

	Photographers and others ordering goods C. O. H.		That's high the biggest insect ever 1		ty, it is impossible to tell white here [carnestness in their auvocacy, are about 1	he, with dogged storelsin and a resigna-
WESTFIELD, PA., (FEORG & CLOSE, Propri-	will please remit 25 per cent, of the amount with their	HEAVY GROCERIES.		his hanging tongue quivered with each	pened afterwards before I tell what	dantly justified by the facts.	tion almost defight, faces his execution-order. The prices and quality of our goods cannot full	LLIM VI WILLOUISILISS,	body. "It must be all-fired dark about]	twisting of the coils, an' his ribs crack-	happened first."		ers, saying in actions if not words, "I eter. A new Hotel equalacted, on the principle of the second det live, for the accommodation of	to satisfy, Jan. 2, 1867–920.		hismiddleinside; wantsawindow there,	led up so as 1 could hear them where 1	And then he went on: "And then		am ready." After being seated on the the publicNov. 11, 1860-Hy.		AT AT	Tehontd anose 77	stood. Thunder! that was a grand pic-	another locust went in and carried of the jatone	To the Farmers of Tioga County.		"Do you say so?" drawled Vansten."	tura; I never saw a grander. I stood	another grain of corn, and then anoth-	scarcely enough to keep body and soul	head of his cotlin the prisoner is blind-
J. C. STRANG.			spitting on the carcass. "Why, they	quiet for some minutes, watching, until	er locust went in and carried off anoth-	together, yet who, if they had the cour-	folded. His suspense in that fearful po-
ATTORNEY AT LAW. Any business entrust-	TAM now building at my manufactory, in Lawronce-	WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,	tell us that out Massoorah-way the	the spake gave a last grip, an' then lay	er grain of corn, and then another lo-	age to conquer a new country, might	sition is short. In a low tirm voice the
ed to his care will receive prompt attention.	Vine, a superior S	ionitate tuest no orginite super-	snakes air so big that their head and	still whis bloody throat among the flow 1	cust went in and carried off another	easily achieve for themselves that mod-	words, "ready," "aim," "fire," are
Knoxville, Pa., Nov. 14, 1866,-tf	FANNING MILL, mail		tail sometimes fail to connect' at meal	ers, ke a swan on a pond-bank.	grain of corn, and then another locust	erate wealth which is always and every-	given. A crash of musketry follows.
1101(1116) 11., 1107, 12, 2000,-01		and at reasonable prices.	time ??	Just then, a notice reality in the	went in and carried off another grain	where the best of good fortune.	The head of the unfortunate man
GEO. W. RYON.	which possesses the following advantages over all other	, r-	This transit joke raised a laugh; but	nead to kill the varmin, for ing was un	ULUUIN	Every great American city, at the	strikes the lid of the coffin- with a
	1. It suparatos oats, rat litter, and foul seeds, and		before the Missourian could reply, Fra-	biggest I ever see, an' disparint would	The king listened with unconquer-	present moment, is over-run with ap-	heavy "thug:" The surgeon's exam-
ATTORNEY & COUNSELOR AT LAW, Law-	chess and cocklo, from wheat.	FARMERS & OTHERS	zer called on us all to heave at the rope	be worth a good 'pinch' at the Sological	able patience for six months more,	plicants for something to do: Chicago	ine him. He is dead, rencoville, Tioga Co., Pa Bounty, Pension,	2. It cleans flax seed, takes out yellow seedy and all	The set of	hitched round the monster's neck	places in New York. I weren't such	when he again interrupted him, with:	like New York, is crowded with young	We know nothing of the guilt or inand Insurance Agent. Collections promptly	other seeds, perfectly. 3. It cleans timothy seed.		The snake wasskinned, doubled over,	an etarnal fool as to take shorts at the	"Oh! friend! I am weary of your lo-	men who have flocked to it, like moths	nocence of this man. He probably de-attended to. Office 20 door below Ford House.	4. It does all other separating regulred of a mill	Will find it to their advantage totcall and look at.	and stretched in the smoke of our fire,	cretur', for I knew a blow o' that long	custs. How soon do you think they	to a candle, only to be devoured by the	served to die as he did. We certainly
Don. 12, 1868-1y,	This mill is built of the best and most durable tim-		whence the big jaws gaped down at us	tail would bust in a man's brain-box	will have it done?"		have no desire to apologize for his crime.
C. F. SWAN,	ber, in good style, and is sold cheap for cash, or pro-		as we sat round after supper. Some ob-	like cracking hickories; so I put about	To which the story-teller made an-	a young man in the West is to prompt	Yet, pephaps, not one of the twenty
U. L. Dwyglin,	I will fit a patent sieve, for separating oats from	~	served that "a man's hand would come	in my mind how it should be done.	swer:	him to keep a store. "Buy a stock of
A GENT for the Lycoming County Insurance	wheat, to other mills, on reasonable terms.	Remember the place,	off pretty easy in them nippers."	Just then, I caught sight of the loose	"Oh! king, who can tell? At the		execution, saw the sublime fortitude
A Company, at Tioga, Pa.	J. H. MATHER,	HIE E MANY A L. P.	on precey easy in elem imports.	end, wagging and waving likeakitten's	time to which my story has come the	And of the multitudes that listen to the
Juno 6, 18663m*	Lawrencoville, October 10, 1866-tf c	TOWNSEND'S OLD STAND,	"Guess it would !!! said Frazer-	when it sees a ball of twist; an' L	locusts have cleared a small space : it	suggestion nearly all are ensnared. The Townomen's own ormany,	"guess it would so ! But I've seen snakes	thought: Suppose you, Jem Beasley,	may be genuit each way round the bole.	prospect appears brilliant, but the result
FARR'S HOTEL,	QAVE YOUR GREENBACKS		from China westwards towards eterni-	was to amputate that lere loose end.	and the air is still dark with locusts on		norma uchtus nonceu ma counge and ty-whip-snakes, rattlesnakes, rock-	Thunder ! I did it slick. A slice of my	all'aidea But let the king have ha-	proves fatal.	perfect self control, in facing so coolly
TIOGA, TIOGA COUNTY, PA.,	-6.2.1		snakes, corals, urals, sangers, and all	machete amputated two foot six as clean	tioned and no doubt we shall have to		his executionerstwelve men with load-
· •	AND CALL OFTEN AT	Fob. 27, 1867-if.	other devils; 'I've seen pythons an' boas	as a minister's daughter a visitation?	come to the end of them in time."	the majority of Western farmers suc-	en muskens, the the contents of which Good stabling, attached, and an attentive hos-			in tens an' hundreds, but one snake 1	"Wall an, then, ye know, I sloped	Thus encouraged, the king listened	ceed. A more accurate statement would	were in a few seconds to pierco his
tler always in attendanco.		COBBLER'S EMPORIUM.	never yet see, an' that's the one as	etarnal quick; but the snake were		be, that, with an excoption of a small
E. S. FARR,	Nast & Auerbach's	1.110 THE CARLON THE CARLON	would go aside to hurt a human' cretur.'	quicker I tell you! The rattle an' crash-		minority of Western merchants, all
			I don't say other folks haven't sot eyes	ing behind me was loud enough to scare		fail; while, with an exception of a	the unfortunate prisoner. He certainly
Blacksmith and Farrier.	CHEAP CASH STORE.	BENJAMIN SEELEY, shoe-	on him, but I never did, an' my travel's	a marble staato; an' before I'd got three		small minority of Western farmers, all
	t the second sec	maker, over Jerome Smith's store	been very free."	vorde through the bush I know it wore	ried off another grain of corn, and then another locust went in and carried off	succeed. In view of these undisguised
TOSEPH MANLY would inform the citizens	BLOSSBURG, PA.,	on Main Street, would just say to	"You're in the right ranche, sir!"	an my truit Great Howar how T	another locust went in and carried on	and warning facts, it is astonishing to
of Wollshore and vicinity that he has beased		hat portion of them who have the	said Beasley.	what I There along the unit the there	another grain of corn, and then another	see so many young men who, on com-
the old Mack stand, on Water street, lately og-	Where you can always find the best assorted		"Why, down east," sneered Vansten,	and nineles' locations through the thorns	locust went in and carried off another	ing from the East to the West, to begin cupied by Mr. Ritter, where he may be found	where you can always and the dest assorted	dudude to change their condition-that he is	"a sucking babe ain't afeard o' the	an' pinelas, leaving flesh on every bush.	grain of corn."	a career, wreck themselves at the out-	like a hero. A sigh for the fate of prepared to shoe horses and oxen, and do all	SLOCK OF	now prepared to manufacture coarse gentle-	greatest sea-sappent, so long as the old	but it weren't no use, an' I knew that	The state before single sector	set by deliberately choosing the wrong work pertaining to his trade. He also is a prac-	DOMINATION PLANAY DAY COODS	men's fine Boots, or fine gentlemen's course Boots	flag's flying over-head. Ain't that so	well. The durn worm glided after me	no rouger that or one.	channel of success.	Ser
tical Farrier, and will treat horses for diseases."	DUMESTIC & FANCE DEL GOUDS,	in as hungling a manner, and at as dear rates as	Beasley ?"	sure as Death, making two yards to my	"Oh, man, that is enough, take my	I was walking with an experienced	"But eleven of the twelve muskets are loaded
October 24, 1866-tf .		any other establishment this side of Whitney's	"That's so! The babe's not afraid of	one. I swear to you boys, 1 here it	daughter! take my kingdom! take any-	merchant around the market square of	with ball, one containing a blank cartridge. The
	CLOTHS, NOTIONS, READY-	Corners Anything in the line of Shoemaking or Cobbling will be admirably botched on the	any Yankee gas nor lie: an' more'n	snorting an' roaring like a wounded	thing, everything, only lot me hear, no	a Western town, to whom I happened	object of this is plain ! To n consitive mind the
"Hairdressing & Shaving.		shortest notice. Dou't examine my work ; it	that, he's gay sure no living cretur'	grisly, an' its stinking breath burned	more of the abominable locusts."	to put the question. "How many of	consciousness of having participated in the exe-
Saloon over Willoox & Barker's Store, Wells-	MADE CLOTHING,	won't bear inspection; but "go it blind." Re-	would go willingly under' that flag.	through my back. I know 'twere no	And so the story-teller was married	them are thrifty in their business?"	cution of a comrade, though under orders, is not boro, Pa. Particular ottention paid to Ladies'.		member the place, next door to Shakspearela-	The babe's a sight safer than a down-	use running, an' in a few seconds the	to the king's daughter, and was declared.	"Only three." He then explained that	alway's pleasant. None of the twelve know whose Hair ontting Shampooing, Dyeing, efe. Braids.	Manufactured under their own supervision.	Tailor Shop. B. SEELEY.	east Yankee cuss on the Mosquito	seare passed off-'twere downright 'bad	heir to the throne, and nobody over ex-	these three were getting rich; that a	gun contains the harmless cartridge, consequent- ly each one has a reasonable right to consider l'affs, coils, and swiches on hand and made to or-		Nov, 14, 1866tf.	chore Il	at first-an' I turned to front the var-	pressed a wish to hear the rest of the	dozen others were earning a living; but
der.	Also Gents' furnishing goods, &c., &c.	Of all the trades from East to West	"Now, then, boys! If you want to	min. But when I saw it not three feet	story, for he said it was impossible to	that a great majority of the remainder	Annoen Annoene.
H.W. DORSEY. J. JOHNSON.		The cobbler part contending : -	shoot, shoot! an' get it over; an' if you	from me I turned to run again, an' 1'm	come to the other part of it till he had	must sooner or later, one after another,	[For the Agitator.]
	In their merchant tailoring establishment they defy	He's like in time to prove the best,	don't want to shoot, drink I an' get it	ashamed to own it to no man. Its	done with the locusts.	drop into bankruptcy. On the contrary	D
GOLD received on deposite, for which certifi-	competition; having the best tailors of New York city, and an experienced cutter, Mr. H. P. Erwin, [feb2160ly	Who every day is mending;	over; an' if you don't want to shoot,	T chicat was bent up in an ander-curve		almost every old established farmer	Whitneyville.
• UT cates will be issued, bearing interest in gold.						CHINDRA CYCLY CHU CSCLUIDENCE HAINCI	v
		How happy he who can amend,	divinit and got it down That's roal	to the level of my waist, an' the great			· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
B. W. CLARK & CO, Bankers,		The soles of all his neighbors;	drink! an' get it down. That's real	white mouth was all agape, an' clot-	A Fight with Walruses.	whom I have met in the West has told	Nestled down among the grand old
		The soles of all his neighbors; He's ever unmindful of his end,	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked,	white mouth was all agape, an' clot-	A Fight with Walruses.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
h. W. CLARK & CO, Bankars, No 85 south Third'street, Phila.	E. R. KIMBALL,	The soles of all his neighbors; Ile's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked,	white mouth was all agape, an' clot-	A Fight with Walruses.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little
h. W. CLARK & CO, Bankars, S. No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., laif of the 2d Pa. Cavalty, after nearly four repriof any service, with a large	E. R. KIMBALL,	The soles of all his neighbors; Ile's ever unmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr , here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago worth about five hundred dollars (or	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmall
