Many-voiced the brooklet ever, Wanders onward toward the river. Musical the infant whisper Of the little hill-born lisper, Where on fairy shoon of glass Timidly it treads the grass. Musical the tones, though firmer, Of its dove-like woodland murmur; Glad its shout and soul-exalting, When o'er rocky barriers vaulting, Sweet and soft its liquid gushes, As it dallies with the rushes-

Thus a living song forever Flows the brooklet toward the river. Blest the life that sweeps along Brook-like, with a pleasant song-Gliding through the fields of youth, Beautiful with Love and Truth; Striking out in manhood's prime, Sparkles from the rocks of time. Making through the shades of age Calm and solemn pilgrimage; And at last, its journey done, Through the shadow and the sun, Fearfully, without a quiver, Melting in the silent river.

A Washington Story.

Mr. Gay, senior of the National Ho tel. Washington, bears quite a resemblance to the late Gen. Cass, upon which is told a good story.

A stranger who supposed that he knew Mr. Gay well, put up at the National. Since this house has become a crack hotel at the Capitol, it is quite full all the time, and the new comer was necessarily for the first night sent to the up-floor to sleep. Coming down stairs in the murning a little cross, he met Gen. Cass there, who had a fine suite of rooms in the hall. He stepped up to him and said:
"I'll not stand it! You have put me at the top of the house. I must have room somewhere else, lower down." Gen. Cass interposing nervously: "Sir, you are mistaken in the personage; you are addressing General Cass of Michigan."

Stranger, confusedly, "Beg your pardon, General—thought it was my old friend Gay. Beg a thousand pardons, sir. All a mistake—all a mistake I assure you."

The General passed out of the building, but soon returned; but as luck would have it, the stranger met hin full in the face again, but in another position. This time he was sure he had met Mr. Gay, for the Senator from Michigan had just gone out. So the stranger stepped boldly up, slapped the General familiarly on the shoulder, exclaiming. claiming:

"By heaven, Gay, I've got a rich joke to relate. I met old Cass up stairs just now; thought it was you, and be gan cursing him about my room."

General Cass, with emphasis, "Well young man, you have met old Cass Stranger sloped, and he has not been heard of since. STRONGEST MAN IN THE WORLD .-

recently gave an exhibition of remarkable strength at the Sea Hotel, in Ches terfield, England, to establish his claims as the strongest man in the world. He held a fifty-six pound weight in various positions, at arm's length, and increased the number until he raised four fifty-six pound weights above his head, holding them at arm's length, and at the same time standing upon four tumbler glasses. He also held the weights

Over Wilson & Van Valkehburg's Store, in the on the top of a glass, and allowed a glass of water to be placed upon the top of the weights. He laid that on, his bare chest, and the weight rebounded as though it had come in contract with a plece of India rubber. A piece of stone four inches thick, was placed upon his chest, and Mr. Hinch, blacksmith, smashed it with two blows into fragments. Mr. Turner then cut a piece o two-inch iron in two across his ches with the hammer and chisel. The feats concluded by Professor Hercules laying flat upon the floor; and allowing Mr. Hinch to strike him, with all his strength with a sixteen pound sledge hammer. The blow was met by the professor, and the hammer rebounded without leaving a scratch upon his body.

VULGAR LANGUAGE.—There is as much connection between the words and the thoughts as there is between the thoughts and the actions. The latter are not only the expressions of the former, but they have a power to react upon the soul and leave the stain of their corruption there. A young man who allows himself to make use of one vulgar or profane word has not only shown that there is a foul spot upon his mind, but by the utterance of that word he extends that spot and inflames it till, by indulgence, it will pollute and ruin the whole soul. Be careful of your words, as they show your thoughts. If you can control the tongue so that no improper words are pronounced by it, you will soon be able to control the mind and save that from corruption.— You will extinguish the fire by smoth ering it, or by preventing bad thoughts bursting out in language. Never ut-ter a word anywhere which you would be ashamed to speak in the presence of the most refined female or the most re-ligious man. Try this practice a little while and you will soon have command of yourself.

How the Indians Poison their ARROWS.—A rattlesnake is caught and penned. He is made angry-by being poked with sticks, when a piece of deer liver his held toward him on the end of a stick. Into this he strikes his fangs. The liver is then withdrawn, and a piece of dogwood about four inches long, carefully sharpened, is thrust into the incision made by the fangs. The stick is permitted to dry for a short time, when it is dipped into a glutinous solution, which, drying, hermetically seals the poison, which would otherwise de-compose. This piece of dogwood is used at the head of the arrow. To be wounded with such an arrow is almost certain death.

To Preserve Ice.—How to preserve ice for a considerable length of time, for domestic purposes, and especially for the sick room, is told by an exchange thus: "Make two bags of stout woolen fabric, the inner one should be ten inches wide by fourteen inches deep.) The outer bag should be made at least two inches wider each way.— After placing one bag inside the other, stuff feathers between the two, and sew the two bags together at the top. Puta block of ice into a bag of this descrip-tion, and it will be preserved from melting for nearly a week, when under exposure it will melt in less than an

A blind man had been sitting one day and pleasantly chatting with some visitors for an hour, when one of them wished the company good morning and left the room. "What white teeth that lady has!" said the sarcastic blind man." "How can you possibly tell that?" said a friend. "Because," was the ready answer, " for the last half hour she has done nothing but laugh."

When Napoleon was only an officer of artillery, a Prussian officer said in his presence with much pride, "My countrymen fight only for glory, but Frenchmen fight for money." "You are right," replied Napoleon, "each of them fight for what they are most in want of."

(OR DOUBLE SPRING) SKIRT. THEY will not bend or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only dou-ble springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt, will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, eperas, carriages, rullroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as s silk or muslin dress, an involuable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, Misses and young ladies they are superier to all others.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorits with all ladies, and temperately pecomenuous by the fashion magazines, as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superfor quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, inquire for I, W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptitic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

Tioga, May 22, 1867-tf. To the Farmers of Tioga County AM now building at my manufactory, in Lawrence FANNING MILL, nills: 1. It separates oats, rat litter, and foul seeds, and chessand cocks, from wheat.

2. It cleans flax seed, takes out yellow seed, and all other seeds, perfectly.

3, It cleans timothy seed.

4. It does all other separating required of a mill.

This mill is built of the best and most durable timber, in good style, and is sold cheap for cash, or produce. luce.

I will, fit a patent sieve, for separating cats from wheat, to other mills, on reasonable terms.
