

The impulse to generous deeds. But the shark drinks the blood of the fisher, The sailor is dropped in the sea; The roldier lies cold by his cannon; The woodman is crushed by his trea.

Each prodigal life that is wasted In many achievements unseen, But lengthens the days of the coward, And strengthens the crafty and mean.

The blood of the noblest is lavished That the selfish a profit may find; God sees the lives that are squandored, And we to his wisdom are blind.

Inhabitants of the Human Body.

What think you, reader, of your body being a planet, inhabited by living races, as we inhabit the earth? Whatever may be your thoughts on the sub-ject, it is even so. Your body is but a home for parasites, that crawl over its surface, burrow beneath its skin, nestle in its entrails, and riot and propagate their kind in every corner of its frame. The sousation in regard to traching in sylnestion in regard to traching in swinessiesh has sent the acientific to "tenocking their heads together," and the result is the following facts: Parasites not only inhabit the bodies of all animals used by us as food, but they are also found in abundance in our own organization. The species trichina spiralis, of which so much has been said, and whose existence has been discovered. and whose existence has been discovered and whose existence has been discovered in pork, is, according to our best anatomists, found in almost every muscle of the human body. It lies along the fibres of the muscles, enveloped in little cysts or sacs about one-fourth of an inch in length. It can be distinctly seen and examined only by the use of the microscope. Professor Wood, of Philadelphia, says: "No evidence has yet been produced of any morbid influence exerted by the triching upon the system during by the trichina upon the system during life. They have been found in subjects carried off by sudden death (accident) and in the midst of health." An Euglish authority says: "It is a notorious fact that the numerous parasites do crawl over our surface, burrow beneath our skin, nestle in our entrails, and riot and propagate their species in avery and propagate their species in every corner of our frame. Nearly a score of animals belonging to the interior of the human body have been already discovered and described, and scarcely a tissue or an organ but is occasionally profaned by their inroads. Each also, has its favorite or its special domicil. One species of strangle chooses the heart for its dwelling-place, another inhabits the arteries, a third the kidneys. Myriads of minute worms lie coiled up in the voluntary muscles, or in the arcolar tiesue that connects the fleshy fibres. The guines worm and the chique here. The guinea worm and the chique bore through the skin and reside in the subjacent verticular membrane. Hydatids invest various parts of the body, but especially the liver and the brain. A little fluke, in general appearance much like a flounder, lives steeped in gall in the biliary vessels. If you squeeze from the skin of your nose what is vulgarly called a maggot-the contents, namely one of the hair follicles-it is ten-to one that you will find in that small sebacious cylinder several animalculæ, exhibiting under the microscope a curious and complicated structure. Even the eye has its living inmates. With this knowledge of our composition, it matters but little how many entozoa we consume, so long as we do not see them; it is nothing more than all ages have done before us. We might with as much propriety refuse to drink water, which however pure is, fairly allve with ani-

LIME. - The use of lime as an application to the soil, it is believed by some, acts in two ways-one as a stimulant that promotes vegetation by causing the soil with which it is mixed to exert itself; and the other, in promoting the growth of trees and plants by enriching the land as manure, and adding to the quantity of vegetable food. Tioga, Pa., Feb. 20, 1867-tf. LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND J. W BRADLEY'S CELEBRATED PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE

SPRING) SKIRTS

THE wouderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirit, will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaltable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

valitable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the duplex olliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, Misses and young ladies they are superfor to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shepe when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown tashe as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double opprings, but twice (or double) covered; proventing tiem from wearing out when dragging down stoops. lem from wearing out when dragging down stoops, staira .cc.
The plant Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies, and is universally recommended by the fashion magazines, as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.
To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinciline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and fluish, dixibility, durability, comfort and concury, it mire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the gennine article.
