

SCHOOL-BOY'S SOLILOQUY.

Writes by a student of the District School of Washington... Do you not remember the beautiful... Whether it be at the end of a term... The joys and sorrows of our school days... Do you not remember the beautiful... Whether it be at the end of a term... The joys and sorrows of our school days... Do you not remember the beautiful... Whether it be at the end of a term... The joys and sorrows of our school days...

LOOK AT THIS!

ARE NOW SELLING ALL WINTER GOODS OFF at cost, preparatory to putting in a nice selection. SPRING STOCK. OUR CLOTHING is desirable at cost prices. We are getting up SUITS at the lowest possible prices and have given universal satisfaction. We have made this bargain with every one that we have sold to and still continue to do so. Order your CLOTHING of us, and if it does not fully meet your expectations, we will not expect a sale.

M. BULLARD & GOLDSMITH,

GROCCERY & RESTAURANT, WELLSBORO, PA. One door above Roy's Drug Store. WINTER GOODS OFF at cost, preparatory to putting in a nice selection. SPRING STOCK. OUR CLOTHING is desirable at cost prices. We are getting up SUITS at the lowest possible prices and have given universal satisfaction. We have made this bargain with every one that we have sold to and still continue to do so. Order your CLOTHING of us, and if it does not fully meet your expectations, we will not expect a sale.

THE GREAT CENTRE OF ATTRACTION IS AT LAWRENCEVILLE.

C. S. MATHER & CO. Would announce to the good people of Tioga County that they have just returned from New York with their second fall stock of FALL & WINTER GOODS, embracing all the novelties as well as the substantial required. DRESS GOODS in all varieties, STAPLE & FANCY GOODS, HOOP SKIRTS, & BEST FRENCH WOVEN COSETS, GLOVES AND HOSIERY, YANKEE NOTIONS, &c., &c. FURS, FURS!! MINK, COYNE, and Siberian Squirrel. The Largest Stock of CLOTHS & CASSIMERES in the county, READY MADE CLOTHING, and CLOTHING MADE TO ORDER, superior, intended by first class workmen. SHOP MADE BOOTS & SHOES in endless variety, HATS & CAPS, to suit all tastes. GROCERIES, &c., &c. Our goods have been bought during the last season in New York and will be sold at panic prices. Prices are down, money is broken up. No other store can or dare compete with us in quality and price. For further particulars call at the store of C. S. MATHER & CO. Lawrenceville, Dec. 19, 1866.

Drugs, Medicines, &c.

J. L. BELDEN, BLOSSBURG, PA. KERR'S constantly on hand a fine stock of Pure Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, &c. For Medical and Domestic use; also all the popular Patent Medicines, Pain-Expellers, Oils, &c., all kinds of Brushes, Dry Goods, Woods and Stuffs, Fine Toilet Soaps, Perfumery, Pomades, Cosmetics, &c. STATIONERY, PENS, PENCILS, PAPER AND ENVELOPES. Memorandum Books, Pocket Books, &c. Potash in bulk at 16 cents per pound, Kerosene Oil, Lamp Oil, Turpentine, Benzine, &c. Fresh Ointment and Pearl Barley at 10 cents per pound. I am sole agent in Blossburg for Dr. N. W. Way's Kidney and Bladder Pills, which cure Scrophulous, Salt Rheum, Gout, Pimples on the face, and all diseases arising from impure state of the Blood if used according to directions. Particular attention given to compounding Physicians and other Prescriptions. I guarantee satisfaction, both in quality and price. Remember the Store, opposite the new Coal Co's Store, Blossburg, Pa. J. L. BELDEN, Dec. 15, 1866.

WHOLESALE DRUG STORE.

THADDEUS DAVIDS' INKS, CONCENTRATED MEDICINES, CINNATI WINES AND BRANDY, WHITE WASH LIME. KEROSENE LAMPS, PATENT MEDICINES, PETROLEUM OIL, ROCHESTER PAPER, FUMERY AND FLAVORING EXTRACTS, WALL PAPER, WINDOW GLASS, AND DYE COLORS. Sold at Wholesale Prices. Buyers are requested to call and get quotations before going further East. W. D. TERRELL & CO. Corning, N. Y., Jan. 1, 1867.

BRID RAILWAY.

On and after Monday, Nov. 19, 1866, trains will leave Corning at the following hours: 12:25 a. m. Express Mail, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 7:12 a. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 7:50 a. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 10:25 a. m. Mail Train, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo and Dunkirk. 2:15 p. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 3:40 p. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 4:15 p. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 7:25 p. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West. 12:15 p. m. Night Express, Sundays excepted, for Buffalo, Salamanca, and Dunkirk, connecting with trains for the West.

COSMETICS.

The ancients had an astonishing number of Toils, soaps and perfumes. The Romans used a kind of stragnum, a wash-ball, for cleansing the skin in bathing. After taking a warm vapor bath, their hair was anointed with perfumed oil. Cosmetics were in as large demand among the women of ancient Rome as they are at the present day, and every imaginable device was used to beautify their faces. The most perfect of these was the use of the hair curler. This was a small iron rod, the ends of which were bent into a circle, and the hair was wound round it. The curler was then heated, and the hair, when removed, curled into a ringlet. The use of the curler was so general, that the hair of the ancients was always curled. The use of the curler was so general, that the hair of the ancients was always curled. The use of the curler was so general, that the hair of the ancients was always curled.