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. BACON, M. D., laife of the 2d Pa. Cavalry, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hespital practice, has opened an 	E. R. KIMBALL,	The soles of all his neighbors; Ile's ever unmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr_{-} , here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eves. mad with spite, glaring linto	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek,	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the grantice of medicine and surgery. In all its brackers. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market,	The soles of all his neighbors ; lie's ever anniadful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man."	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine Such eyes—such eyes! They	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago, worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my perperty for a dozen or perhaps	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmall
 W. CLARK & CO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., laife of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experimence in field and the pital practice, has opened an office for the bractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches, Persons from a distance can find good bourding at the reansaying Hotel when desired. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A,	The soles of all his neighbors; lie's ever annindful of his end, And to fils last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.]	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "T'm curious about it." I said. "ber	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago, worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, fibere has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein
h. W. CLARK & CO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. BACON, M. D., laife of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly four years of any service, with a large experience in field and ho-pital practice, has opened an office for the gradies of medicine and surgery, in all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fennsylvanja Hotel when desired Will weit any use of the State in consultation, or to	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, DESPECTFULLY announces to the trading	The soles of all his neighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm curious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con-	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The ''huk! Muk!' of	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago, worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open gate to	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the gractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Tennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State h. con-ultation, or to perform surgers. No. 4. Union Block, up 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading R, public that he has a desirable stock of Gro-	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machiber visits our country, are	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- ctivities approach bir and use	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They scemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open spate to failure and a farm an open road to	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thend good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up sturg. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—1y. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERV AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar,	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machiber visits our country, are	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shrick, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shricks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zo small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the gractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Tennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State h. con-ultation, or to perform surgers. No. 4. Union Block, up 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first-	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machiber visits our country, are	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary,	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat. I	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe,	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success.	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zo small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large office for the bractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches' Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fonnsylvanja Hotel when dostred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Symps, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all set-	The soles of all his neighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to fils last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical innehibery linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary,	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat. I	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success I t requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.—	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thend good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up sturg. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—1y. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasces, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours.	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machinery linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This boom will do all kinds of hand weaving.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary,	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadrom to squadrom along a line of battle; and	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success I t requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmal in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, hi seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches' Persons from a distance can had good bounding at the Fenneylyang Hotel when desired	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sive at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan. 2, 1867-tf.	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical hunchinery lift our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This boom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati-	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority."	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every niece of ice plunged the	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago, worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now L could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open regate to failure, and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmal in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, hi seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches', Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Founsylvana Hotel when dostred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices' Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf.	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lifts our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, kersey, flannet, seamless sack, double width	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm curious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority."	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The ''huk!' fulk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beats as ouickly as the sailor	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago, worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure, and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind the conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un-	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmal- in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, hi- seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches', Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Tonnsyizang Hotel when desired	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sive at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan. 2, 1867-tf.	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inchibery lift our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jestis, Blankets, plain cloth, saff- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the recalles, throws the shuttle	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an'	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; find down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zo small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any,thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., laife of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the bractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches', Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the reansylving Hotel when desired	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR,	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiber vinito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle,	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an'	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see' a madman chained,	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct.	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, is the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACDN, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches' Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fonnsylvana Hotel when dostred.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellphoro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that ho has completed his * XEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all Fon- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo-	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical innehibery lifts our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM . This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, korsey, flannel, scamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the trendles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair. I'll tell you a	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They scemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in-	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack. I do not	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store flank each other on the main thorough
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACDN, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches' Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fonnsylvana Hotel when dostred.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellphoro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that ho has completed his * XEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all Fon- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo-	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical innehibery lifts our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM . This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, korsey, flannel, scamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the trendles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes—	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success I t requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack I do not	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flauk each other on the main thorough plare, struggling on the "Live and le
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACDN, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can had good bounding at the Tennsylvanja Hotel when dostred	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD annoance to the citizons of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf-	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inchildry lifts our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jestis, Blankets, plain cloth, saff- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the woh, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than ean. be	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms: we, call 'em—gave down by	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk!" they came	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success I t requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, up- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack," I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flank each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tire" principle, although, as is usually
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly low years of any service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, such as Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vi_netters, Cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures; also particular attention paid to loopying and onlarg- ing Pictures. Instructions ziven in the Act to the Act to Act the Angenesis and to loopying and onlarg- ing Pictures. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERV AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbor- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehilery linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm eurious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure, and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack," I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant; can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flank each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tire?" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns bying near those
