platform of principles: The Republicans of Pennsylvania appealing again to the people, take asure in recalling the repeated occasions on which the voters of the Com monwealth have sustained and ratified their dindidates and principles, and, strongly impressed with the importance of the issues involved in the ensuing election, make this declaration of their opinions and principles: 1st. That, in the name of the nation saved from treason, we demand security against its repetition by exacting m the vanquished such guarantees as will make treason so odious as to be forever impossible.

2d. That, as in the past we cordially justified the administration of Abraham Lincoln in all necessary acts for the suppressing of the rebellion, we record it as our judgment that the administra-tion of Andrew Johnson has been chiefly faithless because it has failed to try to gather up and fix in the organic and statute law the great principles which the war lies settled, and without whose adoption as the rule of action, peace is but a delusion and a snare.

3d. That, in the completion of the task of reconstruction so firmly as to be perpetual, it is indispensable that trai-tors beaten in the field shall not find a sanctuary in the courts; that the laws shall not be to tured to justify or palli-ate the crimes of which the country's enemies have been guilty, and that the law of the war shall be so distinctly declared by the courts that no disturbing and paralyzing doubts may ever be raised, as in 1861, affecting the essential rights of the government or the personal duty of the citizen.

4th, That this convention, speaking for the Republicans of Pennsylvania, unreservedly endorses the reconstruction measures of the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congresses, as based on sound principles, essentially just and wise and promising an early, loyal, and per-manent restoration of the rebel States to their share in the government of the Union; that we denounce and contemp the efforts of President Johnson, thro his pliant Attorney General and a majority of his Cabinet, to evade these laws by interfering to obstruct and prevent their enforcement in the spirit in which they were passed, and that we call upon Congress, soon to meet, promptly and decisively to dispose of this new nulli-

That the thanks of the loyal mer of this Commonwealth are hereby tendered to Major General Sheridan and Major General Sickles for their publicly declared unwillingness to be made in strumental, in the startling and truth-ful words of the follower, "in opening," under Presidential dictation, "a broad, macadamized way for perjury and fraud to travel on," in pursuit of the coveted repossession of political power in the rebel States; and that this convention confidently expects that General Grant will vindicate his hast record by cordially sustaining them in their patriotic efforts to execute the law.

we heartily dissaprove of and condemn the course of the Secretary of the Treasury in postponing and ignoring the just claims of our brave defenders upon the bounty of the Government, awarded to them by the National Congress: 12th. That in the Hon. Henry W. Williams, of Allegheny county, we present to the people of Pennsylvania an eminent jurist; one in every way well qualified for the responsible duties of the office of Judge of the Suprem Court; able as a lawyer; impartial, prompt, and thorough as a judge; honest, upright, without suspicion as a man and loyal and unwavering in his devotion to the cause of his country.

FEARFUL ENCOUNTER WITH Colorado Times of May 30, as a young man named Vance, son of Mr. John Vance, of Bear Creek, was going up the canon he came across a grizzly bear .-Upon approaching within a few yards, he fired, when the bear fell. Not being well acquainted with the nature of bears, young Vance advanced for the purpose of displatching him, but the bear, quietly awaiting his approach, arose on his hind legs' and struck the gun from his hands at the moment he was about to fire. The bear immediately gave another blow, and tore open the flesh above Vance's right eye, cutting two severe gashes, and tearing the flesh from the bone. One nail of the bear at the same time caught the nasal bone at its root, and tore a portion of it away, and passing along, tore out the left eye The bear then commenced hugging, at the same time chewing and lacerating him in a fearful manner. He dislocated his wrist, broke his fore arm, and tore the flesh from both hands. He also bit his knee severely, and cut a frightful gash across the fleshy portion of the limb above, bit through the fleshy part below the knee, and tore both limbs from the knee down to the ankle, and laid down on the young After both remaining quiet for some time the bear moved off, and Vance ventured to get up and make his escape. A small boy named Robinson coming along fired at the bear, and rendered his destruction certain, and afterwards Already the President and his rebel allies have been repulsed in their attack upon the liberties of the neoble. The Senate has resolved to settle the work of reconstruction beyond question. The House will probaby come to the same determination. Next week we shall present a summary of progress.

We are always glad to see peculators come to grief. Some days ago somebody connected with the Capitol at Harrisburg stole a few thousand volumes of the Report of the Adjt. To enjec the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, t. superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shay, and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, inquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particular to notice that skirts offered as "duplex" have the red lok stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the welstband—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a plubeling passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs britised together, therein, which is the secret of their flokibility and strength and scombing the sole owners of the patent.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent.