CLOTHING.

of us, and if it does not fully meet your expectations, we will not expect a sale. We have our usually nice assorted stock of PRINTS, DELAINES, &c., SHEETINGS, SHIRTINGS, STRIPES, DENIMS, &c., at the lowest possible market prices. ROOTS AND SHOES, HARDWARE, CROCKERY AND GROCERIES, HATS, CAPS, &c. Call and see us. O. BULLARD, A. A. TRUMAN, Wellboro, Feb. 27, 1867.

Housekeepers

Best Sugars, Spices, CHERRIES, (Stoned), PRUNES, BOX RAISINS, CITRUS, SEEDLESS RAISINS, COOKING CURRANTS, PICKLES, SAUCES, CANNED FRUITS, and the finest Count Oysters, & Canned Oysters, BALTIMORE MARKETS, on sale at our counter. THE HUNGRY & DISCONSOLATE Will find our RESTAURANT open at all seasons. Hours, where Oysters in every style, prepared by a skillful cook, are served up to delight the palate and gladden the heart. Always glad to see our friends, because we intend to give them their money's worth, and if they call once they will be sure to call again. J. W. WRIGHT & BAILEY, Jan. 3, 1867.

Stoves! Stoves!!

MR. WILLIAM ROBERTS begs to announce to the citizens of Tioga County, that in addition to his excellent stock of Stoves, Tin-Ware, Britannia, and Sheet-Iron Ware, he has a large quantity, stocked, his store on MAIN STREET, WELLSBORO, with a complete assortment of Shelf Hardware, of which we commend the following articles: NAILS, SPIKES, CROWBARS, X CUT, MILL, HAND AND BUOK SAWS, BUTTS, STRAP HINGES, CARPENTERS TOOLS, PUMPS, AXES, AUGERS, BITTS, BITT-STOCKS, HATCHETS, CHISELS, SHOVELS, SPADES, FORKS, BENCH-SCREWS, WOOD SCREWS, CARRIAGE BOLTS, BURS, SKELNS, WASHERS, PIPE BOXES, AXLE-TREES, ELLIP. TIG. SPRINGS, HORSE SHOES, HOOP, BAR, & BAND IRON, GRINDSTONE, HANGING CORN POPPERS, SAUSAGE CUTTERS AND STUFFERS COMBINED. Also, PISTOLS, PISTOL CARTRIDGES, POWDER AND CAPS. We shall try and keep our Stock COMPLETE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS. We have also made arrangements to keep on hand AT ALL TIMES Ground Plaster, VERY LOW FIGURE, TON OR LESS.

T. A. WICKHAM'S,

Having just returned from New York with New and carefully selected STOCK OF GOODS, All those in want of Goods will find it to their interest to call and EXAMINE OUR STOCK and learn Prices before buying elsewhere. Kept constantly on hand, a choice lot of DRIED FRUIT, GROCERIES, FLOUR, PORK, &c., &c. All the above Goods are bought at the lowest Cash Prices and will be sold ONLY FOR CASH OR READY PAY. Don't forget the place, at the old stand of VAN NAME & WICKHAM, Tioga, Pa., Feb. 20, 1867.

Stoves & Tin Ware

FOR THE MILLION. D. P. ROBERTS, OPPOSITE ROY'S BUILDING. Is now prepared to furnish the public with anything in his line of business, in quantity as large, in quality as good, and at a cheap price as any dealer in Northern Pennsylvania. He pays particular attention to the STOVE AND TIN WARE BUSINESS, and intend to keep a full assortment of everything in that line. TIN WARE MADE TO ORDER, promptly, and warranted to give satisfaction. REPAIRING executed in the best manner and with dispatch. CALL AND SEE ME. D. P. ROBERTS, Wellborough, March 7, 1866.

Clothing! Clothing!

THE subscriber having now determined to CLOSE OUT HIS STOCK OF WINTER CLOTHING, UNDERGARMENTS, &c., &c. Offers the whole for THE NEXT THIRTY DAYS, At actual COST for cash. This stock is Large and Attractive, and will be found worthy of attention, as it comprises a GREAT VARIETY OF RICH & ELEGANT CLOTHING. He also offers his stock of WINTER DRESS GOODS, which comprises a great variety of French Merinos, Cashmeres, &c., &c., together with about 20 SETTS of LADIES' FURS, on the same terms. THOMAS HARDEN, Wellboro, Feb. 20, 1867.

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits."

REMARKABLE MAN.

At a temperance meeting, held in Alabama a short time ago, Colonel Lemanovsky, who had been twenty-three years in the armies of Napoleon Bonaparte, addressed the meeting. He arose before the audience, tall, erect, and vigorous, with a glow of health upon his cheek, and said: "You see before you a man seventy years old. I have fought two hundred battles; my feet were wounded on my body; have lived thirty days on horse flesh, with the bark of trees for my bread, snow and ice for my drink, the canopy of heaven for my covering, without stockings or shoes on my feet, and only a few rags of clothing. In the deserts of Egypt I have marched for many miles with a burning sun upon my naked head; feet blistered in the scorching sand, and with eyes, nostrils and mouth filled with dust—and with a great and terrible thirst. I have opened the veins of my arms, and sucked my own blood! Do you ask how I survived these horrors? I answered, that under the protection of God, I never drank a drop of spirituous liquor in my life," and continued he, "Baron Larry, chief of the medical staff of the French army, has stated as a fact, that the 6000 survivors who safely returned from Egypt, were all those men who abstained from ardent spirits