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalty, after nearly low years of any service, with a large experime in field and helpital practice, has been an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasces, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical innehibery hit of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM . This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the woh, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and heats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms matte to order and 'warranted,' Apply.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman scened —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos-	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an •agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. The a few moments we were complete-	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack, I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough place, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often sue
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches', Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Tennsylvana Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERV AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbor- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of	The soles of all his noighbors; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift(o our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, korsey, flancel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the trendles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms matter to order and warranted, "Apply at the 'shop' on Witter Street, 'sign 'Loom	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realle on Transit business.	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see' a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack, I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the fueficient. But the farmer runs	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not boked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough stare, struggling on the "Live and le 'the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc chub to the superior inducements held
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalty, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thel good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hears. Wellsbore, Jan. 2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE,	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL person's intrested in the introduction of practical machinery into our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jean's Blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the irreadles, throws the shutth lets off the woh, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Loom's findto to order and warranted. Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory."	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business.	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all, myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack of I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not boked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc enimb to the superior inducements hels out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly low years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the gractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Biock, up stars. Wellshore, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIEANK SPENCER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, such al Ambrotypes, Ferretypes, Vi_mettes, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also participar attention paul topopying and enlarg- ing Pietures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable forms. Elimita St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehilerylinto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms that to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Watter Street; sign "Loom Factory," IEWIS WETMORE; Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "T'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsage. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ate any	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hanmock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk !" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack I do not be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the fueficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, so small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, hi seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield, Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business,"
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly low years of anny service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the gractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Biock, up stars. Wellshore, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIEANK SPENCER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, such al Ambrotypes, Ferretypes, Vi_mettes, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also participar attention paul topopying and enlarg- ing Pietures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable forms. Elimita St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehilerylinto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms that to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Watter Street; sign "Loom Factory," IEWIS WETMORE; Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsage. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any-	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Mik! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk " they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure, and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inefficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks, than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature : the merchant gives an unsafe	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zo small in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, if seemed incredible that any,thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store: flatk each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le dive" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements help out at Wellsboro and Mansfield; Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business, and acting on this theory another boo
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a may service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice or medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Tennsylvang Hotel when desired	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivile at all sea- sonable hears. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Cra- fon streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on chert fortion.	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to flis last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehilerylinto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms that to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Watter Street; sign "Loom Factory," IEWIS WETMORE; Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm curious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation. an' loss of blood.	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hanmock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk !" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, up- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inflicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein j but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough place, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction of
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACDN, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice or medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when dostred.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellphoro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIRANK SPEINCEER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY. and is on hand to take all kinds of San Pietures, such as Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vignettures, Cartes do Visite, the surprise and Eureka Pietures, attres and is of the surprise and Eureka Pietures, attres to particular attention paid to copying and enlarg- ing Pietures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable torms. Elimina St., Mansheld, Oct. 1, 1866. MATTHENTHON SOLDHERS. W M. B. SMITH, Knoxville, Tioga Conniv, R., (U. S. Liconsed Agent, and Attornov for solutions and their friends throngheat all the four solutions and their friends throngheat all the 	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COFFINS of all kinds furnished, on short unitee, All work done promptly and war-	The soles of all his noighbors; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inchiber shifts our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand wearing. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, saff- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the woh, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms mault to under and wayranted, Apply, at the 'shop' on Watter Street; bign 'Loome's Factory.'' INSURANCE AGENCY.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ate any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable.: It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: "A man	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood.	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack of 1 do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to, the shiftless and the finds by that the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein j but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough playe, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Opposition is said to be "the life of business, and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction of E. Jennings, has been added to th
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. B., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly low years of any service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thel good bounding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COFFINS of all kinds furnished, on short unitee, All work done promptly and war-	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons intrested in the introduction of practical machinery into our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the Arcalles, throws the shutth heats on the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. Looms Matter 20, 1867-16. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-16. MICHELL would	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ate any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason. like	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me.	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack, I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men ; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the fueficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest ; but a promissory note of hand	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein j but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flank each other on the main thorough pare, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction of E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of anny service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up sture. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIRANK SPEINCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his a NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY WEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, such as Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vi_netters, Cartes do Visto, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures; also particular attention, paid toloopying and onlarg- ing Pictures. Elimina Six, Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. 1 ATTENTION SOLDHERS. MITH, Knoxville, Tioga County, Ra., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attornoy for soldhers and their friends thronghent all the loyal States), will prosente and collect with un- rivalled success, 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short unitee. All work done promptly and war- ranted. Wellsbore, June 27, 1866.	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehinerylifito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM . This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the irreadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms matter to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Witter Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbers, March 20, 1867-tf	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at eany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off his side shortly." A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like-	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—tien, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an'	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this neasing prospect was soon dissipar	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for dor- tunate masters of the knack of I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men ; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Native ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest ; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tire' principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cannot to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be 'the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalty, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has upened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FRANK SPEINCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his " NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, such al Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vi_nettex, Cartes do Visido, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures; also particillar attention paul to goopying and enlarg- ing Pictures. Instructions fiven in the Art on reasonable forms. Elimina Sit, Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLDHERS. M. B. SMITH, Knoxvillo, Tiaga Connfy, Ra., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Atternoy for soldiers and their friends thronghent all the loyal States), will prosecute and collect with un- rivalled success, SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUKS 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short unitee. All work done promptly and war- ranted. Wellsbore, June 27, 1866.	