A Child Eaten by Snakes. In the early part of the month of August last, a girl named Eliza Drummond, about It years of age, whose parents live near West Monroe, in this county, left home one morning for the purpose of picking berries, and never returned. The most-diligent search was made for her by the parents and neighbors, but no traces could be found. The event, which caused a profound sensation at the time, had almost passed from the minds of all, save the stricken parents, when it was painfully recalled by a recent occurrence. On Tuesday last five or six lads went out hunting in the vicinity, and, during the day, came upon a spot where a large number of black snakes were discovered and killed. The appearance of the reptiles in such numbers and at this season of the year was considered remarkable, and it was suggested by one of the party that a breeding den most be somewhere near. A search was immediately commenced, which resulted in a manner far different from their expectations. In the side of a little hill near the edge of a swamp was found a sort of opening, which in the summer was concealed by tall grass and bushes. In the opening was found a human skele-ton, from which every particle of fiesh had been taken. The bones were as white as ivory, and all perfect. Near by was a tin pail in a rusted condition and a tin cup. The boys were terribly frightened, and gave the alarm. The remains were taken from the mouth of the den, and an examination showed that the place had been and probably ly been discussing it with as much now was a breeding place for black snakes. The boldest hesitated to enter. The entrance, which was large enough for the admission of a man's body, grew smaller and tended downward. Lighted. balls of hay, soaked in kerosene, were thrown into the cavity, and in less than' fifteen minutes eighty two enakes.

to four feet, were killed. The pail and cup were recognized by Mr. and Mrs. Drummond as those taken by their child when she went away for the last time. The physicians pronounced the remains those of a female child, and there can be no doubt but that the poor little girl, while pickin berries in the vicinity of the spot became tired, seated herself in the shade of the opening to this horrid den, was attacked by the reptiles in numbers and
