So the tireless fingers hold

Busy till the sunset-red,

Till the last pale beam is fled!

Finest threads of shining gold;

Spinning all the live-long day:

Hours of pain and joy away.

Faithful hands that toiled so long,

Come and hush my sighs once more,

Lips that sang my cradle song,

Softly through the silent room

Lighten burdens as before!

Floats a brightness through the gloom, While her presence seems to steal Back to'mo beside the wheel. Search for Fenians in Ireland.

The Dublin correspondent of the New York Sun, in his last letter, relates the following incident of the late Fenian outbreak. It is Irish through and

Two young men, fugitive Fenians, were hiding in the mountains, when the mother of one of them was taken sick unto death. She wanted to see her boy once more, and a faithful messenger summoned him from the hills. His companion went with him, and he had the inclancholy satisfaction of sec-ing his mother alive. As soon as the vital spark had fled, the fugitives made for the friendly fastness of the mountains. They started after dusk, an old woman going a short distance before them to look out for police and military. They had traveled about three miles when the preconcerted screech of the A flying column had come upon the old woman, and pretending to be frightened, she sereamed. The Stipendiary Magistrate began to examine her, when the following dialogue, as detailed to me by a government official, who made notes of the conversation, took place. Her object was to delay and outwit the purpose of the Montager object was pursuers. The Magistrate's object was to find off if she was a native of the locality and knew all the inhabitants; "What is your name?"

"I forgot to bring it wud me; it's at home." 'Come, tell your name." "Musha, begorra, an' me namo is Mary." "Mary what?"

"No, indade, but Mary Malowne."
"Where were you born ""
"In bed, to be sure—where else?— That's a purty question to ask. "When were you born?"
"Faith an' I don't remember, but !

belave it 'twas in the nitettime." "How many years ago?"
"Just two Weeks before Jim Casey's father took the rheumatics, an' that was three weeks after the Drumane Cas-tle got on fire; an' it was distinguished a month afore Donnelly bate Cooper. Reckin that up, an' ye have my age, an that's what ye'ere afther."

"Where do you live, and how do you Troth an' I live at home, an' I get there on mý feet." What road do you go home?"

can see a house on the thumb hand side of a haystack comin' up; about three miles further at this side, there's a pig now in use. It always takes the first premium an' a barn sittin' down; that's a mile in Fairs and Exhibitions.

woman, so I am, an' you're not." "Come, now, what do you know about the Fenians?" "Och, not much for nothin."

"I'll give you two pounds it you will tell me where two of them, named McCabe and Maher, are hid." "Arrah, they'd kill me if they found me out, an' besides I'd be informin, on me own godson, Ned McCabe. But av ye don't tell who told ye, I'll send ye on their track for five pounds, and pay me money down." "The money is all right; you'll be paid when they are caught."

'Ye'd better be afther catchin' 'em thin. The top av the evenin' to ye,' 'Come back; here's the money. "For God's sake don't ye tell who tuk the blood money, and go to Maher's mother, God be merciful to her, she is on her dyin' bed. Av ye go there quick, ye'll find Maher gettin' his mother's blessin', God help him." The party hurried up, but of course were disappointed, while the fugitives gained their retreat in safety, and the old woman pocketed the five pounds.

ESCAPING A FINE.—Judson T. Mills, of South Carolina, was judge of a district court in Northern Texas, fond of a joke, but very decided in his discharge of duty. Thomas Fannin Smith was a practicing lawyer at the bar, and having shamefully misstated the law in his address to the jury, turned to the court and asked the judge to charge the jury accordingly. The judge was indignant and replied: 'Does the counsel take the Court to be a fool ?" Smith was not abashed by the reproof but instantly responded:

"I trust your honor will not insist on an answer to that question, as I might in answering it truly be considered

"Fine the counsel ten dollars, Mr. Clerk," said the judge.

Smith immediately paid the money, and remarked it was ten dollars more than the bount could show. than the court could show. "Fine the counsel fifty dollars," said the judge."

The fine was entered by the clerk, and Smith, not being ready to respond in that sum, sat down. The next morn-ing, on the opening of the court, Smith arose, and with much deference of manner began:

"May it please your honor, the clerk took that little joke of yours vesterday about the fifty dollars as serious, as preceive from the reading of the minutes. Will your honor be pleased to inform him of his error, and have the fine

The coolness of the request, and the implied apology, pleased the judge, and he remitted the fine. An Irish counselor having lost his cause, which had been tried by three judges, one of whom was esteemed a very able lawyer though the other two were indifferent, some of the other bar-"Well now," said he, "who could help it, when there are a hundred judges on the bench?"

"A: hundred!" said a bystander; "there were but three." "By St. Patrick!" replied he, "there were one and two ciphers."

Pat, said Judge Sniff to his neighbor, in a sleeping car, you would have remained a long time in the old country before you could have slept with a judge Vos you have slept with a judge. Yes, yer honor, and ye would have been a long time in the ould country before ye'd been a judge.

A dying West India planter, grounding out to his favorite negro servant with Batabo, I am going a long, long journey!" "Never mind, massa," said the negro, consolatority, "him all down hill."

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND W. BRADLEY'S Celebrated Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

THEY will not bond or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shope when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt, will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pows, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a slik or muslin dross, an invaluable quality in crivoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed that bleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the duplex cliiptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For childran, Misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies, and is universally recommended by the fashion magnitute, as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, inquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

OAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particulated.

tic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you got the genuine article.

OAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particular to notice that skirts offered as "duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Stoel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine: Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flaxibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other skirt.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent,