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehinerylifito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM . This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- not, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the irreadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms matter to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Witter Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbers, March 20, 1867-tf	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at eany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off his side shortly." A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa-	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for dor- tunate masters of the knack of I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men ; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Native ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest ; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often sue cannot to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be 'the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly low years of a my service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Tennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellshoro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIEANK SPENCEER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, such af Ambrotypes, Ferretypes, Vignettes, Cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also participar attention paul to foopying and enlarg- ing Pfotures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable to time. Elimita St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLDHEERS. W M. B. SMITH, Knoxville, Tioga County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attornoy for soldiers and their friends throughent all the loyal States,) will prosecute and collect with un- rivalled success, SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUES of all kinds. Also, any other kind of claim 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing al- kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short unitice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY 1	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift(of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, korsey, flancel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trenda the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms thatte to order and warranted, Apply at the 'shop' on Witer Street, sign 'Loom Factory.'' IEWIS WETMORE; Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. insurance a street of the wold respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr., here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Grenser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way. I take it: though there's	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation, an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned periite! The snake a wat he with its tail be	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute; and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief, but this, pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look' well' to	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take for dor- tunate masters of the knack of I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men ; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Native ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest ; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein i but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flank each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tive" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield; Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sofe of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commenced
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACM, M. B., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavah y. after nearly lour years of anny service, with a large experime in field and ho-pital practice, has opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bonding at the Fennsylvana Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Unlen Block, up stars. Wellthoro, Pa., May 2, 1800.—19. FIR ANIK SPEINCEER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PICTURE GALLERY.— FIR ANIK SPEINCEER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, such al Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vi_nettes, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures also participlic attention paul to popying and enlarg- ing Pictures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art ou reasonable forms. Elmira St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. M. El, SMITH, Knoxville, Tioga County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attorney for soldiers and their friends throughent all the loyal States,) will prosecute and collect with un- rivalled success, SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUES 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing al- kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short unitice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY 1	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift(of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, korsey, flancel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trenda the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms thatte to order and warranted, Apply at the 'shop' on Witer Street, sign 'Loom Factory.'' IEWIS WETMORE; Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-tf. insurance a street of the wold respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Grenser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly." A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six-	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake 'gave him a likely blow with its tail be- 'gave him a likely blow with its tail be-	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief, but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we, were forced to look well to our safety.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure, and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the falisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inefficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks, than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nafire; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows- that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tillon .	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein is but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The fur-fame cheese-factory at this point commenced operations Mar 7, when the supervision
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of anny service, with a large experime in field and helpital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thel good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hears. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERX ! Novel, Fashionable & Beautiful!	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A precise intrested in the introduction of precise intrested in the introduction of precise intrested in the introduction of requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- net, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the the merits of the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Loonis matter to order and warranted. Apply, at the shop on Water Street, Binn "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an. "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie.	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see' a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose; I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake "gave him a likely blow with 'hs tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut fight 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'creur	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischiet; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we, were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inefficient. But the farmer runs few of risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton .	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be 'the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the superior inducements helf out at wellsboro in the supervision of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of anny service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has upened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good boarding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up sture. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. YEW PICTURE GALLERY.— YEW PICTURE GALLERY. YEW PICTURE GALLERY. WEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures; also particular attention, paid toloopying and onlarg- ing Pictures. Instructions Siven in the Art on reasonablotorms. Elimina Six, Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. M. E. SMITH, Knoxvillo, Tioga County, Fa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attornoy for soldiers and their friends thronghent all the loyal States), will prosente and collect with un- rivalled success, SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUES Of all kinds. Also, any other kind of chaim against the Government before any of the De- partments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the above address will re- 	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished, on short notice, All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW, MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful!	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms thatte to order and 'warranted, 'Apply, at the shop on Watter Street, sign "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinnty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ateany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie.	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'right sho	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belohing forth, the dismai "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could in o longer. be widoubt. To es-	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack. I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the finds by an the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natre; the merchant gives an unsate credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.—Theodore Tillon.	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein is but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior indocements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo- sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubtless will ere dome
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of anny service, with a large experime in field and helpital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thel good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, W E L L S B O R O, P E N N'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan. 2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- to streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished, on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW, MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! M RS, MITCHELL would say to her frindes	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, and king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms that to order and warranted, Apply, at the shop on Watter Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-theory, Harther, March respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinny, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respective fully inform the people of the sure at respective fully inform the people of this vi- cinny, that they have the agency of some of the bast	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never ate any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake ' gave him a likely blow with its tail be- ' fore it let me go; but lie citt right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'cretur slunk off at last. I had three ribs bro- keu, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons,	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an •agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The ' huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal " huk ! huk ! huk !" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischiet; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he does not hold the take for granted that he does not hold the take and the mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men ; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the finds by an the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Numer ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.—Theodore Tilton.	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Manstield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubtess will ere dom stand second to none in the country.
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACM, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavah y, after nearly lour years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can had good bonding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgeal operations. No 4, Unlen Block, up stars. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FIRANIK SPEINCEER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.— SEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, such as Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vi_nottes, Cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures ; also participlic attention paul to popying and enlarg- ing Pietures. Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable forms. Elimira St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. M. El SMITH, Knoxville, Tioga County, W. R., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attornoy for soldlers and their friends throughed all the loyal states,) will prosecute and collect with un- rivalled success, SOLDFERS' CLAIMS AND DUES of all kinds. Also, any other kind 'af claim against, the Govpriment before any of the De- partmonts or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the above and dress will re- geive prompt attention. Jan. 17, 1866. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERV AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugarg, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERX 1 Novel, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends and the public generally, that she has just	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiber vinito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, kersey, flannet, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Loomis matte to urder and warranted. Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." Loomis that the order and warranted. Wellsberd, March 20, 1867-16. Wellsberd, March 20, 1867-16. INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinnity, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respective fully inform the people of this vi- cinnity fully inform the p	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't fight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at eany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly." A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. "That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled. you	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench illed my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffication an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned periite! The snake gave him a'likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'cretur slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons; as you see, an' my left arm fractured in	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which battles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Mik! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipn- ted, and we were forced to look' well' to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer, be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack. I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the finds by an unsistakable instinct. This apticate in the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natre; the merchant gives an unsate credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.—Theodore Tidon. "The RomAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn." And the custom of Rómic	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cormall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quietly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le dive" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business, and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of two of the best operatives in th country, and doubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a may service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice or medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Tennsylvang Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In constitution, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellshore, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FERANK SPEINCEER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.— FEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also particular attention, paul to goopying and enlarg- ing Pfotures. Instructions fiven in the Art on reasonableforms. Elimina St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. [ATTEENTION SOLUTION County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Atternoy for soldlers and their friends throughedt all the layal States], will prosente aud collect with un- rivaled success, SOLDIERS CLAIMS AND DUES of all kinds. Also, any other kind 'of claim against, the Government before any of the De- partments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the abovenddre swill re- ceive prompt attention. Data Star Pietres. 	E. R. KIMBALL. GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- to streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished, on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW, MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends and the public generally; that she has just returned from New York with a Large Stock of	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibery lift of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, or any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batten comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, and king better cloth and better selvage than can be mide in any other way. Looms that to order and warranted, Apply, at the shop on Watter Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-theory, Harther, March respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinny, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respective fully inform the people of the sure at respective fully inform the people of this vi- cinny, that they have the agency of some of the bast	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ate any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned periite ! The snake gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'return slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs, bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons, as you see, an' my left arm fractured in for the sume of the and 'return fractured in further and the guest of the scale 'ribs' bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons, as you see, an' my left arm fractured in	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The "huk! Muk! huk!" of the wounded bulls seemed to find an icho everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hanmock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute; and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be al doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natre; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton . THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn. And the custom of Rohie was the custom of so of all pations thoil	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cormall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield," Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to th number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The fur-fame cheese-factory at this point commenced operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in th country, and drubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of a may service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has opened an office for the practice or medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can find good bearding at the Tennsylvang Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In constitution, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars. Wellshore, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. FERANK SPEINCEER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.— FEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also particular attention, paul to goopying and enlarg- ing Pfotures. Instructions fiven in the Art on reasonableforms. Elimina St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. [ATTEENTION SOLUTION County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Atternoy for soldlers and their friends throughedt all the layal States], will prosente aud collect with un- rivaled success, SOLDIERS CLAIMS AND DUES of all kinds. Also, any other kind 'of claim against, the Government before any of the De- partments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the abovenddre swill re- ceive prompt attention. Data Star Pietres. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends and the public generally, that she has 'just NEW MILLINERY GOODS !	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machibery linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sal- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. MENDERSONS, March 20, 1867-if. Wellsberd, March 20, 1867-if. INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty. HITCHERL infavorage been impounded. NOTARY PUBLIC,	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the myd of the	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake "gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right an' left with his machete, an' the 'reeture slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs, bro- tken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbous, a syou see, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me : but 'twere a durned close	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we, were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could ino longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our ensi- time, and we must do the best we could.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natire; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton . THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn. And the custom of Rome	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough pare, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Opposition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction on E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of two of the best operatives in the country, and drubtless will ere domi- stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly long years of any service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has been do bearding at the Fersons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fersons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fersons from a distance can block, up stars. Wellphoro, Pa., May 2, 180619. WEW PICTURE GALLERY	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS !	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical machinerylifto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, sati- net, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter to order and warranted. Apply at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS, NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinity, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respectfully inform the people of this vi- ting inform the people of this vi- cinity, that they have the agency of some of the best MARTINITIALIZED ARY PUBLIC, will attend promptily to any business relating to	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, 'on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ateany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it uplike ice, on tho	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see' a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake gave him altkely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'return slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs, bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons, as you see, an 'my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'pear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the cry was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischiet; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we, were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could in o longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our entry in a most astonishing, short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, up- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inefficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Native; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton . "THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn." And the custom of Rohie was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Mede- iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc climb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of two of this best operatives in the country, and doubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly long years of any service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has been do bearding at the Fersons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fersons from a distance can find good bearding at the Fersons from a distance can block, up stars. Wellphoro, Pa., May 2, 180619. WEW PICTURE GALLERY	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan. 2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Movél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! Consisting of	The soles of all his noighbors ; He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiber vinito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be mude in any other way. Loomis matte to order and warranted. Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- inny, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respectfully inform the people of this vi- inny, that they have the agency of some of the best MATCHISTINELIMENTING States, will attend promitly to any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to bim.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice, on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—tien, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake ' gave him a likely blow with its tail be- ' fore it let me go; but lie citt right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'cretur slunk off at last. I had three ribs bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbong, as you see, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to any man	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an •agonized ery for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The ' huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal " huk! huk! huk !' they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischiet; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our earse in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned, upon us, and we	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack 1 do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to, the shiftless and the flucflicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nather; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Titlon .	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store- flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be 'the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and, doubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings dotting the roud side.
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. B., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly long years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its brancher, Persons from a distance can had good bonding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State in consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Unlen Block, up stars. Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1866.— VEW PICTURE GALLERY.— FRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county ghat he has completed his 4 NEW PICTURE GALLERY. Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vignettes, Cartes do Visite, Instructions fiven in the 'Art on reasonable forms. Elimira St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLDHERS. W M. S. Siconsed Agent, and Attorney for solders, will prosecute and collect with unrivalled success, SOLDHERS. CLAIMS AND DUES 'of all kinds. Also, any other kind 'of claim aphins, the Gaverney to the above address will receive prompt attention. Jan. 17, 1866. WOULD enviso the public that he is permational to the above address will receive prompt attention. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugarg, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- fon streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends isonable for New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! CONSISTING OF PURPONE	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical intechibery lift of our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand wearing. It will weave jeafs, blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, korsey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttlo, lets off the wob, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filing after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter to order and warranted, "Apply at the 'shop' on Watter Street; sign "Loom Factory." Wellsberd, March 20, 1867-tf. INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance. Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at minificialist if it is any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- tion, which may be ontrusted to him.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never ate any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake 'gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut fight 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'cretur slunk off at last. I had three ribs, bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons, as you see, an' my left aim fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Mik! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from stuadrom to squadron along a line of battle; fad down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute; and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief, but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look: well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be al doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct. that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct. that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack of 1 do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature ; the merchant gives an unsate credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Titton . 'THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Mid- iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cormall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flate each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tive" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc cumb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business, and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings, dottin the rond side. The board of Education have decide
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its brancher, Persons from a distance can thelgood bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ten streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKETS, RIBBONS,	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A practical interfiber still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inmehilder still our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jestis, blankets, plain cloth, sal- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the irecalles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. ESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respectfully to any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- tion, by Lowrey, and Wilson, on Main Street	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes- worms; we, call 'em-gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with mc, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a. drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's, a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly: "That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice, on tho St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them: an	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned periite! The snake gave him a fikely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right an' left with his machete, an' the 'cretur slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbons, as you see, an' my left am fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an! I don't know a sever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were!	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, is if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Mik! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadrom to squadron along a line of battle; fad down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief, but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look: well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned, upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths.	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open gate to failurel and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natire; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.—Theodore Tilton. THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Med iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from seven to nine o'clock. The Turks and	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough place, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc climb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo- sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo find shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commenced operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings, dotting the rond side. The board of Education have decide
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalty, after nearly lour years of a my service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has been an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches, Persons from a distance can held good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when desired. Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Block, up stars, Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 180619. FRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his a NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pictures, such al Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vignettex, Cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pictures; also particillar attention paid to doopying and enlarging Plotues. Instructions fiven in the Art on reasonable forms. Elimina St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLDHERS. W. R., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Atternoy for soldiers and their friends thronghent all the loyal States), will prosecute and collect with untrivialed success. SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUKS of all kinds. Also, any other kind of claim against the Government before any of the Department series for the avect of the success. SOLDIERS' CLAIMS AND DUKS of all kinds. Also, any other kind of claim against, the Government before any of the Departments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the above address will reserve and sent to the above address will reserve the sent to the above address will reserve the land Office and Episopal Church) where be will continue to do all kinds. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sive at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsbore, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizeng of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING, DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished, on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW, MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! CONSISTING of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKEYS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C.	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibory linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, saff- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. Looms matter way. MENDERSONS MARCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at respectfully to any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- pied, by Lowroy, and Wilson, on Main Street, Wellsboro, Pa. March 13, 1867-19.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it uplike ice on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk sfood un along	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake "gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'reeture slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs, bro- tken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbous, a syou see, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know a sever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were! "But J'd near forcotten the 'p'nt' of	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure, and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every, beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack. I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks, than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nafure; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows- that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tillon . "THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An I m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn. And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Med- iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like ged boys, from soven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Manstield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings dottin the road side. The board of Education have decide to erect a new, and it is hoped suitable
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavalay, after nearly long years of a may service, with a large experime in field and hospital practice, has upened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches, Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fennsylvania Hotel when desired.—Will visit any part of the State In constitution, or to perform surgical operations. No 4, Union Biock, up stars, Wellshoro, Pa., May 2, 1806.—19. WEW PICTURE GALLERY.— FEANK SPENCER bas the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county that he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, and is on hand to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, Cartes do Visito, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures; also participar attention paid to popying and enlarging Pfotures. Elimita St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLEDEERS. W M. El SMITH, Knoxville, Tiega County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Atternoy for soluliers and their friends throughent all the loyal States), will prosecute aud collect with unrivalled success, Solutions. Lang of the Department before any of the Departments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All comminations sent to the above address will receive prompt attention. Jan. 17, 1866. DENTISTION SOLARTT, WOULD say to the public that he is permained to a law of the Departments of in Congress. Terms moderate. All comminations sent to the above address will receive prompt attention. Jan. 17, 1866. 	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading tublic that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spiced, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan. 2, 1867-tf. JOHN SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizons of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! Consisting of BONNETS, FOCKETS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C.	The soles of all his noighbors : He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiber vinito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, kersey, flannet, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Loomis matte to order and 'warranted, 'Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." Loomis that the order and 'warranted, 'Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinnit, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at "MITCHERE Undaving been uppointed. NOTARY PUBLIC, will attend promitly to any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- pied, by Lowroy, and Wilson, on Main Street, Wellsboro, Pa. March 13, 1867-1y.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it uplike ice on the st. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk stood up along plastered an' hanging with dry mud	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake "gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut fight 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'reeture slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs, bro- tken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbous, a syou see, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know a sever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were! "But I'd near forgotten the 'p'int of the narrative; that snake went back an'	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which baffles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized ery for held; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! huk!' huk!' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; faid down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our ensi- in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the walruses to get their tusks over the	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this: "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." "Thus it seems as if a store was an open sgate to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct, that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the inefficient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Native; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton . "THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rohie was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Mede- iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from seven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta- tions and the habits of the ancients, do other people, who succeeded in the sta-	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, zosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it beasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business, and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction of E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a defermination to care for the sole of two of the best operatives in the country, and, doubtless will cre don stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings dottin the road side. The board of Education have decide two read of Education have decide two reads and the source of the source of sufficient size to allow the mind as the source of the source of the source of the source of the road side.
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACM, M. B., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavah y, after nearly long years of any service, with a large variable of the 2d Pa. Cavah y, after of medicine and surgery. In all its branches, Persons from a distance can had good bonding at the Fennsylvana Hotel when desired.— Will visit any part of the State In consultation, or to perform surgeal operations. No 4, Unlead Block, up stars, Wellsboro, Pa., May 2, 1866.—IV. FRANK SPENCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county ghat he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY.— FRANK SPEINCER has the pleasure to inform the citizens of Tioga county ghat he has completed his 4 NEW PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY. and to take all kinds of Sun Pietures, such as Ambrotypes, Ferrotypes, Vignettes, Cartes do Visite, the Surprise and Eureka Pietures is also participlic attention paul togooying and enlarging Pietures. Elimina St., Mansfield, Oct. 1, 1866. ATTENTION SOLDHEERS. W A. B. SMITH, Knoxville, Tioga County, Pa., (U. S. licensed Agent, and Attorney for soldlers and their friends throughed all clay of claim against the Govpriment before any of the Dury for soldlers and their friends through and the county of a county of the Surprise cart and collect with unrivalled success, SOLDHERS CLAIMS AND DUKS of all kinds. Also, any other kind is of claim against the Govpriment before any of the Departments or in Congress. Terms moderate. All communications sent to the above address will receive prompt attention. Jan. 17, 1866. WOULD say to the public that he is permationed and the sent to the above and the sent to the above and the sent to the shore, (Office at his residence, near the Land Office and Episopal Church) where he will continue to do all kinds of work confided to his care, goaranteeing complete staisfietion where the skill of the Dentiot on the states of the sent to the sent to the state of the sent tor the sent to the state of	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugar, Molasce, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every sivle at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- ro and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. CORFINS of all kinds furnished on short indice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY ! Novél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends is and the public generally, that she has 'just returned from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS ! Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKEYS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C. Everything belonging to the Millinery Trade of the	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachibory linto our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, blankets, plain cloth, saff- not, kersey, flannel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, woel or flax cloth. It trends the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms matter way. March 13, 1867-19.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr.—, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I am nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes— worms; we, call 'em—gave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never ateany- thing, nor drank a drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly. A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly. That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it uplike ice, on tho St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk stood up along plastered an' hanging with dry mud Man don't improve most things in this	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see' a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut fight 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'eretur slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs bro- ken, my face an' scalp bitten to ribbops, as you see, an 'my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'jear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were! "But I'd near forgotten the p'int of the narrative; that snake went back an' ate his calf—by the Etarnal, he did,	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief; but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look' well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be a doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our energy. That we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the walruses to get their tusks over the bernivale of the boat, and it was evident	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success! It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct. that he is really one of the few find for- tunate masters of the knack. I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nathe ; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to map. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tilton . "The Roman 'BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Med iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from seven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta- tions and the habits of the ancients, do so at this day. The Roman, therefore, do so at this day. The Roman, therefore, do	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any, thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the 'substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i 'the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two store- flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le 'tire" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be 'the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and, doubless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings dotting the road side. The board of Education have decide twenty to expand without burst index of the youth of the immedi at evicinity to expand without burst
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thelgood bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugarg, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY 1 Movél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends istemed from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS 1 Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKETS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C. Everything belonging to the Millinery Trade of the	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiberylifit our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, kersey, flancel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the trendles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms thatle to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Witer Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-16. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-17. MESSRS, NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best MOTARY PUBLIC, will attend promitly to any business relating to his office, which may bo entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- pied, by Lowrey, and Wilson, on Main Street, Wellsbord, Pa. HARKNESS & RILEY,	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I ain nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes- worms; we, call 'emgave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a. drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's, a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly: That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice, on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk stood up along plastered an' hanging with dry mud Man don't improve most things in this country bay and way and for a sinch bay and plastered an' hanging with dry mud	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring finto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman seemed —Ah! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffication an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right 'an' left with his machete, an' the 'eretur slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs bro- ken, my face au' scalp bitten to ribbons, a syou see, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'bear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an' I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were! "But I'd near forgotten the 'p'nit of the narrative; that snake went back an' ate his calf—by the Etarnal, he 'did boys!"	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Mik! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; fad down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated an attack there could no longer. We was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our earsy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the walruses to get their tusks over the Igunwale of the boat, and it was evident that, in the event of one such monster	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this." "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open state to failure and a farm an open road to success. It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct. that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct. that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack of 1 do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Nature; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Titton . "THE ROMAN BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.` And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Mid- iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the air- cients went to bed, like good boys, from soven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta- tions and the habits of the ancients, do so at this day. The Roman, therefore, who saw no loke in sitting round a ta-	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any,thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough fare, struggling on the "Live and le tite?" principle, 'although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc climb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield." Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business,' and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The fur-fame cheese-factory at this point commence operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and drubtless will ere dom stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se numerous bran new dwellings dotting the road side. The board of Education have decide tween the out of the youth of the immediant the wind side.
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its brancher, Persons from a distance can find good bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugarg, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY 1 Movél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends istemed from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS 1 Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKETS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C. Everything belonging to the Millinery Trade of the	The soles of all his noighbors ; Ho's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiberylifit our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sall- net, kersey, flancel, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flax cloth. It trends the trendles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and bests up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and better selvage than can be made in any other way. Looms thatle to order and warranted, Apply at the shop on Witer Street, sign "Loom Factory." Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-16. Wellsbord, March 20, 1867-17. MESSRS, NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinty, that they have the agency of some of the best MOTARY PUBLIC, will attend promitly to any business relating to his office, which may bo entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- pied, by Lowrey, and Wilson, on Main Street, Wellsbord, Pa. HARKNESS & RILEY,	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I ain nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes- worms; we, call 'emgave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a. drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's, a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly: That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice, on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk stood up along plastered an' hanging with dry mud Man don't improve most things in this country bay and way and for a sinch bay and plastered an' hanging with dry mud	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman scened —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash au' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake 'gave him a likely blow with its tall be- 'gave, an' my left arm fractured in two places. The loss of his tail to 'jear' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an! I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were! 'But I'd near forgotten the p'int of the narrative; that snake went back an' ate his calf—by the Etarnal, he did, boys!"	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Muk! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; and down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammoek when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated mischief, but this pleasing prospect was soon dissipa- ted, and we were forced to look well to our safety. That they meditated an attack there could no longer be al doubt. To es- cape the onslaught was impossible. We had raised a homet's nest about our energy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we were fastened turned upon us, and we were the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the walruses to get their tusks over the ignuwale of the boat, and it was evident that, in the event of one such monster hooking on to us the boat would be torn	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open gate to failure, and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack i I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judge of men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Natire; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.—Theodore Tilton. THE ROMAN 'BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Med iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from seven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta- tions and the habits of the ancients, do so at this day. The Roman, therefore, who saw no joke in sitting round a ta- ble in the dark, went off to bed as the	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for some years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough are, struggling on the "Live and he live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc camb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo and shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of two of the best operatives in the country, and drubtless will ere domi- stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se- numerous bran new dwellings dotting the rond side. The board of Education have decide tween the substant size to allow the minds of the youth of the immedi- ate vienity to expand without burst ing the elapboards from the siles; stud- the will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se-
 W. CLARK & GO, Bankers, No 85 south Third'street, Phila. D. BACON, M. D., lais of the 2d Pa. Cavahy, after nearly lour years of any service, with a large experime in held and hospital practice, has opened an office for the fractice of medicine and surgery. In all its branches? Persons from a distance can thelgood bounding at the Fonnsylvania Hotel when destred	E. R. KIMBALL, GROCERY AND RESTAURANT, One door above the Meat Market, WELLSBORO, PENN'A, RESPECTFULLY announces to the trading public that he has a desirable stock of Gro- ceries, comprising, Teas, Coffeed, Spices, Sugarg, Molasses, Syrups, and all that constitutes a first- class stock. Oysters in every style at all sea- sonable hours. Wellsboro, Jan.'2, 1867-tf. JOHN. SUHR, WOULD announce to the citizong of Wellsbo- re and surrounding country, that he has opened a shop on the corner of Water and Craf- ton streets, for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of CABINET FURNITURE, REPAIRING AND TURNING DONE to order. COEFINS of all kinds furnished on short notice. All work done promptly and war- ranted. NEW. MILLINERY 1 Movél, Fashionable & Beautiful! MRS. MITCHELL would say to her friends istemed from New York with a Large Stock of NEW MILLINERY GOODS 1 Consisting of BONNETS, JOCKETS, RIBBONS, FLOWERS, LACES, d.C. Everything belonging to the Millinery Trade of the	The soles of all his noighbors : He's ever inmindful of his end, And to his last still labors. HAND POWER LOOM. [Patenteil 1865.] A LL persons interested in the introduction of practical inachiber vinito our country, are requested to investigate the merits of HENDERSON'S HAND POWER LOOM. This loom will do all kinds of hand weaving. It will weave jeans, Blankets, plain cloth, sail- net, kersey, flannet, seamless sack, double width blankets, er any kind of cotton, wool or flag cloth. It treads the treadles, throws the shuttle, lets off the web, and takes up the cloth. It makes, the upper shed as the batter comes forward, and beats up the filling after the cross is made, ma- king better cloth and botter selvage than can be mide in any other way. Loomis matte to order and 'warranted, 'Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." Loomis that the order and 'warranted, 'Apply, at the shop on Water Street, sign "Loom Factory." INSURANCE AGENCY. MESSRS. NICHOLS & MITCHELL would respectfully inform the people of this vi- cinnit, that they have the agency of some of the best Life & Fire Insurance Companies In the States, and are now prepared to insure at "MITCHERE Undaving been uppointed. NOTARY PUBLIC, will attend promitly to any business relating to his office, which may be entrusted to him. They will be found at the office formerly occu- pied, by Lowroy, and Wilson, on Main Street, Wellsboro, Pa. March 13, 1867-1y.	drink! an' get it down. That's real western talk, isn't it? Well sucked, both. Now, Mr, here, wants to know whether any of us, as was born in the woods, and suckled on tree-juice, ever knew a python to attack a man." "I'm durious about it," I said, "be- cause I ain nearly convinced that con- strictor-snakes, however big, are quite harmless. In all my travels, I never met with an instance to the contrary, nor have I ever heard one told with fair jungle authority." "Well, boys," began the big Missouri- an, "as Double Dutch won't tight, an' as I've drunk with him, an' called him a poor cuss right an' fair, I'll tell you a right down scare one of these snakes- worms; we, call 'emgave down by Leon. It was just at the end of the rains, two yearsago. I was riding from Granada to Realje, on Transit business. "An old Greaser was in company with me, an all-fired sort, who never at any- thing, nor drank a. drop, nor slept any way comfortable. It's, a sort as'll be spunged off. his side shortly: A man who don't drink fair an' in reason, like- wise sleep, will never think in reason nor act fair and manly: That is, not in a general way, I take it; though there's exceptions to all things except at a six- inch bowie. "Wall, within a'league or two of San Jorge, the bush thickens up, an' at that time of the year it was high-piled, you may swear. Such as it was, the track was clear enough, but the mud of the rains had cracked it up like ice, on the St. Lawrence in a thaw. There were welts and rifts in it as would break a man's leg if he sot step in them; an the naked tree-trunk stood up along plastered an' hanging with dry mud Man don't improve most things in this country bay and way and for a sinch bay and plastered an' hanging with dry mud	white mouth was all agape, an' clot- tered with thick blood. Behind it was a whirl of leaves an' dust an' broken branches an' in the midst shone two big eyes, mad with spite, glaring jinto mine. Such eyes—such eyes! They seemed to burn an' stare with a fire from inside, and the clear cover them looked white an' filmy like horn. I mind me thinking: If they would but glance aside only for a pulse-beat, I would be all myself agin. But they glared an' blazed out of the dust with such fiendish spite that I felt like a squirrel charmed by the rattle. At St Louis once, I see a madman chained, who had just that look, an' for an in- stant the face of that madman scened —Ah ! An' then I don't recollect much more. There was a crash an' a wild rush—a reeking stench j filled my nos- trils—a pressure like death wrapped in my throat an' chest—I felt blow after blow upon my head—then, I suppose, I swounded with suffocation an' loss of blood. "It was the old Greaser saved me. He guessed something was wrong, an' came back to see. A good old fellow he were, but so durned perlite! The snake gave him a likely blow with its tail be- fore it let me go; but lie cut right an' left with his machete, an' the 'creture slunk off at last. I had three 'ribs bro- two places. The loss of his tail to 'pert' on saved me; but 'twere a durned close thing that time boys; an! I don't know as ever I felt more kindly to 'any man than I did to the old Greaser. Though he were perlite—he were ! "But I'd near forgotten the 'pint' of the narrative; that snake went back an' ate his calf—by the Etarnal, he 'did, boys!"	A Fight with Walruses. The coming up of the herd was a sig- nal for a scene which bailles description. They uttered one wild, concerted shriek, as if an agonized cry for help; and then the air was filled with answering shrieks. The 'huk! Mik! huk!'' of the wounded bulls seemed to find an echo everywhere, as the ery was taken up and passed along from floe to floe, like the bugle blast passed from squadron to squadron along a line of battle; fad down every piece of ice plunged the startled beasts as quickly as the sailor drops from his hammock when the long roll beats to quarters. With their ugly heads just above the water, and with mouths wide open, belching forth, the dismal "huk! huk! huk!" they came tearing toward the boat. In a few moments we were complete- ly surrounded, and the numbers kept multiplying with astonishing rapidity. The water soon became alive and black with them. They seemed at first to be frightened and irresolute, and for a time it did not seem that they meditated an attack there could no longer. We was impossible. We had raised a hornet's nest about our earsy in a most astonishing short space of time, and we must do the best we could. Even the wounded animal to which we were fastened turned upon us, and we became the focus of at least a thousand gaping, bellowing mouths. It seemed to be the purpose of the walruses to get their tusks over the Igunwale of the boat, and it was evident that, in the event of one such monster	whom I have met in the West has told me some such tale as this. "I came here ten (or perhaps fifteen) years ago; worth about five hundred dollars (or perhaps nothing); and now I could sell my property for a dozen or perhaps twenty thousand dollars." Thus it seems as if a store was an open gate to failurel and a farm an open road to success? It requires an unusual aptitude of mind to conduct mercantile business.— This aptitude is possessed by so few that every beginner ought to take for granted that he does not hold the talisman, un- til he finds by an unmistakable instinct that he is really one of the few and for- tunate masters of the knack if I do not mean to say that the man who cannot be a merchant can be a farmer. Mother Earth is a good judgeof men; she will not yield her crops to the shiftless and the findicient. But the farmer runs fewer risks than the merchant. The farmer gives a safe credit to God and Naffre; the merchant gives an unsafe credit to man. The seed time knows that its promise will be fulfilled by the harvest; but a promissory note of hand never can know whether its promise is to be broken or not.— Theodore Tillon . THE ROMAN 'BED-TIME.—An i m- mense majority of men in Rome never lighted a candle, unless sometime at early dawn.' And the custom of Rome was the custom also of all nations that lived around the great pond of the Med iterranean. In Athens, 'Egypt, Pales- tine, Asia Minor, everywhere, the an- cients went to bed, like geed boys, from seven to nine o'clock. The Turks and other people, who succeeded in the sta- tions and the habits of the ancients, do so at this day. The Roman, therefore, who saw no joke in sitting round a ta- ble in the dark, went off to bell as the darkness began. Everybody' did so.	Nestled down among the grand old hills of Charleston, there has been qui- etly growing, for serie years, a little hamlet known as Whitneyville, cosmall in fact, that, like Nazareth of old, it seemed incredible that any thing either new or novel could originate therein but one who has not looked upon it for a term of years can readily perceive that it has been quictly gaining ground as regards the substantial things of this lower sphere. True, it boasts but two small streets; but as Rome was not, i the Historian speaks truly, built in a day, so even Whitneyville may rise to a position of importance. Two stores flack each other on the main thorough place, struggling on the "Live and le live" principle, although, as is usually the case in small towns lying near those of greater magnitude, it must often suc climb to the superior inducements helf out at Wellsboro and Mansfield. Oppo- sition is said to be "the life of business," and acting on this theory another boo find shoe store, under the direction o E. Jennings, has been added to the number already in full blast, thus evin cing a determination to care for the sole of the inhabitants. The far-fame cheese-factory at this point commenced operations May 7, under the supervision of two of the best operatives in the country, and doubtless will ere domi- stand second to none in the country. The new steam mill now in process of erection will be completed in June when we may reasonably expect to se- numerous bran new dwellings dotting the rond side. The board of Education have decide twere a new, and it is hoped suitable school house, of sufficient size to allow the minds of the youth of the immedi- ate vienity to expand without burst ing the elapboards from the silles ;4th is well, for the miniature "Nosh"

9.0

· ·

 st on any unstatisficied.
 The state and y unstatisficied.
 The state and FILLING *& EXTRACTING TEETHand Custom Work:and Custom Work:and Custom Work:Tiga, Pa., April 10, 1867-tf.TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAINby the the use of Amesthetics which are perfectly harmles, and will be administered in every mandemined in the Leader and Scenator, and and Scenator, and and Scenator, and and Scenator, and Scenat